STATE GOP GROUP PLEDGES BACKING TO DEWEY IN RACE

Minnesota Delegation Says Stassen Had Support at Convention

Back in Minnesota admittedly disappointed after their unsuccessful effort to secure the Presidential nomination for former Governor Harold E. Stassen at the national convention in Chicago, Minnesota leaders of the Stassen campaign expressed gratification this week at the number of friends won for Stassen and indicated they harbored no resentment as they began preparations to join actively in the campaign for the Republican nominee, Governor Dewey of New York.

When John W. Bricker withdrew his name before the first ballot and was given a place on the ticket as candidate for vice-president, Minnesotans realized their chance had gone and joined in the general movement to register all votes for Dewey.

Governor Thye, chairman of the Minnesota delegation, expressed the general feeling:

"Members of the Minnesota delegation and other friends of Harold Stassen presented his views and accomplishments before many delegations and won many friends. In delegation after delegation, men and women recognized our former governor as one of the great future leaders of America. Our Minnesota people, party leaders and volunteer workers alike, put up a gallant fight, aided by loyal supporters in Wisconsin, Nebraska, North Dakota, New Mexico and other states, but we did not win. We now join in support of the convention's decision and pledge to the nominees, Governor Dewey and Governor Bricker, the loyalty and hard work that has characterized our effort in behalf of Harold Stassen."

Dr. R. C. Radabaugh, chairman of the National Stassen for President committee, made a similar pledge.

Senator J. V. Weber, secretary of the Minnesota Stassen for President association and a Minnesota delegate said: "We found everywhere a recognition that Stassen is one of the nation's coming leaders and that he will be the outstanding candidate in 1948 or 1952."

WE'VE GOT THE SHIRT— NOW WHERE'S THE MAN?

Storden.—John Pufahl, who resides 12 miles northeast of town picked up a man's work shirt in his cornfield a few days ago that had evidently taken a ride of 25 miles or more in the recent tornado near Heron Lake. Effort is being made to return the article to its rightful owner, if he can be found. Bet he is glad that he wasn't in the shirt when it took the ride.

STATE MAN CITES SOURCE OF POTATO BLIGHT INFECTION

Originates in Places Old Potatoes from Storage Have Been Dumped

Potato growers can win the first round against the destructive late blight of potatoes even before it is found in the field, says R. C. Rose, extension plant pathologist at University Farm. First sign of blight this year has been discovered in south central Minnesota, not in the fields, but on plants growing on dumps to which refuse and old potatoes from storage bins had been hauled. Rose had previously warned that such dumps are a source of danger to potato growing and should be treated so that no volunteer plants can appear to spread the disease.

Rose urges quick action against these dumps because the threat of an epidemic is growing daily with the continued damp weather.

"Dumping grounds containing rotting potatoes and refuse are a chief cause of these epedemics," says Rose. "Farmers and potato shippers should check up on dumps immediately and destroy all growing plants. This can be done by using a weed sprayer, disking over the dump area, or burning over the area after applying some dry straw. Delay in doing this may mean serious damage to the new crop."

Farmers are urged by Rose to notify their county agricultural agents of all known cases of growth of plants on potato dumps.

In regard to the annual report of Midland Cooperative Wholesale for 1943, no other year since Midland began has brought such dramatic and far reaching changes and achievements for your wholesale as 1943. Volume $9,001,934.62. Bought the Cushing, Oklahoma refinery April 1, 1943 for about $1,000,000. In this deal were 110 Railroad Tank Cars, cost $500 per car only and the government has a lease on these cars and has paid out more in rental and expense as to upkeep than the total cost. And the cars are all in good condition and hauling much needed gas to the Atlantic coast.

Yes and our Col. Noyer has agreed that in case he should happen to have an auction sale near some railroad he will be very alert and if he notices a Midland tank car in that train he will call the peoples' attention that a Midland Co-op. tank car is now going by. It is our duty to stand at attention and salute. And all women and children will wave white handkerchiefs and throw XXX.

In July 1943 Midland joined with Farmers Union Central Exchange of St. Paul and three other Midwestern Co-operatives and organized the National Co-operative Refinery Association for the purpose of buying and operating the $5,000,000 refinery at McPherson, Kansas. Included in the facilities purchased were a 229 mile pipe line from McPherson, Kansas to Council Bluffs, Iowa. It appears that all right-thinking cooperatives are working closer together and it is a question of a short time until a great merger will take place. When that time arrives the Co-ops will be in the production field and also in the money and credit service. Which of course means banking and insurance. Why Not?

Aug N. K. Anderson, Secretary.

SOME of the gals in every flock think they belong to pre-war aristocracy — they eat aplenty but they won't lay much, if any. Wasting feed is a pretty bad offense now. The remedy is a quick trip to market. Weed out your culls, broody hens, and early moulters!

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wabbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

UNHATCHED TURKEY EGGS SHIPPED BY AIRPLANE

Glencoe.—Turkey eggs in the process of incubation were shipped for the first time in the United States, from Worthington, "turkey capitol of the world," to Los Angeles, California, by air to a hatchery where incubation was completed. The eggs were shipped just four days prior to the time they were due to hatch which meant moving them at the most critical stage of incubation. Shipping at this time afforded a test of the practicability of postwar use of air cargo facilities by the turkey industry.

OKLEE MAN FACE CHARG IN DEATH CAS

Osmund Torkelson Charge with Murder in Death of Knut Evje

VICTIM FOUND DEAD IN MACHINE SHED

Authorities Say Confession Has Been Signed by Torkelson

Osmund Torkelson, Oklee carpenter, is being held on second degree murder charges in connection with the death of Knut Evje, 48 year old Garnes township farmer in Red Lake county.

H. H. Goetzinger, of the criminal laboratories of the Minnesota bureau of criminal apprehension, and Henry Knutson, deputy county sheriff, said Torkelson had signed a confession.

Elden Rowe, chief of the state crime bureau, said the killing was the outgrowth of arguments over Torkelson's attentions to Evje's wife.

Evje and his wife had attended a dance at Plummer and had returned to their home about 2 A. M. last Wednesday. Two hours later Evje complained of not feeling well and went outside. When he did not return, his wife went to look for him and found him on the floor of the machine shed. His skull had been fractured in two places, a deep gash on his forehead and another on the top of his head.

Sheriff Noel Proulx and Acting County Attorney Charles E. Boughton Jr. were called to the scene by Coroner Rene Lizotte. The authorities called M. A. Knutson, of the state bureau of criminal apprehension at Detroit Lakes, who conducted an investigation. Due to the circumstances, Boughton decided an inquest should be held.

An autopsy was held Wednesday by Dr. E. A. Petkvich and at the inquest Thursday, the coroner's jury decided that Evje came to his death by means of foul play.

Torkelson, a friend of the family, was arrested Thursday and shortly afterwards signed a confession, authorities said.

Evje is survived by his wife and three children, Paul, 10 years old, and Henry and Jeanette, 9 year old twins.

Canadian Finance

For 75 per cent of its wartime borrowings the Canadian government has been able to rely upon the public outside the banks. Consequently the Canadian banking system as a whole has taken a relatively small share of the wartime public debt increase, smaller than that which the American banking system has assumed.

In their operations in ordinary-type government securities the Canadian commercial or chartered banks serve as intermediaries between the public and the central bank. Despite their large operations, they have made little net acquisition of "governments," other than the special issues. Over a third of the subscriptions to Canada's war loans have come from corporations other than banks and life insurance companies, while over 40 per cent have come from individuals.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

About fifty girl scouts and twenty brownies registered this year for the day camp at Birch Lane, which is now a happy memory. After a busy two weeks, despite unpredictable weather, the scouts terminated activities last Thursday evening with a Council Fire, to which parents and friends were invited. The guests were taken on a tour of the camp setup, which included separate encampments of four different units, each named to suit the locale or members of the group.

After the "tour" everyone gathered around the huge log-cabin fire for the program. The Minnehaha camp provided color and feathers to the occasion by appearing last in full warpaint and powwow regalia. The program itself consisted of song specialties and favorites, skits, and original drama, from black-face to mystery "chillers."

This summer the camp activities centered largely on firebuilding, care and prevention, outdoor cookery, and the keeping of a camp log, the cover of which was the art project, and the contents everything from map-making and sketches to recipes and poetic efforts. Examples of meals the girls turned out were hunter's stew, kabobs, french toast and pancakes on tin can stoves, baking powder biscuits using a reflector oven, and bread twists baked over hot coals. Huge appetites and no food waste testified to the success of the young cooks.

The day camp committee, girl scout council, director Mrs. Hilding G. Peterson, and assistant director Mrs. Edw. Bratrud express their appreciation to the parents who sent their girls to camp this year. They hope that each succeeding summer will add to the numbers registered for fun and instruction outdoors and that parents of girl scouts will see the value of such a program in our city by increased interest and patronage.

Appreciation is also extended to the young counsellors, whose time and energy added much to the success and busy activities of Birch Lane. The counsellors were Ardith Burrell, Agnes Jean Benson, Lois Lund, and Pat Berge, Katharine Sagmoen and Marilyn Skarstad and Camille Norverud, who substituted on occasion.

Next year a bigger and better camp!

Party Seat

Seeing Nuremberg as the embodiment of the fame of the First Reich, present Nazi leaders chose it as a heart of the strength of the Third Reich. They made it the seat of the great party congresses from which the new Nationalist spirit and hopes flowed to every corner of the country. A Reich Party Rally area was laid out. On it was built the enormous Luitpold arena, the Zeppelinfeld and Marzfeld parade grounds. In course of construction were the congress building to seat 40,000 people indoors, and the German stadium to seat ten times that number.

Plants Harbor Insects

After plants have been killed by frost, all annuals should be pulled up and burned, or else buried deeply. The tops of perennials should be cut off and disposed of in a similar manner. Such measures will kill many insects which normally pass the winter as larvae or as pupae hidden in a seed capsule or in the stem of some flowering plant.

The woman by return mail, wrote back that she weighed 210 pounds, her husband, 145, and her mother-in-law, 180!

Rings can be made to fit any part of the body — heel, buttocks, shoulder blades, elbow, etc.

TO INTERVIEW MEN, WOMEN FOR GOV'T JOBS JULY 20-22D

Local People Asked to Call at U. S. Employment Office Here

The giant naval ammunition depot at Hastings, Nebraska, urgently needs workers to produce the weapons of war, it was announced today by Miss Rena B. Smith, director of the Eighth U. S. civil service region, St. Paul.

It was pointed out that a man and wife can earn over $5,000 a year at Hastings. Transportation is paid, housing units are available, and schools are located on the grounds. Church and recreational facilities are also available.

The naval ammunition depot is a permanent establishment, and opportunities for post-war employment are excellent.

The Pearl Harbor navy yard, vital outpost in naval operations now underway in the Pacific, also needs skilled and semi-skilled workers. Some of the positions open are boilermakers, electricians, pipefitter, and helper. Persons selected will be assigned to duty at the Mare Island Navy Yard, Vallejo, California, prior to transfer to Pearl Harbor. Transportation is paid to Pearl Harbor, and adequate housing is available at both Mare Island and Puget Sound.

A representative of the U. S. civil service commission will be at the war manpower commission, U. S. employment office at Thief River Falls, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 20, 21 and 22nd, to conduct interviews and offer immediate appointment, according to Russell E. Olsen, manager.

Persons now employed in war work should not apply.

New Plastic

Ethyl cellulose is a newcomer to plastics which has come rapidly to the front for war products. Cotton linters or wood fibers are used as a source of cellulose in making this material. The cellulose is treated with strong alkalis and ethylating agents in the preparation of ethyl cellulose. When certain plasticizers are used with ethyl cellulose, an excellent elastic plastic is formed which has been called ethyl rubber.

County Welfare Board Reelects All Officers

All officers were reelected at the annual organization meeting of the Pennington county welfare board late last week, and a budget totaling $181,582.40 was approved for 1945, of which the county's share will be $40,367.89.

Officers include O. M. Mandt, chairman; W. H. Mulry, vice chairman; and Mrs. E. J. Richards, secretary. Other members are Frank Race and Mrs. C. H. Toomey, while John X. Lynskey is executive secretary.

Mr. Lynskey stated that the county's share of the budget, $40,367.89, will call for the same tax levy as last year. He added that the board had utilized all of its surplus funds for the past two years in retiring more than $21,000 in bonded indebtedness within the past year, and it is estimated that the current budget will give the board a substantial reserve for any post-war emergency.

Following are details of the budget:

RED CROSS NEWS NOTES

By Mrs. Millard Peterson
Publicity Chairman

NOTICE! Our July and August quota of surgical dressings gauze is here and work began Monday afternoon. Monday evening is the only evening of the week that is open and Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. There are 35,200 dressings to be made by the last of August, and only 440 were made the first afternoon with only six volunteers besides instructors. Mrs. Rulien, chairman, has stated that headquarters have asked us to take on more gauze as the demands for same are much greater after D-day. We will not be able to take more gauze if we do not have more volunteer workers. One of the most important programs of Red Cross, the preparation of surgical dressings is one way in which every woman can help protect the lives of our boys. Dressings made right here in Thief River Falls may be used to dress the wounds of one of the boys from our own neighborhood. One afternoon a week is not much when our boys give "all" their time and some their lives.

This is an editorial about doughnuts!

In this time of death and destruction, doughnuts may seem trivial for editorial comment. But because this is a time of suffering, the American doughnut becomes an item of increasing significance.

A dispatch shortly after D-day said that Red Cross girls had landed in Normandy to comfort the wounded. They took doughnuts, cigarettes, gum, candy, and matches, plus a large quantity of American friendliness. There, on the beachhead and on hospital ships carrying the wounded to England, those girls went, dispensing supplies and encouragement. "The men were magnificent and so terribly appreciative", said one of the girls.

In Normandy, or Italy, or on an isolated airfield in North Africa, a doughnut is more than a tire shaped confection with sugar. It's a symbol of home—rendered doubly significant because it's presented by an American girl.

Today, Red Cross girls travel regularly on the hospital ships between Normandy and England. Red Cross field directors are at the side of the invasion forces to offer personal services and help. The girls are lighting cigarettes for men who have no hands—comforting men whose sight is gone—being mothers, sisters, aunts and friends in time of great need. Each represents the folks back home. Her badge is a Red Cross. Her gift is a doughnut, a stick of gum and a smile. "The gift from home" is small—but meaningful beyond word to beachhead heroes.

Pasture Cuts Poultry Costs

Maximum use of poultry pasture will reduce feed costs, supply cheap vitamins, and will help disease and parasite control measures. Bluegrass is acceptable pasture up to June 15. Clover or alfalfa ranges are best. Rye grass and Ladino clover sown in early spring provide midsummer range, and late summer and fall pasture can be obtained from seedings of Sudan grass and Ladino clover.

Ammonia Provides Nitrogen

Brazil's Iron Long Known

The iron ores of Brazil long have been known. Incentive to develop them was retarded so long as the North American and European steel industries were able to tap more accessible supplies. At the same time, the development of a Brazilian steel industry was held back by lack of good grade coal.

Private Henry Hovet of Goodridge Tells Thrill of Capturing 20 Germans

An infantryman who went through the North African campaigns and the Sicilian campaign with the 9th infantry division and then transferred to the 3rd infantry division in time for the invasion of Italy looks back at Anzio beachhead for the biggest thrill during his 19 months overseas.

In an interview released today by the war department, Private Henry Hovet, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hovet of Goodridge, told how his weapons platoon captured 20 Germans without suffering a casualty.

"At Anzio one morning the Germans started a counterattack," said Private Hovet. "Some of them came down a creek bed, trying to get behind us. Our mortars dropped shells behind them and our machine guns cut them off from the front. There was nothing they could do but surrender."

Private Hovet was a machine gunner while with the 9th infantry division but became a member of a mortar squad after joining the 3rd, where he also acted as messenger. He took part in the invasion of Italy and fought both at Cassino and Anzio.

S-Sgt. Halvor Folkedahl of Goodridge Completes 31 B-26 Combat Missions

At 12th AAF base—Staff Sgt. Halvor N. Folkedahl of Goodridge has served overseas eight months as engineer-turret gunner with a bomb group of B-26 Marauders which President Roosevelt twice cited for "outstanding performance of duty in action." He has flown 31 combat missions. He is entitled to wear the blue, gold-framed Distinguished Unit ribbon—the only army award worn above the righthand blouse pocket.

Oldest medium bomb group in the Mediterranean, the Marauders were cited for exceptional bombing accuracy on two occasions: the attack of March 3rd on the Ostiense rail yards in Rome and the March 11th bombing of the main Florence rail yards. In each case the bomb pattern was so concentrated as to prevent damage to cultural objects near the target.

The citations noted that the accuracy of the Rome raid was achieved despite heavy anti-aircraft fire and that the Florence bombing involved flying "a hazardous over-water route under adverse weather conditions."

RIGHT ON TIME

The big business man had died and gone to—well, not to heaven. But hardly had he settled down for a nice long smoke when a hearty hand slapped him on the back, and into his ear boomed the voice of a persistent salesman who had pestered him much on earth.

"Well, Mr. Smith," chortled the salesman, "I'm here for the appointment."

"What appointment?"

"Why, don't you remember?" the salesman went on. "Every time I entered your office on earth you told me you'd see me here!"

Mint, Known to Ancients, Thriving in Michigan

Mint was known and used by Hippocrates, "Father of Medicine," in the fifth century B. C. Piperita came to America from England about 1816, and was first grown in Wayne county, New York. In 20 years it was thriving in southern Michigan swampland.

The Michigan area expanded into northern Indiana. Since World War I, Indiana mint growing has made great gains. Walkerton, Ind., and Mentha, Mich., are farm centers of the industry whose acres lie largely between South Bend and Kalamazoo.

Mint growers work harder than other farmers to keep out weeds because of their effect on the quality of mint oil. Mint is harvested when its earliest blossoms appear. Allowed to wilt in the sun briefly to remove excess moisture, it is then placed in vats. Live steam is shot through the mass, opening the tiny cells of the plants and carrying their oil to tubes where the steam condenses.

Should Allow Tama and Vicland Oats to Become Ripe Before Harvesting

Don't cut your oats until they are ripe. That advice comes from Ralph Crim, extension agronomist at University Farm, in regard to the handling of Tama and Vicland, two of the newer oat varieties.

Many farmers, who had their first experience with these varieties last year, cut them "on the green side" and found that the grain underwent considerable bin burning. This may be avoided, Crim says, by allowing these varieties to get fully ripe before harvesting.

Cutting oats while the straw is still green may be a wise precaution in the case of oats varieties that are susceptible to rust and which do not have a stiff straw. However, with Tama and Vicland's resistance to rust and with their ability to stand up, there is considerably less danger in allowing them to reach full maturity before they are out.

T/4 Lloyd R. Hanson of Plummer Wins Citation for Heroism in Italy

T/4 Lloyd R. Hanson, serving with the army medical corps in Italy, recently received a bronze star and citation for meritorious duty beyond the ordinary, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Severin Hanson of Plummer. The citation states that while T/4 Hanson and several of his comrades were engaged in military operations against the enemy, knowing that an officer of the group was lying seriously wounded near the enemy lines, they left their shelter without helmets or arms and assisted in bringing the officer back to the American lines where aid was administered, thereby saving his life. The action of these men, reads the citation, was highly commendable and reflects great credit on the American soldier.

Enclose Addresses When Mailing Foreign Parcels

Local residents sending packages to service men overseas are asked by Postmaster Andrew Anderson to enclose inside the parcel a slip bearing the printed or typewritten name and APO number of the addressee, as well as the name and address of the sender. This precaution, Mr. Anderson stated, is necessary because occasionally the outer wrappings are mutilated or destroyed in transit, and there then is no way of getting the package to the person to whom it is addressed.

Private Henry Hovet of Goodridge Tells Thrill of Capturing 20 Germans

An infantryman who went through the North African campaigns and the Sicilian campaign with the 9th infantry division and then transferred to the 3rd infantry division in time for the invasion of Italy looks back at Anzio beachhead for the biggest thrill during his 19 months overseas.

In an interview released today by the war department, Private Henry Hovet, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hovet of Goodridge, told how his weapons platoon captured 20 Germans without suffering a casualty.

"At Anzio one morning the Germans started a counterattack," said Private Hovet. "Some of them came down a creek bed, trying to get behind us. Our mortars dropped shells behind them and our machine guns cut them off from the front. There was nothing they could do but surrender."

Private Hovet was a machine gunner while with the 9th infantry division but became a member of a mortar squad after joining the 3rd, where he also acted as messenger. He took part in the invasion of Italy and fought both at Cassino and Anzio.

S-Sgt. Halvor Folkedahl of Goodridge Completes 31 B-26 Combat Missions

At 12th AAF base—Staff Sgt. Halvor N. Folkedahl of Goodridge has served overseas eight months as engineer-turret gunner with a bomb group of B-26 Marauders which President Roosevelt twice cited for "outstanding performance of duty in action." He has flown 31 combat missions. He is entitled to wear the blue, gold-framed Distinguished Unit ribbon—the only army award worn above the righthand blouse pocket.

Oldest medium bomb group in the Mediterranean, the Marauders were cited for exceptional bombing accuracy on two occasions: the attack of March 3rd on the Ostiense rail yards in Rome and the March 11th bombing of the main Florence rail yards. In each case the bomb pattern was so concentrated as to prevent damage to cultural objects near the target.

The citations noted that the accuracy of the Rome raid was achieved despite heavy anti-aircraft fire and that the Florence bombing involved flying "a hazardous over-water route under adverse weather conditions."

RIGHT ON TIME

The big business man had died and gone to—well, not to heaven. But hardly had he settled down for a nice long smoke when a hearty hand slapped him on the back, and into his ear boomed the voice of a persistent salesman who had pestered him much on earth.

"Well, Mr. Smith," chortled the salesman, "I'm here for the appointment."

"What appointment?"

"Why, don't you remember?" the salesman went on. "Every time I entered your office on earth you told me you'd see me here!"

Mint, Known to Ancients, Thriving in Michigan

Mint was known and used by Hippocrates, "Father of Medicine," in the fifth century B. C. Piperita came to America from England about 1816, and was first grown in Wayne county, New York. In 20 years it was thriving in southern Michigan swampland.

The Michigan area expanded into northern Indiana. Since World War I, Indiana mint growing has made great gains. Walkerton, Ind., and Mentha, Mich., are farm centers of the industry whose acres lie largely between South Bend and Kalamazoo.

Mint growers work harder than other farmers to keep out weeds because of their effect on the quality of mint oil. Mint is harvested when its earliest blossoms appear. Allowed to wilt in the sun briefly to remove excess moisture, it is then placed in vats. Live steam is shot through the mass, opening the tiny cells of the plants and carrying their oil to tubes where the steam condenses.

Should Allow Tama and Vicland Oats to Become Ripe Before Harvesting

Don't cut your oats until they are ripe. That advice comes from Ralph Crim, extension agronomist at University Farm, in regard to the handling of Tama and Vicland, two of the newer oat varieties.

Many farmers, who had their first experience with these varieties last year, cut them "on the green side" and found that the grain underwent considerable burning. This may be avoided, Crim says, by allowing these varieties to get fully ripe before harvesting.

Cutting oats while the straw is still green may be a wise precaution in the case of oats varieties that are susceptible to rust and which do not have a stiff straw. However, with Tama and Vicland's resistance to rust and with their ability to stand up, there is considerably less danger in allowing them to reach full maturity before they are cut.

T/4 Lloyd R. Hanson of Plummer Wins Citation for Heroism in Italy

T/4 Lloyd R. Hanson, serving with the army medical corps in Italy, recently received a bronze star and citation for meritorious duty beyond the ordinary, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Severin Hanson of Plummer. The citation states that while T/4 Hanson and several of his comrades were engaged in military operations against the enemy, knowing that an officer of the group was lying seriously wounded near the enemy lines, they left their shelter without helmets or arms and assisted in bringing the officer back to the American lines where aid was administered, thereby saving his life. The action of these men, reads the citation, was highly commendable and reflects great credit on the American soldier.

Enclose Addresses When Mailing Foreign Parcels

Local residents sending packages to service men overseas are asked by Postmaster Andrew Anderson to enclose inside the parcel a slip bearing the printed or typewritten name and APO number of the addressee, as well as the name and address of the sender. This precaution, Mr. Anderson stated, is necessary because occasionally the outer wrappings are mutilated or destroyed in transit, and there then is no way of getting the package to the person to whom it is addressed.

In a field of eleven candidates for the office of supreme court justice, two of the present justices placed at the bottom of the list in Pennington County's primary election. Justice C. R. Magney of Duluth was at the bottom and Justice T. O. Streissguth of New Ulm finished third from the bottom in the totals. There is no reason to believe that this result indicates a desire on the part of the voters to make a change in the Supreme Court personnel. It is clearly a case of the voters not knowing the names of the present justices. It so happens that neither of these justices have had their names on the state ballot before. Both were appointed to office since the last election. As a remedy to such a condition we will not suggest that supreme court justices should become better politicians but probably it would not be out of order for the lawyers of the state, who are especially interested in maintaining a high standard in the state's highest court, to assume some responsibility, through their associations, in the selection of men for this office.

Latest reports on casualties in the battle for Saipan give us an idea of what we may expect from now on as our forces come to grips with the enemy at points along the inner defense zone. We can assume that as we advance from now on our advance will be against strongly fortified positions. There is consolation, however, in the thought that from our new bases the effectiveness of our striking power against Jap shipping is greatly increased. When we realize how nearly the Germans came to isolating the British Isles by submarine warfare alone we have reason to hope that with our superior power we can gradually blast all Jap shipping off the seas. Once that is accomplished, and apparently we have made good progress toward that end already, the problem of dealing with them in their scattered positions will be simplified. But between now and the day of victory we must expect many long casualty lists.

Our diplomats seem to be greatly concerned about the progress, or lack of it, of the monetary conference that would work out some plan for handling international currency problems after the war. In the meantime no one seems to be concerned with the monetary problem we are going to have here at home when the war ends. Flooded with currency and deluged with bonds that for all practical purposes are the same as currency, it would seem that there should be some concern about our domestic monetary problem when our people try to convert promises-to-pay into tangible goods. The Republican party, which we had hoped would point the way, ignored this difficult subject and dropped to a new low in any claims it may have had to national leadership. Wendel Willkie had tried to face the problem realistically and was promptly shelved. But facts are stubborn things and they have a way of asserting themselves regardless of political platforms and the vaporings of politicians. Our national debt is going to be a national headache and the longer we continue our deficit spending the more painful will be our adjustment back to sound fiscal practices again. So far we have made no financial sacrifice in this war. Counting our green certificates, most of us are richer as a result of the war. The sacrifice is ahead of us but that sacrifice need not be unduly painful if we face it honestly. We still have our farms and our factories and our forests and our mines and everything that it takes to make for the abundant life. The only thing that is hopeless in our prospect is the hope that we can keep on borrowing from the future forever.

The state of Minnesota closed its books on June 30th in excellent financial condition. Total debt has been reduced to 82 million dollars and permanent trust funds have increased to 132 million dollars. The general revenue fund came through with a cash balance of more than eight million dollars and all other funds have comfortable balances. All sources of revenue have produced big returns in recent years and costs have necessarily been curtailed because of the war. There is a big backlog of necessary maintenance and construction that will greatly step up expenditures when the war is over. Large reserves will make it easier to carry the load of post-war construction costs.

When they talk about an absconder, we read, the public is less concerned about how tall he is than how short.

A lot of heartaches would be spared if all folks followed this advice, "If you can't write and sign it, don't say it".

We look for a lot of wind at the Democratic national convention in Chicago next week, but doubt that there will be much of a draft.

The soldier boys who are now living in foxholes probably will insist on air-conditioned quarters when they get back home.

Inner tubes are off the ration list. Now folks would be happy if they only could get something to put them in.

The paper shortage, they tell us, has reached such an acute stage that a newspaper was forced to announce, "Due to the shortage of paper, a number of births will be held off until next week".

Says a juvenile court judge, "A pat on the back develops character, if administered young enough, often enough and low enough".

Of dubious value to Candidate Roosevelt are those full-page advertisements being run by Communist Earl Browder promoting a fourth term.

Quoted appeal for blood doners, "If you can't be a private, be a corpuscle".

If you didn't bother to vote Monday, don't complain if your favorite candidates aren't on the ballot next November.

That circus tragedy last Thursday in Hartford, Connecticut, no doubt didn't help to attract crowds to the circus that showed here Friday.

This season has set some kind of a record in that no lawn sprinkling has been necessary up to the middle of July.

1934—TEN YEARS AGO

Damage estimated to total of $15,000 was inflicted on property in Thief River Falls by a destructive hail storm, which also badly damaged crops in Marshall and Pennington counties.—Postal receipts here for the fiscal year ending July 1 aggregated $28,725.—Miss Delta Wold and Chester Myrom were married in Trinity Lutheran church.—Chairman P. C. Meyer of the High Hat club, organized in connection with a city-wide celebration planned for next fall, announced that 500 hats had been ordered and would soon be ready for distribution.—Pouring of concrete for the abutments of the new Third st. bridge has been completed.

1924—TWENTY YEARS AGO

Rev. S. L. Tallakson of Grand Forks accepted a call to serve Trinity Lutheran church in this city.—County Auditor T. P. Anderson is busy filling out applications for the bonus for World War veterans.—G. W. Connell represented the local Elks lodge at the national convention of the order in Boston, Mass.—Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Robinson left to make their home in Hibbing.—The city council, following a long discussion, voted to buy the power dam from Mrs. Anna Kretzschmar and W. A. Schreiter for $37,500.—Mrs. J. M. Bishop was notified of her appointment as a member of the Republican state central committee.—On his low bid of $30,892, Bert Norby was awarded the contract to erect a new building for the Thief River Falls creamery.—Rev. O. J. Lundell returned from Chicago, where he attended a church conference.

Dairy Cows

Working in co-operation with the Bureau of Dairy Industry, one dairyman has gradually brought up his production of milk by means of the proved-sire breeding plan. His average of 8,270 pounds in 1924 had risen to more than 15,600 pounds in 1941—three times the national average for all dairy cows.

Gifts for Doughboy

The soldiers themselves emphatically say they do not want cigarettes, assorted commercial packages of goodies, elaborate shaving kits, or food, except a well-packed fruit cake, for Christmas gifts, according to the OWI.

Use Tub for Window Screens

Apartment dwellers who want to give window screens a thorough cleaning before storing them will find the bathtub useful. Spread a discarded sheet or other large cloth on the bottom of the tub, covering all but the drain. Taking one screen at a time, pour a pail of sudsy water over the screen. Scrub until soot and dirt are removed. Then lift the shower at an angle when it will rinse the screen. Let the screens dry thoroughly before sending them to the basement storeroom.

Children Sensitive

Quick, stinging statements made to children are remembered far longer than grown-ups realize and may be responsible for some of the inferiority complexes of later years. A thoughtful consideration and a sympathetic understanding of children, on the other hand, pay big dividends in family happiness, joy and contentment.

Red Cross Workers

Don't Bury Strawberry Plant

In setting out strawberry plants, be careful that the tip of the crown is just above the surface of the soil. Too deep or too shallow planting will result in the death of the plant, or at best very weak growth. Plants should be set approximately two feet apart in rows which are three or four feet apart. The fertilizer and lime requirements for the strawberry are much the same as for most vegetables.

Anise Grows in Northwest

Anise grows well in the northwest area between the Cascade and Rocky mountain ranges but has the disadvantage of requiring hand labor for thinning and weeding in conflict with sugar beet labor. Plantings in 1942 were very light and much of that planted was lost due to scarcity of hand labor.

Dr. Francis E. Townsend says—My faith has never wavered. I know that the Townsendites could do it. A lot of people who used to laugh at us will find themselves laughing out of the other side of their mouths when they wake up some morning this fall and find the Townsend plan, that "crazy" old Townsend plan, has actually become a law of the land. It is all right for us to congratulate ourselves, but let us not forget to thank that divine power which has watched over us and guided us through the years. Without that backing, no cause wins. Townsendites have had it because throughout the years of slander and ridicule they have stayed humble and unselfishly worked for the good of the whole citizenry. 33p

Cork Long Used

Just when the use of cork first began is not definitely known. Certainly the ancient Greeks and Romans were familiar with some of the properties of cork. The earliest use of cork of which we have accurate record is related by Plutarch who says a messenger used a cork float as an aid in swimming the Tiber when Rome was besieged by the Gauls in 400 B. C.

ROOSEVELT SAYS HE WILL ACCEPT DEM NOMINATION

President Ends Long Silence Regarding Fourth Term Intentions

President Roosevelt, with a nonchalant smile on his face but his hands a tremble with emotion, announced Tuesday that he would accept a fourth term nomination and, if elected, would serve "reluctantly, but as a good soldier."

The announcement, which surprised newsmen and politicians only as to its timing, was made at a White House news conference. The president read a letter from Chairman Robert E. Hannegan of the Democratic committee informing him that more than a majority of convention delegates are already "legally bound" to support his renomination and asking that he "again respond to the call of the party and the people."

"If the convention should carry this out, and nominate me for the presidency, I shall accept," Mr. Roosevelt wrote Hannegan. "If the people elect me, I wil. serve."

TRF JUNIORS WIN OVER NEWFOLDEN HERE ON SUNDAY

Locals Take Visitors into Camp 18 to 6 in Five Inning Game

The local junior baseball nine, with Alan Thompson poling out a triple and two doubles, romped to an 18 to 6 win over the Newfolden juniors in a five-inning game played on the Fair Grounds diamond Sunday afternoon. The locals are slated to travel to Newfolden Sunday for a return game.

Two walks, two errors, and three hits accounted for five local tallies in the opening inning and, after being held scoreless in the 2nd inning, coach Chuck Dostal's boys found pitcher Don Tweet for 8 hits and 10 runs in the 3rd inning. They added their final cluster, 3 runs, in the 4th inning.

Virg Evenstad hurled the first three innings for the locals and held the young Newfolden team to one hit, a single through the box by Phil Barr, and no runs. Newfolden chalked up their six runs in the 4th and 5th innings off the southpaw offerings of Johnny Powell.

In a five-inning practice game following the Newfolden contest, the juniors were defeated, 7 to 0, by the city senior team.

Keeping Score

. . . . WITH DICK OLSON

Chip Shots

The tournament committee completed the pairings in the various flights in the golf club tournament this week and several matches have already been played. In the championship flight matches played to date, Lloyd Bennes scored a 6 and 5 win over Bill Dahlquist, and Dr. Hedemark defeated Father Merth, 4 and 2. Other first round championship flight matches that are expected to be decided this week will find Hans Chommie meeting Walt Smith, Stan Larson playing Dr. A. E. Jacobson, Bill Claffy vs. Ed. Carlson, Charley Hoffos facign Rev. Thompson, Kern Olson against Haakon Olson, and Dr. Helseth playing George Mostue.

Chommie, as last year's champion, and Dr. Hedemark, as the runner-up, have been seeded No. 1 and No. 2, and are favored to reach the finals; but there are several other golfers who, if they are "on" their game, are capable of providing an upset or two and win a place in the finals. Dr. Hedemark has recorded several sub-par rounds this year and doesn't intend to "fritter" away the championship as he did last year. Homer, you recall, held a three up and three to play lead over Chommie in the finals, only to have Hans tie the match by winning the 16th, 17th, and 18th holes, and then win on the 20th.

Storhaug Going Well

In a fifth flight match played Tuesday evening, Hank Storhaug, shooting a 44 on the first nine, defeated Ben Froiland, 7 and 5. Hank has been playing some remarkable golf and he hopes that he can carry through in the flight until he meets either Fred Lorentson or Bush Hallstrom. Hank expects to play in the shortstop at Grand Forks on Sunday and if he is in his Tuesday evening's form, placed his tee shot on No. 4 on the green, he'll surprise his opponents.

L. B. Hartz has a right to feel pretty proud of the round of golf he played the other evening. L. B. scored pars on the 7th, 8th, and 9th holes, dropping a twenty foot putt for the par on the 7th. Some more golf like that and L. B. will be in a position to challenge Ed. Carlson for the championship of the Hartz organization.

Shortstop at Grand Forks

A number of local golfers intend to participate in the shortstop tournament being played at Grand Forks on Sunday, and the more representatives we have over there the larger will be the contingent of Grand Forks golfers that will enter the eighth annual shortstop tournament scheduled for the local course on July 30th.

Wounded

Hans Sahl is in receipt of a communication from the army stating that his son, Sgt. Helmer Sahl, a member of the 5th Division, has been seriously wounded while in action in the southwest Pacific area. It is presumed that Hemmy, who pitched a lot of fine ball for the local team in '38, '39, '40, and '41, is hospitalized in New Guinea and he would enjoy receiving letters from local fans. His address is Sgt. Helmer Sahl, Central Directory, APO 501, care Postmaster, San Francisco, Calif.

Big Doings

With the Jaycees furnishing the promotional impetus, the water carnival slated for July 23rd should be a huge success. In addition to the swimming races, diving contests, and boat races, various dry-land activities are being planned. Walt Larson is arranging a bang-up diamondball game; Bert Emanuel will be in charge of the volleyball contest; and if any of the county and city's horseshoe doubles players think that they can defeat Tommy Fuller and Einar Barstad, they should place their entry with Gordy Reierson. Ole Engelstad, who claims to be the horseshoe champion of the second ward, will be on hand to defend his championship, and will I "take" him!

Diamondball

Wally DuChamp's East Side diamondball team was out in full force Tuesday evening expecting to play either Bobby Olson's Hartz team or Gordy Reierson's West Side team, but neither Bobby nor Gordy turned up. Another diamondball game is to be played on Friday evening, and it hoped that enough west siders will appear to make a line-up.

How yours truly got out of the "ower class"

I USED TO BE the kind of a guy who was always on the owing end of the deal.

If I was even with the grocer I owed the gas man. If I was even with the gas man I owed the grocer. I owed on the house, the car, and the furniture.

But it's all different now. Every payday I lend 10% of my pay to Uncle Sam. The payroll plan is a simple, easy way to do my part.

Well, the other night, fingering over those nice, crisp War Bonds, I said to the Mrs.: "For once," I said, "we got somebody owing us money. Uncle Sam! He is promising to pay us back $4 for every $3 we put into those bonds."

"My," said the Mrs., "why don't we try to buy more of those bonds out of your pay? I could do some paring down. Let's see if we can't make it 15% instead of 10%." We did it, by golly, and so can you.

If you ask for Hamm's Preferred Stock Beer and your dealer has none, it probably is because Uncle Sam has first call, but ask, nevertheless.

Navy Man from Plummer Is Missing in Action

Mrs. Ragna Norby of Plummer last week received a message from the U. S. navy department at Washington informing her that her son, Lester H. Norby, Gunner's Mate, 2-c, U. S. navy was missing in action in the European war theatre. He was about 21 years of age.

When last heard from Lester was in England, but it has been several weeks since his mother last received word from him.

Lester was a life-long resident of the Plummer community where he attended school and graduated from high school in that village with the class of 1940.

The sale includes all water and electric generating, transmission, and distribution equipment in the 48 communities now being served by the Interstate Power. These communities extend from Bemidji and Cass Lake, Minnesota, west to Crookston, north to the Canadian line and south to Georgetown.

The local personnel of the Interstate Power company will be retained by the new management.

TABBY CAT TRAVELS 75 MILES TO OLD HOME

Argyle.—When a story is related about a dog going some 75 miles or more to return to an old home it gets very little attention as that is not too unusual. But when a tabby cat pines for her old home and covers 75 miles to reach it, that is worth listening to, as cats rarely have that longing. The Eddie Bensons, some three months ago moved from this town to Hillsboro, N. Dak. taking their three cats with them. Not too long afterward, old neighbors of the Bensons reported the tabby cat was back at the old home, 75 miles from Hillsboro.

THYE CITES BIG IMPROVEMENT IN STATE FINANCES

Minnesota Indebtedness Is Down 16 Million from a Year Ago

Picturing the state in excellent financial condition, Governor Edward J. Thye in a report to the people this past week disclosed marked improvements along two lines, which, he said, Put Minnesota's state government in good position to meet the added demands that will come in the readjustment period following the war.

The two developments which the Governor listed were:

"State Treasurer Julius Schmahl advises me that the state debt has dropped $16,607,000 in the year that closed on June 30, 1944, and now is down to $82,156,000, the lowest figure in the last 20 years.

"John Meader, acting state auditor in the absence of State Auditor Stafford King, who is in the service, reports that balances in three major state funds—the trunk highway fund, income tax school fund and the general revenue fund—had reached $48,989,052 on June 30th, subject to closing entry adjustments which are expected to be minor. A year ago, balances in the same funds were $36,411,148."

Of the balances of $48,989,052 reported, $19,628,559 is in the trunk highway fund, much of it held as a reserve for post-war construction. Balance in the income tax school fund is $21,893,830. Balance in the general revenue fund is listed at $7,466,662.

LITTLE MISS HAS 17 GRANDPARENTS

Austin.— Christmas and birthdays promise to be big events for Cheryl Ann, new daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson, who arrived in this world with 17 grandparents. Incredible as it may seem, there are four grandparents, ten great-grandparents, and three great-great grandparents. Grandparents, like the dollars in the quiz program, multiply rapidly for Cheryl, especially in the fifth generation with both father and mother, as well as foster-grandfather.

Increased Brown Paper Salvage Urged by State War Salvage Committee

Greater emphasis on the salvage of "brown" waste paper is immediately necessary to meet increasing requirements of the armed services for heavier types of shipping cartons and containers, Byron Hanson, WPB general salvage secretary for Minnesota, pointed out today.

Analyses of the local paper collections reveal a decreasing volume of salvaged brown paper bags, boxes, cartons, containers and wrapping paper. When no longer fit for reuse, these items should be salvaged because of the highly desirable long-fibre materials which they contain. More than 90 per cent of all paper and containers which are brown in color contain kraft fibre which can be used to replace virgin woodpulp in the manufacture of shipping boxes.

Every store, office building and every home, both rural and urban, is urged to continue the salvage of all waste paper but especially to save brown waste paper items and to flatten and bundle them in securely tied packs for local waste paper collections, said Mr. Hanson.

Six deaths in grade crossing accidents in Minnesota in two days should remind drivers approaching crossings to look and listen if they want to live.

JAP RIFLE RECEIVED FROM NEW BRITAIN

Buffalo Lake. — An interesting souvenir was found in the package Mrs. Earl Borkenhagen received from her husband a few days ago —a Jap rifle. Lt. Borkenhagen mailed the box from New Britain approximately three months ago. The rifle has a 25 calibre bore and a sharp 16-inch bayonet fixed at the "business end" of it. It has an adjustable rear sight, bolt action mechanism and a magazine with a capacity for three 25 calibre shells at a time. Markings on the gun show a "Rising Sun" emblem and several other Japanese characters that were not discernible.

TRAFFIC DEATHS CONTINUE CLIMB 1ST HALF OF YEAR

142 Persons Are Killed in Minnesota in First Half of Current Year

Motor vehicle traffic fatalities in Minnesota in June continued the upward trend started late last year, according to a state highway bulletin. Twenty-one deaths resulting from June accidents have so far been reported, five more than in June, 1943. Deaths in the first six months total 142 or 28 more than in the same months in 1943. Each month in 1944 except May has had more deaths than the same month in 1943.

With the exception of the 1943 low record, the record in 1944 is better than in any other recent year. From 1934 to 1942, June fatalities averaged 48 and the average for the first half of the year was 229.

June, first summer month, ran true to its tradition of being the most dangerous month for the children. Eight met death in traffic accidents, more than in any month since June last year.

Five of the eight child victims were playing or walking in streets or roads, one girl fell from a moving vehicle, and one boy on a bicycle, hitching a ride on the side of a truck, was hit by the opening of the left door on a parked car.

Three adult pedestrians met death in June traffic, one crossing a street, one walking along a highway, and one when a truck he was hand-cranking leaped forward and crushed him against another truck.

Six motor vehicle occupants were killed when cars left the road and overturned or struck fixed objects, three were killed in motor vehicle collisions, and one was burned to death when the gasoline in a tank truck he was driving caught fire.

LAND O'LAKES NEWS

DAIRY FARMERS Take Over FIFTH AVENUE!

DAIRY FARMERS have "taken over" Fifth Avenue. And Michigan Avenue in Chicago. And Broad Street in Philadelphia. And Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington. And The Commons in Boston.

IN THE MAJOR MARKETS OF AMERICA, dairy farmers' own brand of butter—Land O'Lakes—is asked for first by hundreds of thousands of women!

THIS MEANS A LOT to Land O' Lakes members, because they have more potential returns in their products; because they control them all the way to the store! Tomorrow it will mean even more!

YET, a preferred, nationally advertised brand is not the only advantage of marketing through Land O' Lakes! Why not investigate ALL the advantages?

Wherever they went, they walked ... on guard at every step. Hardships taught our forefathers the virtue of self-reliance and the need for co-operation. Thus, in the humble cradle of privation, the spirit of our Democracy was born.

Our enemies foolishly ignored the enduring influence of our Nation's heritage when they jeered that we were too soft to fight. Little did they dream that, almost overnight, free men could perfect the finest and best-equipped fighting forces the world has ever seen.

So, today when good citizens see an A card on a windshield, they recognize it as a symbol of what people can accomplish who have learned from experience to work together to attain a common objective.

That same spirit will win this war—and in peacetime that same unity of effort will keep America strong and prosperous for our men and women now on the fighting front.

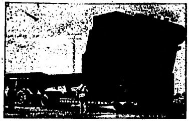
Truck-Trailers Aid Ship Construction



The application of the assembly-line method of production to many big industries is one of the reasons for the immense industrial output of the United States. Motor transport is contributing immeasurably to this production record by doing such jobs as illustrated here. This picture shows a 50-ton boiler for a Liberty ship moving down the assembly-line via Fruehauf trailer. These huge boilers are fabricated at one point, tested a quarter-mile away, then installed in ships on ways a half-mile further along. Truck-Trailers are helping to speed ship construction in many different ways, and some other examples of their outstanding war work are shown in an interesting War Bond display now showing at the Northern State bank.

Ruffed Grouse Reported as Exceedingly Scarce in Minnesota This Year

Ruffed grouse in Minnesota are at the low point of a cyclic decline, according to censuses conducted this past spring by game biologists of the state division of game and fish.

Censuses of the ruffed grouse population have been conducted every year since 1930. The numbers of this popular game bird, commonly called "partridge", are at approximately the same level as in 1935, which was the previous recorded low point in their abundance. This information was revealed by five counts taken in April on widely scattered areas within the grouse range. Also, hunters' reports indicate that the estimated 1943 bag (171,138) was more than 50 per cent under the 1942 take (361,500).

12,285 FIRES HIT STATE FORESTS IN THE PAST 10 YEARS

Nearly All Were Caused by Human Carelessness or Neglect

In the past ten years, 12,285 forest fires, large and small, have swept Minnesota woodlands, destroying an amount of timber so vast that its value cannot be estimated. Of the 12,285 fires, 12,087 or more than 98 per cent were caused by human carelessness or neglect and only 198 were attributed to lightning.

These figures were made public today by S. Rexford, St. Paul, chairman of the Keep Minnesota Green executive committee, as evidence of the fact that fire danger to Minnesota forests is still a constant threat, despite all the prevention work of public and private conservation organizations in the last quarter-century. They were taken from official records of the state department of conservation, compiled in the office of Henry G. Weber, director of the division of forestry, a member of the committee.

The Keep Minnesota Green campaign, aimed first at prevention of forest fires and later at a complete program of reforestation and other work for perpetuation of one of the state's great natural resources, is getting into full swing throughout Minnesota, Mr. Black said. Sponsors include representatives of forest industries and other major lines of business and activity, together with state and national conservation groups. The conservation and other departments of the state government are cooperating vigorously.

Of the 12,087 man-made fires recorded in Minnesota in 1934-1943 inclusive, 2,571 were caused by smokers, the records shows; 1,283 by railroads, 158 as result of cutting trees or manufacturing lumber and pulpwood; 4,405 by burning brush or debris; and 613 by carelessness of campers.

Five hundred twenty-nine were of incendiary origin, set by firebugs, while 2,528 were charged to miscellaneous causes. Proportion of fires in the various origin classes averaged about the same in each of the ten years, Mr. Black explained.

DUCK REARS BABIES HIGH UP IN TREE

Fergus Falls.—The quack, quack, quack of a mother duck attracted the attention of farmer, Leonard Ledum, as he stood in a slough on his farm near Elbow Lake. The noise didn't seem to be emanating from the slough, but the sounds seemed to come from above. Sure enough, upon looking around he discovered a mother duck and a nest full of babies in a tree nine feet above the ground. Whether the mother duck had feared the rains would continue and the slough would rise nine feet by the time her ducklings were hatched, or whether she was just a "dumb duck" is a matter of conjecture. But at this point she surely had a problem in trying to figure out a way to get the babies into the water. One had already fallen to the ground and broken its wings. Farmer Ledum got his ladder, climbed the tree and brought the whole family down to its natural abode in the slough.

Invitations to Join in U.S. Cadet Nurse Corps Extended by University

"Invitations" to enlist in the U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps and take a free three year course in nursing at the University of Minnesota school of nursing were sent out today to 3,900 selected high school senior girls in Minnesota's 87 counties.

The invitation, which outline the advantages of this training for both war and peacetime, were issued by Miss Katharine Densford, director of the school of nursing.

The corps, according to Miss Densford, offers an eligible high school graduate an education in a highly honored profession with all fees and tuition paid; all types of necessary uniforms without cost; room and board free and a monthly allowance ranging from $15 to $30 during the training period.

The only obligation is that a cadet nurse agree to be a nurse, civilian or military as she wishes, for the duration of the war, Miss Densford said.

Girls who receive the letters from Miss Densford are in the upper scholastic levels in their classes. For further information write the University of Minnesota school of nursing.

Be cautious today and you'll be conscious tomorrow.

MANY COUNTIES TO SHOW BOOTHS AT MINNESOTA FAIR

Exhibits May be Entered up to July 24, Secretary Announces

Though entries for county exhibits at the Minnesota state fair, Aug. 26 to Sept. 4, do not close until July 24, nineteen such entries already have been received, L. O. Jacob, superintendent in charge announced this week.

Space in the big agriculture building is in such demand, says Mr. Jacob that booths for only two more county exhibits are available. Interest in this big popular feature, he says, is more wide-spread than it has been for many years.

Counties now at work on county exhibits for the coming state fair are Anoka, Dakota, Douglas, Fillmore, Houston, Hubbard, Isanti, Itasca, Kanabec, Koochiching, Mille Lacs, Morrison, Olmsted, Otter Tail, Pine, Ramsey, Todd, Wadena, and Wright.

Last year's three top winners were Ramsey, Todd and Morrison, in that order. All counties entered a year ago, save one, are returning this year, said Jacob. Nearly $5,000 in prizes are offered.

Work on the coming state fair is in full swing. One of its leading features will be the big 4-H club show. A full delegation of local 4-H club boys and girls is expected.

Entertainment features will include fireworks, horse racing, bands, circus acts and many other stellar attractions.

Mine From Surface

Mining of the Itabira ores of Brazil takes relatively little manpower because of the ease with which the iron can be taken out of the outcropping beds of ore. The miners simply remove an outer clay covering, drill holes for dynamite and then gather up the ore as it tumbles down in large chunks after the explosion. These chunks then are broken up in smaller sizes for shipment.

Fungus Remedies

Scientists have stepped up their efforts to devise new and better treatments for making commercially treated fabrics for rot resistance and mildew proofing. They have created laboratory conditions corresponding to actual fungus attacks in fabrics, rope, cordage and thread. By stimulating fungus growth in special incubators, materials can be subjected to fungus attacks that equal weeks or months of exposure under actual field conditions.

Killed Rubber

In the past, many rubber trees have been killed by a worker hacking them haphazardly with a machete. The better method taught in the schools involves use of a special knife with a U blade on one side and a fin blade on the other. An incision is made straight up the side of the tree. Down this the latex, or rubber milk, flows into a clean receptacle at the foot of the tree.

Have a Coca-Cola = Let's relax a bit

...or a little minute long enough for a big rest

This year again, communities are growing vegetables. Hard-working gardeners grow tired and thirsty. Just three words, Have a "Coke", always sound like music at times like that. With ice-cold Coca-Cola in your refrigerator you are ready for the pause that refreshes at any time. Plan to have a supply on hand, ice-cold. Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become a symbol of friendly refreshment to folks at work and at war.

ATTENTION! ALL HOME CANNERS!

Before you begin your 1944 canning, Good Housekeeping Magazine advises you: use the boiling-water bath method for tomatoes and fruits, only. Can all vegetables except tomatoes by the correct use of a pressure cooker to be sure of killing botulinus germs. In the last few years, cases of botulinus food poisoning have cropped up in widely different parts of the country. Buy, borrow, share a pressure cooker—but don't can low-acid vegetables any other way. If you want further information, write Good Housekeeping Magazine, 959 Eighth Avenue, New York 19, N. Y.

MUST REPORT ALL HIGHWAY MISHAPS, STATE LAW READS

Traffic Act Tells What to Do after Accident Occurs

Every driver knows that the first duty after an accident is to stop, disclose identity, and aid the injured. Not all know about reports that must be made. The legal requirements are summed up in a state highway bulletin as follows:

The driver of every vehicle involved in an accident must stop, give his name, address, and vehicle registration number, and upon request show his driver's license or chauffeur's license. The stop must be made without unduly obstructing traffic.

He must give reasonable aid to the injured, including carrying such persons to a physician or to a hospital if such treatment is necessary, or if requested by the injured person.

If the accident results in death or personal injury, he must immediately notify the police, if in a municipality, otherwise the office of the county sheriff.

If the accident results in death, personal injury, or property damage exceeding $50, he must make a written report to the commissioner of highways within 24 hours.

The driver of a vehicle colliding with an unattended vehicle must stop and locate the driver or owner of the vehicle struck, or report to the police. If a vehicle strikes fixtures upon or adjacent to a highway, he must report to the owner or person responsible for such property.

'Flu' Weakens Pigs

Swine influenza does not kill large numbers of hogs but makes them unthrifty and likely prospects for more deadly diseases. Some farmers claim that baking soda placed in the drinking water helped control the disease. The best control is to keep pigs dry, warm, and well fed. The disease is most likely to occur in fall or winter in houses which are so poorly ventilated they are usually damp.

POSTWAR PLAN SUBMITTED TO CITY COUNCIL

Planning Board Recommends Improvements in Local Water Supply

OPEN BIDS AUG. 8 ON WINTER COAL SUPPLY

Mayor Repeats Demand for Resignation of Three Aldermen

At its postponed July session Tuesday evening, the city council considered a variety of matters calling for attention, and deferred action of some of them until an adjourned meeting next Tuesday evening, July 25.

City Clerk P. G. Pederson read the first report of the local postwar planning board, submitted by Paul A. Lundgren, chairman. As an initial project to be undertaken, the board recommended a survey in cooperation with the state department of health of the city's water supply facilities, including the rebuilding and enlargement of the filtration plant. It also was proposed in that connection that a study be made of the feasibility of dredging out the accumulated silt in the river pool.

Other projects recommended by the board for study were a new bridge across the river on First st., and the creation of a new approach to it from the cemetery road, as well as the construction of sidewalks and curbs, hard surfacing of streets and a community swimming pool.

The council voted to ask the state board of health to send a representative here to confer on a survey of water department needs, and adopted a resolution endorsing a proposed agreement between the county board and the state highway department relative to sharing costs of engineering services in connection with the new bridge.

In a discussion of the enforcement of the curfew law, it was reported by Police Chief Leonard Hanson that 198 boys and girls under the age of 17 had been warned for violations of the law. He stated that the curfew ordinance is particularly effective in the case of smaller children, and that the authorities should get better cooperation from the parents in the case of older ones.

Mayor W. J. Douville submitted a communication to Council President Emil Griebstein calling attention to the mayor's recent demand for the resignations of Aldermen Jack McKechnie, J. Robert Petersen and Frank Rinkel

COUNTY BOARD WILL END JULY SESSION TODAY

Action Remains to be Taken on County Budget for Coming Year

AGREES TO SHARE IN COST OF RIVER WORK

Appropriates $400 for 4-H Club Exhibits at the County Fair

The semi-annual July session of the Pennington county board, which opened Tuesday morning, was still in progress this morning, when action was scheduled to be taken on the most important item of business, the approval of the 1944 tax levy for county purposes.

In common with other affected counties, the board adopted a resolution giving assurance to the Minnesota department of conservation that Pennington county will assume its share of the cost in connection with the Red Lake-Clearwater river flood control project.

In connection with the proposed post-war construction of a new bridge across Red Lake river on First st., the board authorized payment of one-fourth of the engineering costs of the project. The city of Thief River Falls also has assumed one-fourth of the cost, while the remaining half will be borne by the federal government.

Following a review of the delinquent personal property tax list for 1943 as turned in by Sheriff Arthur Rambeck, the board voted to grant no cancellations and to turn the list over to Clerk of Court Henry Storhaug to enter judgment.

After a lengthy discussion pro and con, the board adopted a resolution appropriating $400 for additional premiums for 4-H club exhibitors at the Pennington county fair in August.

E. P. Burstad, who has served as janitor at the court house for the past twelve years, submitted his resignation effective September 15, following which he will leave for the state of Washington, where his daughters are living.

The board approved the addition to the county aid road system of one mile of township road in Hickory township and six miles in Norden. Alfred O. Stekke was appointed to the post of county surveyor, succeeding I. E. Quist.

Those passing the swimmers test are Cyril Johnson, Donald Sponheim and Don Engelstad. Two more beginners are Judith Penny and Evan Jones. More will be published next week.

Since work began a week ago Monday on the new arrival of 33,200 dressings, only 2,733 were made by Monday evening of this week. St. Hilaire took 8,600 dressings to be made up and before the two weeks were up had them back, all ready for shipment. What can be done at St. Hilaire could be done here at Thief River Falls if every one who is able would only take the time and come out to work. Here is a record of the work done: Monday, 440, Tuesday 300, Wednesday 347, Thursday 646, Monday afternoon 880 and Monday evening 120, total 2,733 dressings made by 39 volunteers and about 30 instructors. Monday evening found only one worker at the surgical dressing room and five instructors. Since a number of girls have no opportunity of working other than in the evenings, it only seems reasonable that Monday evenings should have a better representation than the records so far have shown. We have 29,000 dressings yet to be made and just six weeks to finish them; that is 4,800 a week. Can we do it? Of course we can if only a half dozen ladies in St. Hilaire can make 3,000 in less than two weeks. But we must start now!

PRIMARY VOTING WAS SMALLEST IN NEARLY 25 YEARS

Ray P. Chase Is Nominee for Railroad and Warehouse Commission

Defeat of two incumbent state office holders in the July 10 primary election was made official Tuesday with the report of the state canvassing board.

The total non-party vote of [illegible] was the smallest in nearly 25 years. Only 336,262 votes were counted in the party primary, because of invalidation of many [illegible] ballots, and of this total [illegible] were cast for Republican candidates and 103,480 for Democratic-Farmer-Laborites.

Although the July date was set especially to give members of the armed forces a chance to vote, only 8,454 soldiers' ballots were recorded.

Coincidentally with the report of the canvassing board, Rollin G. Johnson, state railroad and warehouse commissioner, who was defeated by Ray P. Chase, former state auditor, for the Republican nomination for the office, announced that he will resign effective Sept. 1 and ask Gov. Edward J. Thye to appoint Chase for the balance of the term running to Jan. 1.

Chase's lead was officially reported as 1,183 votes. Johnson said some confusion undoubtedly resulted because there was another Johnson on the ballot, but he did not anticipate there were enough errors to justify a recount.

Associated Justice Thomas O. Streissguth also failed to win nomination, with official figures placing him eighth in the field of 11 supreme court candidates. Six were nominated, including Associate Justices Harry H. Peterson, who led with 180,076 votes, and C. R. Magney. Other nominees were Leroy Matson, Minneapolis, who placed second; J. Norman [illegible], Long Prairie, former state liquor commissioner, fourth; [illegible] L. Johnson, Wayzata, and Municipal Judge Clifford E. Eng[illegible] Austin. John C. Holten, St. Paul, placed seventh.

Stacked neatly on small shelves were men's green silk socks and women's hosiery of pure silk. Noel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford E. Noel, Thief River Falls.

Local Seabee Gives Account of Life in Gilbert Islands

In a letter to the Times, Seabee William Lawrence Best of this community gives an enlightening account of life on Tarawa, Gilbert Islands, in the South Pacific. Following are excerpts from his letter:

I am stationed at Tarawa, Gilbert Islands. This is one atoll or group of coral reefs which make up the Gilbert Island group. The group of reefs which make up Tarawa are several in number and the majority are quite small. The reefs are not much above sea level.

The vegetation is composed for the most part of cocoanut trees and bandanas trees. There is no grass to speak of and no flowers. The cocoanut tree is of considerable value and the main vegetation. It is a source of lumber for the native boats, the nut in various stages of maturity serves as milk for babies which cannot be nursed, a source of drink if no water is available, food to eat and a means of making an alcoholic beverage which has quite a kick.

The food of the natives is made up of cocoanuts, breadfruit, bandanas and fish which are plentiful here. They are very fond of fish, eating many of the small fish raw. They enjoy eating squid or small octopus. These are dried in the sun and the feelers pounded into a powder which they boil. They are quite fond of shark meat. They will drink either tea or coffee but many times rather have water sweetened.

For light at night they use cocoanut oil burned from a wick in a small glass jar. It makes about as much light as a small candle. They use cocoanut fronds bound together as a torch for light to fish on the reefs at night.

They live in villages of a few to two or three hundred. The villages are located wherever good water may be found. The frame work of the houses is built of cocoanut and bandanas wood. They are a gable with the roof resting on four poles tied together and set on four forked sticks. They then make thatch of either bandanas leaves or cocoanut leaves and lay the roof like shingles and close the ends the same way. If the family is poor, the hut will have no walls or merely a curtain of leaves. The better house may have walls and partitions made of the centers of cocoanut fronds. The floors may be just the earth or it is raised some and floored with centers of coanut fronds. Nearly all of the huts are just one room for the family. For bedding they weave mats from leaves.

They value cloth very highly. The larger share wear nothing above the waist. Many of the women still wear grass skirts as their only clothing. Cloth makes a good means of trading here. The missionaries have managed to get many of the women to wear dresses but money is very scarce to buy cloth.

Native transportation was for the most part by canoe or by foot. They consider it quite a privilege to ride in a truck or jeep.

The health of the people is not good. The rate of babies is high. The older people nearly all have T.B. Their diet and closeness of living cause it to spread quickly. They are very heavy smokers of very low grade tobacco which does not help much.

The natives have proved to be very loyal and think the Americans are very good to them. They are very good workers and learn quickly. Once shown they usually can do a job very well. Of three hundred only two or three were found who could not sign their own names. They can figure exchange rates from one money to the other without any trouble. The money in peace time is Australian. They cannot be fooled easily and are shrewd traders.

The climate here is moderate and quite constant the year around. The rainfall is not excessive nor does a rainstorm last long. We have no high winds.

Yours truly,
William L. Best,
CEM, USNR

SPARE EYE GLASSES "When I pack, they're as necessary as an extra shirt"

ALWAYS IN THE BAG

There's satisfaction in knowing that you have a spare pair of eyeglasses on tap—in case you break or lose your regulars.

You may be hundreds of miles away or it may be Sunday or a holiday—and you may have to fly blind for hours or even several days—if you don't own that extra pair.

And you should have a pair of tinted glasses with fine lenses—ground to your prescription—for sun and sport wear.

20% FEDERAL EXCISE TAX ON TOILETRIES

STATE'S INCOME TAX HITS PEAK OF $25,000,000

Past Year's Receipts from Income Levy Register 18 Pct. Gain

Gross receipts from the Minnesota state income tax reached a new peak of $25,140,948, highest in its history, in the year ending June 30, 1944, registering a gain of $3,803,663, or nearly 18% over the previous years, G. Howard Spaeth, state tax commissioner, reported this week.

Receipts for the fiscal year of 1943 were $21,337,284.

Helping to swell the record returns from the tax in 1944 was an item of approximately $1,500,000 in additional taxes, not reported in taxpayers' returns, but collected as a result of auditing activities in the income tax division. A new program of systematic checking of returns instituted by Commissioner Spaeth, is obtaining tax payments from many, particularly from firms outside the state, omitted in prior years.

Commissioner Spaeth attributed the increase in receipts for the 1944 fiscal year to "the tremendously increased income of corporations and partnerships performing services and furnishing material for the army, navy and merchant marine and to the generally increased income of individuals, particularly farmers."

Number of taxable returns reported increased from 207,289 in the 1943 fiscal year to 229,324 in 1944, Spaeth said.

The Mohammedan pilgrimage to Mecca has totaled annually from 25,000 to more than 180,000 pilgrims. The world-wide depression had reduced greatly the Hadj, as the pious journey is called. War and the closing of sea lanes again had cut the number of pilgrims, with proportionate losses to the revenues of Saudi Arabia.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

Baby Sets the Pace

Many parents who wish their babies to progress rapidly find themselves in the position of a person on a slow moving street car that will not yield to his urge for speed. The baby moves along at his own rate. Attempts to get him to smile or walk before he is ready will fail.

Each new activity of the baby is not just another isolated link, but grows out of many related phases of development. Thus, development in one kind of behavior depends on what is happening in another.

The smile the baby gives you before four weeks is not really for you, but is involuntary, appearing as a result of internal conditions as, for instance, when the baby has just been fed. A "social" smile, the one given in response to a smile of another person, comes only after the eyes are sufficiently coordinated to focus on one object, and after the baby has come to associate his comfort and well-being with the presence of other human beings. The social smile may appear as early as the fifth week and is nearly always present by the end of the second month.

Almost at birth the baby begins to prepare for the far-off act of walking. To be able to walk at about fifteen months, he needs control over his head and the upper part of his body as well as over his legs. Within the first few weeks, he raises his head momentarily from off the surface on which he is lying. A little later he raises his head higher and keeps it up longer, and soon can support the upper part of his body on his arms, the trunk as a whole meanwhile turning with the head. Next the baby sits up, strengthening his back muscles and daily takes positions that will result in greater arm strength and better control over the upper and lower back. Shortly he begins to crawl or creep and moves out to see the world at close range for himself. Thus, he strengthens his arms and legs so that later he will be able to pull his whole body to standing position. Finally, with the first few steps across the floor, one chapter of a very complex but very orderly development reaches its climax.

Since the ages at which normal babies pass through each stage vary widely, parents should not become anxious about differences between their own and other children. In letting growth take its course, and at the same time furnishing a rich environment that will stimulate the new abilities as they emerge, we do our children a great service.

COUNCIL TRANSACTS VARIETY OF BUSINESS AT LENGTHY SESSION

on the ground that they had violated the law by engaging in business with the city. When the council president said he would take no action in the matter, Mr. Douville indicated that he intended to carry the matter further. Alderman Petersen accused the mayor of engaging in "penny ante politics."

The long-pending application of Iver Austad for a permit to remodel a dwelling recently moved onto lots on Arnold av. north of the sewer extension was again held up temporarily owing to the absence of City Attorney Theodore Quale, from whom a ruling was to be sought on the legal phases of the matter. Several owners of ajoining property were present to oppose the granting of the permit on the ground that the structure would be detrimental to the neighborhood.

Granted subject to approval of the building committee were other applications aggregating nearly $5,000, including one for a coal shed for the Lampert Lumber company to cost $3,500.

The council approved the appointment by the mayor to the cemetery commission of Earle Ripley, who will succeed the late John Q. Cronkhite. It was voted to advertise for bids on next winter's supply of coal for municipal buildings, the bids to be opened August 8. Also to be opened at that time are bids on a new engine block for the police car, which has seen 60,000 miles of hard service.

40-MILE PONY TRIP TO UNCLE'S FARM

Lanesboro.—A curious sight to Ed Redalen at four o'clock one morning recently was a couple of children, a boy and a girl, hitching their pony on the main street. The pair, Mr. Redalen learned, were en route from LaCrosse, Wisc., to Fountain, a distance of some forty miles. A trip by automobile between these two points would have been trivial, but with "one pony" power it was taking a lot of time and determination. The youngsters were determined not to have their pony sold "to a stranger" and for that reason were taking it to an uncle's farm near Fountain.

The first week in August generally brings the county fair and as a rule the county fair brings the start of the harvest, but this year the harvest will be well under way by fair time. Judging by this time-table our crops must be nearly two weeks ahead of schedule this year for cutting is already getting under way. And that brings to the front again the problem of harvest labor. With a bigger crop to be handled the need for harvest hands will be more critical than in previous war years. Those of us who work in town and whose work day ends at five o'clock by the sun will soon be called upon again to lend a hand during the evening hours. Gangs of five or six men from town can set up a lot of shocks in a couple of hours.

Shame on us for deriving a measure of satisfaction out of the story of a youngster who graduated with honors from Harvard at the age of sixteen and then spent his life working as an office clerk. As a boy he astounded the world with his brilliance but his light burned out in a few short years. We like to cheer for the lad who is looked upon as the least likely to succeed but who makes good. Success early in life may be more disastrous than adversity.

Hitler's eastern armies are back to about the point they started from three years ago when the invasion of Russia got under way, and they seem to be falling back now as rapidly as they advanced at that time. During these three years a continuous battle has been fought on large sectors of a front many hundreds of miles long. In many respects no doubt the greatest struggle between armed forces the world has known. The cost in lives of both soldiers and civilians has been terrific. If the Germans had only this eastern front to maintain the outcome of the struggle might be doubtful. Now, however, with the forces of the Allied nations closing in from both the south and the west the result is certain. The leaders of Germany's war machine know now that they cannot win. When the German people come to this conclusion it is expected there will be a rapid deterioration of the quality of resistance and the end will be near at hand.

Big question before the Democrats now assembled in convention is the selection of a candidate for vice-president. Wallace has serious opposition and is not considered a likely choice to succeed himself. It is well that the party is giving more than the usual consideration to the selection of a man for this important office for if we have a Democratic victory in November there is more than the usual probability that the vice president will become president before another four year term expires. Wallace is not sufficiently well balanced to serve in the capacity of chief executive of the nation. He is a crusader rather than an administrator. He does not possess the qualities of leadership necessary to maintain harmony in his own party, and with him in the president's chair there would be no hope for national harmony during the critical years that are ahead of us. The man selected by the Democrats as candidate for vice president may become president and the candidate should be selected with that possibility in mind.

Worth attending will be the Water Carnival at Tindolph Park next Sunday. This is a home talent production that serves a very good purpose and should be encouraged.

Pennington County's 1944 Fair will be well up to standard from an entertainment standpoint. The management has been fortunate in being able to book a grandstand production that will compare favorably with those presented in pre-war years, and forty railroad cars will bring the carnival that plays the Aquatennial at Minneapolis. Stage show and carnival stop here enroute to the Montana State Fair. Because of labor conditions the night shows will be featured more than in previous years. Just what the fair will offer in the way of exhibits will of course depend on the response from exhibitors. The 4-H Club departments have become increasingly important over a period of years and the youngsters should be encouraged to maintain their interest in competitive exhibition even though greater sacrifices than usual are required. At any rate within two weeks the county fair will be under way and then it may be said that we are moving in the direction of normal conditions again.

NEW-BORN FAWN IN HAYFIELD

Lakefield.—Surprised was Burrell Steinbeck as he glanced at a closeby clover field, near the hayfield which he was working. There in all her splendor stood a beautiful doe. For a minute they watched each other. So unusual was the sight Steinbeck went to the house to get his father-in-law, Herman Finnern, who was rather skeptical about a deer being on his farm. As the two approached the doe looked at them, moved away slowly with poise and grace. The two men continued to the spot where she had first stood and there in the clover was a new-born fawn.

School Board Seeking Permission to Erect Bus Storage Building

At a special meting of the local board of education this week, it was decided to apply to the St. Paul office of the War Production Board for permission to construct a garage to house the school buses. The board also voted to engage the services of Solheim & Ness to lay a new cement floor in the old Lincoln gymnasium.

NOTHING ON THE HOUSE

A plainly dressed man approached the service desk in a swanky hotel, waited awkwardly for attention, and then asked timidly:

"May I have some stationery, please?"

The trim clerk eyed him coldly a moment, then asked:

"Are you a guest of this hotel?"

"Guest?" replied the plainly dressed one. "Heck no! I'm paying five dollars a day here."

Mica Is Silicate

Mica is a general term for a large group of minerals, silicates of aluminum and potassium. The most important micas, from a commercial standpoint, are muscovite and phlogopite. Muscovite is widely distributed and phlogopite is found in Canada, New York and New Jersey. Other micas have little commercial importance.

Save Steps

If toilet soaps, toilet tissues, and other bathroom supplies are kept on a shelf in the linen closet or an upstairs clothes closet, many steps will be saved when these articles need to be replaced in the bathroom.

Don't Waste Soap

Thrifty housewives do not waste soap. They experiment to find out just how much soap is required to make lively suds for various purposes, and use that amount. When suds die down, they add only enough to renew the lather to a peak of efficiency.

Find Water

At U. S. army bases throughout the world, geologists from the Geological survey determine where potable water can be found, and they often accompany landing forces.

The prosecuting attorney was cross-examining a witness in an important case. He asked: "And on June 11 you say you called upon Mrs. Murphy. Now, what did she say—"

"I object to that question, your honor," interrupted opposing counsel.

Then ensued an hour's fierce argument between counsels, and in the end the judge allowed the question.

"And, as I was saying," continued the state's attorney, "you called upon Mrs. Murphy. Now, what did she say?"

"Nothing—she was out," was the reply.

Dr. Francis E. Townsend says—My faith has never wavered. I knew that the Townsendites could do it. A lot of people who used to laugh at us will find themselves laughing out of the other side of their mouths when they wake up some morning this fall and find the Townsend plan, that "crazy" old Townsend plan, has actually become a law of the land. It is all right for us to congratulate ourselves, but let us not forget to thank that divine power which has watched over us and guided us through the years. Without that backing, no cause wins. Townsendites have had it because throughout the years of slander and ridicule they have stayed humble and unselfishly worked for the good of the whole citizenry. 33p

Water Compost

To assist the rotting of a compost heap, water it enough to keep it damp clear through and add to each layer of plant waste fresh animal and poultry manures, or a few handfuls of a complete fertilizer high in nitrogen, cottonseed meal, or similar nitrogen-containing plant food. The soil in the compost heap absorbs the products of the decayed vegetable matter, prevents loss, and makes the compost convenient to handle.

Here's why I have put every cent I can into War Bonds...

Here's the way I figured it out.

The more money Uncle Sam can put into winning the war the sooner the war will be over—and that's what all of us want.

I would be dumb, then, if I didn't buy all the War Bonds I could to put that needed money into Uncle Sam's hands, for it means victory sooner, lives saved and peacetime ways of living again.

—But that's not all there is to it by a long shot.

That money I put into War Bonds will return me up to $4 for every $3 I put in. That means after peace is won I'll have greater financial security, more money to spend for the things I want in a peacetime world. So in buying War Bonds I feel that I am helping win the war and doing a favor for myself.

SHORTSTOP GOLF TOURNEY PLANNED HERE ON SUNDAY

Golfers from Many Nearby Towns to Participate in Event

Last year's championship flight winner, Harry Peterson of Bemidji, formerly of Grand Forks, and Ted Waldon, Grand Forks, winner of last Sunday's Grand Forks Country Club shortstop tournament, will headline the large contingent of out-of-town golfers that is expected to participate in the eighth annual shortstop golf tournament to be played over the local course on Sunday.

Golfers from Grand Forks, Bemidji, Crookston, Ada, Red Lake Falls, Stephen, Roseau, and Erskine, have signified their intentions of entering the tourney.

Qualifying scores should be submitted to the tournament committee before 9:00 A. M. Sunday, so that the various flights, with eight golfers to a flight, can have their match play pairings arranged. The championship flight is slated to leave the first tee at 9:00 and 9:05, with the other flights leaving the tee at five minute intervals. All matches will be nine-hole play contests; and defense stamps will be awarded to the flight champions, runners-up, and consolation winners.

Out-of-town golfers are requested to mail their qualifying scores to Ed. W. Carlson, the tournament committee chairman. The entry fee for the tournament is $1.25.

LOCAL BALL CLUB WINS 16-INNING GAME AT GATZKE

Baker's Single with Bases Loaded Brings in Two Tallies

Bob Baker's line single into centerfield with the bases loaded and two men out in the first half of the 16th inning scored Woody Almquist and Blackie Stephens, and broke up a gruelling pitcher's duel between the locals' Almquist and Gatzke's Hank Sandland. A moment later Arlo Jacobson and Baker engineered a double steal, with Jacobson scoring the game's third and final tally. In Gatzke's half of the 16th inning, Almquist struck out Lunsetter and Vigen, and threw out Haack, to give the locals a well-earned 3 to 0 win over the Pirates in a game played on the Gatzke diamond Sunday.

The locals threatened to break into the run column in the 9th and 13th innings, filling the bases with two men away, but Sandland struck out Jacobson for the third out in 9th inning, and forced Red Bossman to fly to left field for the side-retiring out in the 13th frame. In the game-winning 16th inning, after Rosendahl had filed out, Almquist drove a single to right center; moved to second base on Bossman's infield out. Stephens' single sent Almquist to third and, after Stephens had stolen second, Jacobson drew a walk to fill the bases. Baker then poled out his crucial single.

Although they did not get a man beyond second base, Gatzke had a couple of opportunities to score. Hank Sandland opened the 2nd inning with a double and when Art Peterson, who collected two doubles during the game, lined a ball over second base, Hank headed for third base, but centerfielder Wally DuChamp made a running one-handed catch and then whipped the ball to second base for a double play.

Woody Almquist, in recording the 16-inning shutout, garnered 22 strikeouts, whiffing every member of the Gatzke team at least once, and getting Irv Vigen, Clayton Stordahl, Marsh Myhrer, Art Tonder, and Walt Lunsetter three times each. In the 3rd, 4th, and 8th innings, the stocky righthander retired the side on strikes. Hank Sandland, too, hurled a fine game, collecting 13 strikeouts, with Jimmy Welton being the only local batter to escape being a strikeout victim. Art Tonder in left field for Gatzke, turned in an excellent defensive game, making six putouts.

The locals will have an open date next Sunday, but arrangements are being completed for a game to be played at Oslo on July 30th, with Minto furnishing the opposition.

Keeping Score

…. [illegible]

One for the Books

That 16-inning ball game at Gatzke on Sunday, with both batteries going the route, and with neither team being able to shove across a run for 15 innings, should provide enough fuel for the hot stove league for many winters to come. While the contest was pretty much a pitcher's game, with Woody Almquist and Hank Sandland in the featured roles, several nifty fielding plays were recorded.

Art Tonder, in left field for Gatzke, pulled Hank out of a couple of tight spots with fine catches, spearing Wally DuChamp's line drive in the 9th inning and making a running catch of Rube Rosendahl's fly ball in the 6th inning; and Walt Lunsetter, in centerfield, made a nifty over-the-shoulder catch of Orry Aase's long drive in the 10th inning.

For the locals, centerfielder Wally DuChamp performed the fielding "top" when he made a one-handed stab of Art Peterson's looping fly to short center in the 2nd inning, and then completed a double play by tossing the ball to second base to double Hank Sandland, who had opened the inning with a two-base hit.

Batteries Bear Down

But the burden of the game, played in sultry weather, was on the batteries and they bore down all the way. Almquist had his side-arm fast ball and his change-of-pace curve ball working perfectly, but he tired considerably in the later innings; and so did Gatzke's Sandland. It was the first game that Sandland had pitched this year, and Almquist has worked in only a couple, so it was an iron-man performance for Hank and Woody to go the 16 innings.

And a bouquet is due catchers Red Bossman and Art Peterson, neither of whom had a passed ball and they were on top of the play every inning. Gatzke's Peterson, who is 42 years young, is troubled by a trick left knee and the knee slipped out of joint three times during the game, but after a short time-out and getting some assistance in jerking the knee back into place, Art took his place behind the plate.

A number of arguments developed during the game, adding to the sultriness of the weather, and manager Gordy Reierson was the recipient of a number of Gatzke boos. Gordy objected to several decisions of the umpires, but he learned that the umpire is always right and you can't change a decision after it is made. The locals Bob Baker and Gatzke's Arne Engelstad engaged in some serious chin-chin too, with Engelstad claiming that Baker had attempted to spike him. But you can expect arguments in a 16-inning game.

So Far So Good

The championship flight of the city golf tournament completed its first round eliminations this week, and all matches, with the possible exception of the Ed. Carlson vs. Bill Claffy match, in which Ed, a 6-handicap golfer, defeated Bill, a 5-handicap golfer, proceeded according to form. Hans Chommie defeated Walt Smith and will play Lloyd Bennes, who scored a 6 and 5 win over Bill Dahlquist. Stan Larson, after being 2-down at the end of the first nine holes of play, edged out Dr. A. E. Jacobson, and will meet Ed. Carlson in the quarter-finals. Dr. Homer Hedemark, with a 4 and 2 win over Rev. Merth, will play Rev. Thompson, winner over Charley Hoffos. Kern Olson, after being all-even on the first nine holes, scored a 4 and 3 win over Haakon Olson and he will meet Dr. H. Helseth, who defeated George Mostue.

In the only first flight match played, Dahlquist defeated Walt Smith. Rudy Sagmoen, scoring wins over C. W. Mattson and Archie Henarud, has reached the finals in the second flight. And Blackie Stephens, defeating Milt and Justus Larson, is a finalist in the third flight, scheduled to play the winner of the Dr. Borreson vs. Ole Ekeren match.

Golf Tournament and Water Carnival

With the local course being host to the eighth annual shortstop golf tournament, and the local Jaycees sponsoring a water carnival at Tindolph Park, a full program of outdoor entertainment is in store for local fans on Sunday. The activities at Tindolph Park, having more spectator appeal, is expected to draw the larger crowd.

The swimming events and boat races, of course, will be the carnival's highlights, but there will also be volleyball and diamondball contests, and horseshoe pitching competition. Tommy Fuller and Einar Barstad are expected to be on hand to defend their doubles title. Herb Claffy and Bob Baker have registered for the doubles, and Donny Johnson and partner from St. Hilaire will also compete. Donny had Luther Gronseth for a partner at Gatzke on the Fourth and they won up there, and Don, with a new partner, intends to do the same here. All prospective horseshoe players are requested to register with Gordy Reierson. The horseshoe pitching contests are billed to start at 3:00 P. M.

153 LICENSES ARE REVOKED IN JUNE FOR DRUNKENNESS

Number of Drivers Penalized Shows Increase over Month of May

Driving while under the influence of intoxicants was not only the leading cause of revocation of drivers' licenses in June but the total showed a substantial increase over May, according to the monthly report of the state highway department's driver license division. There were 145 revocations following the arrest by local or state traffic enforcement officers for driving while under the influence of intoxicants and eight for inebriacy, a total of 153. In May there were 112 revocations for these two causes.

Exceeding legal speed limits brought suspension of licenses for 77 drivers and repeated offenses brought outright revocation for four more. Reckless driving brought 43 suspensions and repeated offenses brought four revocations. Other principal causes of suspensions were: refusal to take driving test, 84; failure to show financial responsibility, 46; ignoring signs and signals, 30; refusal to give doctor's statement of eye test, 24. Total revocations were 168 and suspensions 366.

During the month 30 drivers convicted of various traffic offenses were also guilty of driving after revocation or suspension of licenses, 13 others were convicted of driving after revocation or suspension, and 19 were convicted on a second charge of driving while under influence of intoxicants.

For the first half of the year, the halfway mark reached June 30, revocations totaled 842, compared to 991 in the same months in 1943. Suspensions for the six months totaled 1,823, compared to 1,373 in the first half of 1943.

RUNAWAY HORSES TRAVEL 60 MILES

Granite Falls. — How far do horses go when they break out of pasture has long been a puzzling question? It was one which Paul Ross pondered a couple of weeks ago when four of his young horses left his pasture in an abrupt manner. An advertisement for the missing animals in the Tribune brought his answer. The four young horses were picked up a distance of more than 60 miles away, near Bellingham.

OPA TO CHECK GAS RATIONS HELD BY USED CAR SELLERS

Reveal Procedure Designed to Curb Illegal Use of Gasoline

The procedure by which unused gasoline rations are returned to the local war price and rationing board when a ration holder sells his car to a dealer was tightened to reduce the chances that these unused coupons may be used for illegal purchases of gasoline, Harold W. Bangert, district director of the office of price administration announced today.

A dealer, when acting as the seller's agent in surrendering the unused ration, must hereafter execute a joint certification with the seller as to the amount and kind of ration currency surrendered, and a description of the vehicle. The buyer of the car then presents this certification, with the ration, to the board. Before it issues a receipt, the board must make sure that the gallonage value of the ration surrendered by the agent checks with the seller's certification and that there has been no abuse or misuse of the ration by the seller or dealer.

This procedure, Mr. Bangert said, is desirable in view of the fact that in a number of reported cases the amount of the ration turned in to the board has been less than the amount turned over to the buyer by the seller.

A CORDIAL WELCOME AWAITS ALL, IRRESPECTIVE OF CHURCH PREFERENCE

Evangelist Oscar C. Knutson, Wisdom, Minn., July 25-30 (Starting next Tuesday night)

Have a "Coke" = You're home again

...or getting back among the folks

The biggest moment on earth to a fighting man is when he returns home. And one of the things that makes him feel at home is the old familiar phrase... Have a "Coke". With Coca-Cola, ice-cold, in your refrigerator, you can make any fighting man, including your own, feel he's back with his friends. From the border to the Gulf, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become a symbol of friendly living.

Coca-Cola
the global high-sign

"Coke" = Coca-Cola

PUBLIC DEBT CUT $97,000,000 IN STATE SINCE 1938

Various Governmental Units Make Bid Reduction in Funded Debt

Minnesota's various governmental units have reduced their total indebtedness more than $97,000,000 from the great peak reached in 1938, or fully 29%, G. Howard Spaeth, state tax commissioner, pointed out in a ten-year survey of public indebtedness made public this week.

From a total of $337,310,051 at the end of 1938, indebtedness of the state and local units of government in Minnesota had been whittled down to $239,001,243 by the end of 1943, the report showed.

County governments have made the biggest percentage of gain, Commissioner Spaeth brought out. Debt of Minnesota counties, including outstanding warrants, dropped $18,289,662, or 47%, from December 31, 1938, to December 31, 1943.

In the same period, debt of municipalities dropped $18,071,433, or 16%; debt of townships dropped $485,472, or 12%; debt of school districts, $4,434,384, or 9%; and debt of the state declined $46,426,838, or 36%.

TREE BLOWS DOWN WIND BLOWS IT UP

Farmington.— Hardly believable is the incident which occurred on John Errington's nearby farm. During a bad storm one evening near the end of June, the wind uprooted a large tree on his farm. A day or so later Mr. Errington started to chop it up for firewood but after cutting off one section he found he had to go haying. Nearly a week later another storm hit the community, this time the wind came from another direction. Yes sir, that wind blew the tree upright again, almost to its original position. The question now is, will that tree take root again and continue a normal life in the community?

County Board in Semi-annual Session Sets Levy at $84,500

The Red Lake county commissioners at their regular July meeting adopted a tax levy of $84,500 for the coming year which is $1,000 less than the $85,500 budget adopted a year ago, says the Red Lake Falls Gazette.

The county revenue levy was cut from $28,000 to $24,000, the road and bridge levy was raised $4,500 or from $15,500 to $20,000. The welfare fund was cut from $16,000 to 14,000 and the poor fund levy cut from $4,000 to $1,000. The sanatorium levy was reduced from $6,000 to $3,500.

All these reductions would have amounted to a greater cut in the total than $1,000 were it not that it was necessary to raise the levy for bond and interest from $19,000 to $22,000 in order to pay off bonded indebtedness which comes during the coming year.

In the year just past the bonded debt of the county has been cut $22,000, it now stands at $198,600 as compared to $220,600 a year ago. Of this $198,600, bonds totalling $44,900 bear interest at 4½ per cent and the remainder of $153,700 bonds bear 3 per cent making a total of $6,419.25 interest yearly which is an appreciable sum in spite of the low interest rate.

ROOSEVELT AND HARRY TRUMAN ON DEM TICKET

President Is Nominated for Fourth Term at Chicago Convention

MISSOURI SENATOR TO BE RUNNING MATE

Truman Defeats Henry Wallace in Vice Presidential Race

From a Pacific coast naval base, President Roosevelt accepted a fourth term nomination Thursday night and told a wartime Democratic national convention—and America—to take a look at the record and then determine whether to entrust a world wide job "to inexperienced and immature hands."

His familiar voice came by radio into a vast Chicago stadium where delegates had given him 1,086 out of 1,176 votes for renomination. Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia chalked up 89. One went to Mr. Roosevelt's estranged, one-time political ally, James A. Farley of New York.

Complete victory within the next four years seems wholly likely, the president said. Then, in what appeared to be an assurance that he would not seek a fifth term but would "retire to the quiet of a private life," he added:

"In any event, new hands will then have full opportunity to realize the ideals which we seek."

Harry S. Truman, 10 years ago a political unknown, triumphantly captured the Democratic party's nomination for vice president.

The Missouri senator thus replaced Henry A. Wallace as the running mate for President Roosevelt's unprecedented fourth term bid. Wallace had led on the first ballot 429½ to 319½, but one after another, the state delegations swarmed behind Truman on the second.

The final official tabulation of the second ballot for vice presidential nominee at the Democratic national convention: Truman, 1,100; Wallace 66; Douglas, 4; Absent, 6; total, 1176.

Apparently epitomizing his own personal platform for the battle to keep Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York out of the White House, Mr. Roosevelt outlined a three-point worldwide job for 1944:

"First, to win the war—to win it fast, to win it overpoweringly.

"Second, to form worldwide international organizations, and to arrange to use the armed forces of the sovereign nations of the world to make another war impossible within the foreseeable future.

"Third, to build an economy for our returning veterans and for all Americans—which will provide employment and decent standards of living."

EMERGENCY FARM HELP IS ARRANGED FOR IN T. R. FALLS

Expect 100 Men to be Available for Part-time Work by Week-end

That 100 Thief River Falls men will be available by the end of the week for emergency part-time harvest work was revealed in a survey made this week by Charles Richards, emergency farm help assistant in the office of County Agent Ernest Palmer, who stated that applications are being received at the local U. S. employment office.

At a meeting of a representative group of farmers called Saturday night by Mr. Palmer, a wage scale of 75 cents per hour was set for good workers in emergency part-time harvest jobs. In 1943 the rate was fixed at 60 per hour.

The Civic and Commerce association agriculture committee, meeting last Thursday afternoon, recommended that local business places, wherever possible, release their men workers at 3 o'clock in the afternoon during the harvest season.

EDUCATION BOARD ASKS FOR VOTE ON GARAGE BUILDING

Order Election August 7 to Vote on New $10,000 Project

At a special meeting Tuesday evening, the local board of education took action to call a special election in School District 18 to be held Monday evening, August 7, between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock.

At that time voters of the district will be asked to express themselves on the question of giving the school board authority to spend not more than $10,000 from the general fund for the construction of a garage to house the school buses.

The building, which would be of tile construction and 36 by 80 feet in dimensions, would be located immediately south of the industrial arts building. While necessary priorities have not yet been arranged for, few critical materials are involved in the project.

Members of the board pointed out that local garages have insufficient capacity to meet the storage needs of commercial operators, and it is anticipated that the saving in rentals and other present outlays would pay for the structure in approximately six years. The building would provide space to be used for handling repair work on the buses, and a gasoline pump also would be installed.

At its meeting the board also engaged A. J. Linden, public accountant, to audit the school district books for the past year.

COUNTY'S BUDGET LITTLE CHANGED FOR COMING YEAR

Board on Thursday Approves Pennington Tax Levy of $168,634

The Pennington county board, before concluding its semi-annual July session last Thursday, adopted a budget totaling $168,634 for the coming year, virtually the same total as in 1943, which involved a tax levy of 47.70 mills.

The mill rate for the current year will not be definitely established until all valuations are entered on the books, but the board anticipates the rate to be fractionally lower than a year ago. The only changes made in the budget were an increase in the levy for county revenue and for bond retirement and interest, and a corresponding cut in the levy for sanatorium purposes.

	1943	1944
Co. Revenue	$ 36,168	$38,800
Road & Bridge	35,355	35,355
Co. Welfare	40,370	40,370
Bonds & Int.	45,961	48,013

Huge Stage Spectacle and Circus Acts on Grandstand Show

22 RIDES OFFERED ON COUNTY FAIR MIDWAY

Tuesday, August 1, Entry Day; Fair to Continue thru Friday Night

The 43rd annual Pennington county fair, biggest event of its kind in Northwestern Minnesota, will open in Thief River Falls Wednesday, August 2, and will continue thru Friday night, August 4. Tuesday, Aug. 1, has been designated as entry day for exhibitors.

Due to the fact that the busy harvest season is at hand in the rural areas, the evening programs are being stressed at the 1944 exposition, it was announced by A. F. Berge, secretary of the fair board. He added, however, that a grandstand show made up of vaudeville and circus acts will be presented each afternoon, with an adult grandstand admission fee of 30 cents.

"Allies Victorious", spectacular Barnes & Carruthers production, will be presented in front of the grandstand each evening, together with a varied group of top-notch specialty acts. Hal Maxwell will officiate as master of ceremonies, with Marion Huebner, soprano, as principal vocalist.

Other numbers on the program will include Gautier's Steeplechase, pony act; Archie, with Hank Sieman, ventriloquist; the Singing Commandos, male octet; Mell Hall, bicycle and unicycle artist; Ben Dova, comedian; Pacaud Trio, comedy dancers; Latoscas, performer on the bounding rope; and the Canestrelli Troupe, aerialists.

A spectacular display of fireworks will be presented each evening at the conclusion of the grandstand performance.

The Cavalcade of Amusements, on the midway, will feature 22 rides of every description in addition to 15 stage shows, the most varied offering ever to show in Thief River Falls. The equipment, filling 25 railroad cars, is coming direct from the Aquatennial in Minneapolis, and will go on to the Montana state fair at Great Falls, as will the grandstand show.

The work of the 4-H clubs, stressing the part taken by rural boys and girls in the nation's war effort, will be emphasized in the exhibits at the fair this year, including showings of livestock and a variety of farm crops, as well as demonstrations, a style show Thursday night and the crowning of a 4-H style queen.

Superintendents of the various departments at the fair anticipate a representative showing of local products, while the women's building will be filled with displays of special interest to the fair sex.

Buildings at the fair have been repainted and renovated in preparation for the coming event, and the grounds are in excellent condition.

OKLEE MAN FACING CHARGE OF MURDER ENDS LIFE MONDAY

Osmund Torkelson, 40, Hangs Self in Crookston Jail, Authorities Say

Osmunn Torkelson, 40, Oklee, farm hand charged with the slaying of Knut Evje, 48, of Oklee hanged himself in the Crookston jail Monday night, the state crime bureau said Tuesday.

Eldon Rowe, chief of the state bureau of criminal apprehension, said Sheriff Torkel Knutson at Crookston notified him he found Torkelson dead in his cell.

Torkelson was arrested after Evje, a Red Lake county farmer, was fatally beaten July 4th. Sheriff Knutson said Torkelson had admitted beating Evje to death with a piece of lead pipe.

Sgt. Tom Lidstrom, who is stationed at an air field at Frederick, Okla., arrived Sunday to spend a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Lidstrom.

"Allies Victorious" to be Stage Offering at Co. Fair

Years of experience in developing entertainments for the great outdoors as well as the major theatres of the country were combined in developing "Allies Victorious", that will feature the Pennington county fair, in Thief River Falls August 2, 3 and 4.

Produced and presented by Barnes-Carruthers of Chicago, leaders in amusement field for almost half a century, this revue will combine the skill of the seasoned showman with the intelligence of those who have studied public reaction over the entire continent for years and years.

Embracing tuneful music, brilliant dancing, hilarious comedians, daring and skillful acrobats, and unusual collection of novelty numbers, this extravaganza will be offered on the largest outdoor stage ever seen here, backed with a pretentious scenic arrangement.

The program will open with a number dedicated to Scotland, "By the Bonnie Doon," with the never ending charm of the bagpipes whirling into the song of "The Hundred Pipers," woven into a medley with such favorites as "Loch Lomond" and "The Highland Fling" done in modern swingtime.

Then the tempo will change, and the dancing Sirenettes will spin into their intricate routines with kilts flying and toes twinkling.

Furnishing authentic and exciting background for the dancing in this number, as well as the production numbers, the famed Eight Commanders, assisted by Marion Huebner, prima donna of considerable fame in her own right, will sing appropriate numbers.

The scene will then change to old China for the presentation of "The Pageant of Old Peking," which will vividly depict the joy and splendor of China's age old "Festival of the Moon."

And from Old China the action turns to what may be termed any old street that has a lamppost for the "Parade of the Pink Elephants," hailed as the most unique comedy revue ever presented on any stage. It serves to introduce Ben Dova, the internationally famous comedian who added to his fame by leaping from the blazing Graf Zeppelin in Lakehurst, N. J. in 1937 to preserve his life. Ben Dova came to "Allies Victorious" direct from a feature role in Olsen and Johnson's "Hellzapoppin."

Changing the tempo of the program, the next production number will depict an autumn scene. The huge dancing chorus, headed by the Sirenettes descend the huge circular pathway in a riot of autumnal colors. The girls will be wearing gorgeous head-dresses enhanced by long, fluttering streamers and when the ballet takes over on the stage level, these streamers will be utilized in a novel modern presentation of Faust's dance.

Featured here will be the outstanding adagio dancers, the Myrtle Duo, gifted artists who will display their great versatility with a presentation entirely different than the sensational routines offered in the China number.

In addition to these revue numbers, novelty surprises in the act portion of the program will be presented by the Pacaud Trio, comedy dance sensation, in a routine of eccentric terpichorean novelty dancing.

Early Farming

In the days when armies lived by foraging, the farmer plowed his fields with horses and mules. He planted the seed by hand. From dawn to dusk his work was done by the sweat of his brow and when the day of toil was over he wended his way home where a tired wife prepared his dinner. The farmer's wife was also working from daybreak to long after dark. She had to carry water from wells to her home, cook with wood or coal, do the washing and a hundred other things. The farmer also had too carry water to the barns for his livestock.

Shortage of Fuel Oil and Coal in Prospect

Fill your coal bins now. Fill your fuel oil tanks now. Don't wait until the first snow flies. That's the advice of the coal and fuel oil industries for summer action. In addition to actual shortages of these fuels, the supply of labor is so limited that suppliers will not be able to fill rush orders when the first frost hits. Lack of transportation is another factor adding to the fuel problem. Tank cars and gondolas are used for shipping war materials.

Precious Junk

"What a little junk collector!" laments many a mother as she goes through her Danny's pockets before she puts his trousers in the wash. And what an assortment—keys, coins, slugs, stones, cigar bands, pencil stubs, old rings, and other gadgets.

To look at Danny's drawer, you would think he had no sense of order or arrangement. A hundred and one articles fill the drawer helter-skelter. If you even suggest cleaning his dresser or desk, he defends as precious to him every item down even to the broken glass.

Danny has reached what has been called the "crow age," which may begin as early as 8 years, and reaches a peak at about 11 years. If you could get a look at a crow's nest, you would find it lined with a curious assortment of bright shiny objects — colored glass, pieces of tin, colored thread, and the like. The crow has a weakness for fragments of any highly colored material.

"But Danny's collection is neither attractive nor useful," you object.

True, but it does serve some very useful purposes in his life. The strong urge for collecting is a kin to the adult's desire to provide for his family. It is the germ out of which interest in property and responsibility to family arises. Interference with the expression of this impulse may stunt a valuable phase of development.

Interest in a particular type of article collected may become so great that it will become a lifelong hobby, or begin a vocational interest that will furnish him employment. As the interest develops and becomes specific, the need for order and arrangement will arise. Skill, knowledge, and even orderly habits may emerge of this unsightly drawerful.

In any event, both the process of collecting and the items he collects give him information and increase his knowledge of the world.

To Danny, the miscellaneous collection is precious. It is a part of him. Help him provide a place safekeeping if he asks for it. Do not destroy any part of it without consulting him. Above all, have a soft spot in your heart for your Danny's "junk."

RATION BOARD TO SPONSOR BOOTH AT THE COUNTY FAIR

Price Department Specialist from Fargo to Answer Questions

Among the exhibits in the woman's building at the Pennington county fair August 2, 3 and 4, will be a booth sponsored by the local OPA war price and rationing board, with Mrs. Basil Westacott in charge, assisted by members of the price panel.

A price department specialist from Fargo will be present all day next Thursday, August 3, to answer questions dealing with the operation of the OPA in general, and price control in particular.

There also will be a question box, and the queries will be sent to Fargo to be answered on the weekly radio program, "Your Home and the OPA".

Left to mourn are five daughters and one son, Mrs. Ella Kindern, Mrs. Hilda Box, Miss Amanda Halvorson, all of Minneapolis, Mrs. Ethel Olson, Miss Esther Halvorson, and Arthur Halvorson of Trail; three sisters and three brothers. She was preceded in death by her husband and a son.

Guadalcanal Rain

U. S. Marine Corps Photo

Guadalcanal, scene of the first United Nation offensive operation against Japan, has two seasons—the rainy season, between November and May, and the wet season. "White men leave and natives die" during the rainy season, according to natives. Above is a typical Guadalcanal scene during the rainy season. One Marine reports that every time he crawls into his "sack" (bed) he gets seasick.

Certificates Required in Used Car Transfers

Used automobile purchasers were reminded today by Waldie Christensen, chairman of the local war price and rationing board, that OPA "certificates of transfer" must be completely and accurately filled out and filed with the local board on or before the date the buyer applies to the board for a gasoline ration. To protect themselves from over-charges, he urged all used car buyers to fill out the blanks completely, showing the facts about make of car, model, year, body type, extra equipment, and price paid. OPA is requiring presentation of this certificate to prevent sales of automobiles at prices higher than ceilings, the board chairman said.

EXTRA FOOD RATIONS FOR FARM HELP ALLOWED

Effective July 26, farmers may receive additional allotments of rationed foods for feeding temporary farm help hired for 60 days or less by applying at their local war price and rationing boards. For seasonal workers hired for over 60 days, the farm or ranch owner must continue to collect ration points from the worker.

Greeks Dive for Sponges

Sponge diving was practiced by the ancient Greeks. Divers of the Dodecanese islands in the Aegean sea still operate without diving suits. They can withstand the pressures at depths of more than 200 feet. They sometimes stay down for five minutes, and may be unconscious when hauled up.

Eyes Adjusted Under Various Seeing Conditions

Although everyone uses his eyes constantly from birth, it is surprising how many persons fail to observe how they work under different conditions of seeing. This is strikingly shown by the lack of many persons in observing the behavior of their eyes in shifting gear from daylight to night vision. Probably everyone at some time or other has sat down and watched the setting sun, the approach of twilight and the falling of the "shades of night." But ask any of your friends what colors first fade from the landscape and you will find that few will be able to answer correctly. Fewer still will be able to tell you why the reds first disappear, turning gray, followed by the greens and the violets. Finally all colors appear gray, which gives rise to a very old saying—"All cats at night are gray."

In daylight the cones chiefly are relied upon for seeing. They function effectively only under illuminations brighter than moonlight. Cone vision perceives colors sharply. However, in dim light the eyes shift gears and depend chiefly upon the rods in the retina of the eye, which distinguish only between light and shadow. It is believed that there are three kinds of cones in the retina, and that those that perceive colors near the red end of the spectrum are thrown out of gear first as the light diminishes.

Brazil Begins Production Of Quinine Tablets

Brazil has begun manufacture for the first time of quinine, which was formerly imported chiefly from the Far East. The first tablets of quinine made in Brazil were presented to President Getulio Vargas at the government palace by the directors of the Brazilian Quinine company of Sao Paulo. In 1940 Brazil's imports of quinine were valued at $230,000.

Cultivation of the cinchona, from which quinine is obtained, began in Brazil in 1938 when the United States department of agriculture presented Brazil with 1,000 seedlings of the cinchona, imported from the Far East. Some of the seedlings perished after arriving in Rio de Janeiro, but others delivered to the Agronomical Institute of Compinas, in the state of Sao Paulo, developed well. At that time the government of the state of Sao Paulo appropriated funds to finance initial operations in connection with acclimatizing the first-grade quinine.

In 1939, a United States botanist presented Brazil with 1,000 seeds of another variety of cinchona—cinchona calisaya—and nurseries were established in Tijuca in the federal district.

Play-by-Play

No mention has ever reached the public prints of an unidentified navy pilot who delivered a play-by-play account of the battle for Tarawa.

There were some luckless marines on transports who were never called on to go ashore. The majority of the sailors on the ships engaged in the operation never left their stations. They would have had to be satisfied with reading about the battle if it hadn't been for Tony and Harry.

Tony was the pilot of a scout-observation seaplane that flew back and forth, back and forth, all during the battle, over Betio island and the reefs surrounding it. Harry was stationed aboard the flagship of the task force. Via two-way radio, Tony helped direct naval gunfire and aerial bombing and also relayed the latest developments in the attack. Quite incidentally, he and Harry kept scores of frustrated, curious marines and bluejackets informed as to the progress of the fighting.

Carry Nation

Carry Nation (1846-1911), temperance agitator, came into prominence in Kansas in 1900 as hatchet woman for the prohibitionists. Supported by "visions" she toured the saloons, swinging her identifying hatchet at random, wrecking bottles, bars, furniture or whatever came into her path. She was imprisoned several times in her career and was target of many violent physical attacks by her enemies. She made lecture tours and published temperance literature, but kept little of her earnings, being easy prey for swindlers. A tour of the British isles in 1908 was antagonistically received. On her return to this country feebleness forced her retirement and she died in a Leavenworth hospital. Her friends erected a monument inscribed, "She hath done what she could."

White Man Much Crazy

Two pictures, one showing a dilapidated house, the other a field badly washed out, were printed in the Oklahoma Farmer - Stockman, which offered prizes for the best essays suggested by the pictures. First prize went to a Cherokee Indian who wrote: Both pictures show white man crazy. Make big tepee. Plow hill. Water wash. Wind blow soil, grass all gone. Squaw gone, papoose too. No chuckaway. No pig, no corn, no hay, no cow, no pony. Indian no plow land. Keep grass. Buffalo eat. Indian eat buffalo. Hide make tepee, moccasins, too. Indian no make terrace. No build dam. No give a damn. All time eat. No hunt job. No hitch-hike. No ask relief. Great Spirit make grass. Indian no waste anything. White man much crazy.—Reader's Digest.

Slip Covers Economical

Slip covers are used to protect new upholstery or to conceal old, to serve as the only cover of a chair, and to add a decorative note to the room. The most frequent use is to hide a worn and faded permanent cover; a slip cover is usually less expensive than new upholstery.

The tent meetings sponsored by the Union Gospel Tent Mission of Thief River Falls, opened Sunday afternoon with a large attendance. There was congregational and choir and other special singing and Pastor J. O. Jacobsen brought the keynote message on "The Accepted Time."

Pastor E. F. Rabine spoke at the night service to a large audience. L. W. Lindholm, committee chairman, said that people in Thief River Falls and vicinity have revealed much interest in these services.

Evangelist Oscar C. Knutson of Windom, Minn., speaks this week and during afternoon and evening meetings next Sunday at 2:30 and 8 o'clock Mr. Lindholm invites the public to hear Mr. Knutson.

Joyce Brodin, Mrs. V. McMahon and Ruth Turnwall have been named a committee to arrange for services for children. The first meeting is scheduled in the tent next Tuesday evening, 6:45 o'clock.

Rudolph Larson, Alvarado pastor, is scheduled to continue the tent meetings next Tuesday, concluding his ministry here, August 6.

Wash Eyes

If the doctor orders the baby's eyes washed as a treatment for some abnormal condition, it should be done with a pledget of cotton dipped in boiled, then cooled, water. A clean pledget should be used for each eye, washing from the corner nearest the nose outward.

Will Note Anniversary of Valley Mission Assn.

Services to observe the founding of the Red River Valley Mission association, which was organised January 27, 1895, are scheduled for next Sunday morning and afternoon in the Covenant Bible camp at Warren. Although the association now is dissolved and the Red River Valley district of Mission Covenant churches now form a part of the larger Northwestern Mission association, many Red River Valley people who were part of this district's mission society are expected to be present next Sunday.

Midland Cooperative Buys Wisconsin Village

The unincorporated village of Burkhardt, Wisc., on the Willow river about 35 miles east of Minneapolis, has been purchased by Midland Cooperative Wholesale, Minneapolis, for development into a model cooperative community, it was announced this week. The purchase was made from the Burkhardt Milling & Electric Power Co. for around $25,000. The cooperative had bought the Burkhardt mill and elevator properties for production of mixed feeds a year ago. Most of the residents of the village will be employees of the feed mill. It is planned to start other business services needed by the community on a cooperative basis, to use the farm land as a trial and proving grounds for fertilizer, seed, and farm machinery, and to hold various cooperative conferences, training schools, picnics and other outings there.

Junior Chamber Bond Team in Best Showing

The Fifth War Loan Drive will come to an official close on Tuesday, July 31, Paul A. Lundgren, county war bond chairman, stated today. During the past week a considerable amount of E bonds have been purchased, which, now according to state tabulations, has placed Pennington County in third position in the state with 113%. Mille Lacs County is first with 118%. In percentage of total quota, Pennington County is 25th in the state with 125%. Wadena holds first place in the state with 154%.

Andrew Anderson, chairman for the city of Thief River Falls, this week filed his report on the results of the solicitation by the various civic and fraternal organizations who had charge with solicitation of bond purchases during the drive.

According to this tabulation the Junior Chamber of Commerce wins top honors with a total assigned to this organization of $21,543.75, securing pledges of $31,556.25. Norman Peterson was chairman of the team.

The Masonic Lodge, under the captaincy of former mayor Harry Kinghorn, was second. Since it was largely through the efforts of these organizations that the City of Thief River Falls made the fine showing that it did in the drive, we give below the results of Andrew Anderson's tabulations.

	Quota	Pledges

N. W. CONSERVATION CLUBS HOLD MEETING HERE MONDAY NIGHT

up conservation committees to plan for post-war projects in this field, and to submit them to the state department.

Mr. Wilson expressed regret at the death Sunday of William F. Munch of Crookston, veteran game warden, saying that he had led the campaign for conservation in the days when the going was mighty tough.

A communication was read from Dr. Edward Bratrud urging that the Roseau lake and Greenbush bog area be taken over by the state as a public duck shooting ground, pointing out that the area has little present value for other purposes.

Officers elected following a report by the nominating committee included Vern M. Healy, Red Lake Falls, president; Oscar Schenkey, Middle River, vice president; and Lloyd Smith, Red Lake Falls, secretary-treasurer.

Adopted at the meeting was a series of more than a dozen resolutions submitted by a committee including W. F. Zauche, Baudette, chairman; C. Herb Jung and V. M. Healy. They recommended no open season on Hungarian partridge, ruffed grouse and sharptailed grouse; that efforts be continued to halt pollution of the Rainy river; that the Beltrami Island project be included in post-war plans of the conservation department; commended the department as operated under Mr. Wilson; endorsed the Roseau lake and Greenbush bog area as a public shooting grounds; recommended a committee of three association members to plan for post-war projects in this area; and resolutions expressing regret at the death of William F. Munch of Crookston.

At the close of the meeting, a bounteous Dutch lunch was served by the local sportsmen's club under the direction of Harold Olson.

East Side Defeats West 2-1 in Diamondball Tilt Played Sunday Evening

Pitcher Bill Gray tallied a run in the 7th inning, breaking a 1-all tie and giving the East Side a 2 to 1 win over the West Side in a diamondball game played Sunday evening as one of the features of the water carnival. Wally DuChamp's single and Woody Almquist's double gave the East Side a run in the opening inning; but the West Side, in their half of the 1st frame, tied the score when Bill McKechnie, after walking, scored on singles by Gordy Iverson, Clarence Bergland and Bob Baker.

For the winners, Bill Gray pitched and Ray Johnson caught; while Blackie Stephens tossed for the West Side, with Herb Claffy catching.

The Summary:

In the period following the war the government will continue to dole out large sums of money to maintain a huge public works program, in order that the national income will be maintained at a level that will enable the government to collect sufficient taxes to pay interest charges on the steadily increasing national debt, besides providing generously for the returning soldiers, as well as continue to maintain the dizzy New Deal program for which sufficient taxes never have been collected. At one and the same time all the promises-to-pay that have been issued to finance the war and Santa Claus in the past will be redeemed with a smile. Smart looking men tell us this is all as it should be. Not only that, but these smart looking men tell us taxes should be reduced when the war is over. Lower taxes is the answer to all our problems. Frankly this is all a little confusing to us. Everything we have learned from the text books and from our fathers must be wrong. We do not understand the new arithmetic. But the smart looking boys must be right. We would of course be happy to apply these new principles to our personal affairs—forever borrowing, liberally spending and never paying—but the stupid banker we do business with still has old fashioned ideas, especially when our note comes due.

Harvesting, now well under way, is the earliest of any we can remember in this territory, and, barring damage by destructive storms, this year's crop will be one of the best ever produced. It isn't strange then that farmers are now anxious to get the harvest completed successfully. Faced with an acute labor shortage, that is not going to be an easy problem for many of our farmers. The need for workers is very great and all who can should volunteer to put in spare time in the harvest fields.

By the middle of next week you will need a few hours of relaxation. You can travel a long distance away from your troubles in a short time by renting a seat in the grandstand at the county fair's night show.

Reports from Germany this past week have indicated that things are not going well on the home front in that country. Following the attempted assassination of Hitler, verified by the Germans themselves, there have been many rumors of internal disorder. Because of the strict censorship imposed by those still in authority it is not possible to get the facts but there is sufficient information to justify the hope that the situation is serious. So far the revolt seems to be within the military machine itself, largely among a few of the leaders of that machine. A quick purge has liquidated some of these leaders but it is reasonable to assume that others are still at large, some of them in high places. The next internal explosion probably will result in a more general upheaval and then the end is not likely to be far away.

A year ago we would have written off as extremely unlikely any suggestion that Guam would be in our possession again by this time. The war in the Pacific has taken a most gratifying turn in these twelve months and the Nips are now faced with the problem of defending themselves in their home skies. And both on the sea and in the air we seem to have a decided advantage. When it comes to defending themselves on land the Japs have proven themselves to be tough customers but on the water and in the air, where equipment is a more important factor, they have so far given us little trouble. The idea of pushing through to the Chinese coast does not sound nearly so fantastic now as it did when the suggestion was first made.

President Roosevelt travelled across the country last week to make his acceptance speech in a setting of warships. The purpose, presumably, was to emphasize the idea that he is running for re-election as commander in chief rather than as president. In this campaign he is going to present himself in the role of the master military mind and instead of fireside chats between now and election day we may be given our inspiration in the form of communiques direct from foxholes dug in the White House lawn.

Pennington County's fair doesn't start officially until Wednesday of next week but Tuesday will be entry day and so in reality we will have a four day fair again this year. The only difference will be three night shows instead of four.

Soldiers serving in the far corners of the world should get their applications for ballots in early if they wish to vote in the general election next fall. Immediate relatives can make application for them, in which case there still is plenty of time.

RED CROSS NEWS NOTES

By Mrs. Millard Peterson
Publicity Chairman

There were 2,524 surgical dressings made from Tuesday afternoon of last week through Monday evening of this week, making a total of 5,257 dressings made since we started our new quota. This amount is only half of what our goal should be if we intend to finish in five more weeks. Goodridge and Highlanding have also finished their allotment, which makes the city of Thief River Falls the last on the list. The number made for each day is as follows: Tuesday 667, Wednesday 364, Thursday 613, Monday afternoon, 580 and Monday evening 400. Nine workers Monday evening averaged 45 four by eights apiece. One lady, Mrs. Martin Alby has come out the last eight days and has in that time put in 27 hours. If we had more workers like Mrs. Alby and each of them came each day for two weeks, fifty ladies could finish the job and the work wouldn't be dragged out for the rest of the period. Congratulations, Mrs. Alby.

Since next Thursday, August 3rd will be Thief River Falls day at the County Fair, the work room will not be open that afternoon, but will be open Monday afternoon and evening and Tuesday and Wednesday.

Have you noticed the Red Cross display in the window of the Northern State Bank Building? This display shows the use that the doctors and nurses are making of our dressings and masks in caring for the wounded in Italy. The photographs have been put on display by Mrs. L. W. Rulien, surgical dressings chairman.

Quentin Jones, Red Cross instructor has announced more swimmers taking active part in the course offered at Tindolph bathing beach. The beginners' list now includes: Marlys Rinkel, Barbara Wangenstein, Lester Sabo, Marlys Thom, Stanford Rosengren, Howard Patten, Glenice Jorde, Gwen Higgenbotham, Larry Lee Gilbertson, Kathryn Flom, Phylis Carlson, Jackie Haugen, Barbara Bjorkman, Glen Bessler, Jean Beadle, Henry Archambault; Intermediate: Harold Baker, James Arras, Ralph Mundt, Jack LaSalle, Virginia Grindeland. Swimmers: Arnold Narverud, Beatta Mattson, Harriet Mullen, Robert C. Olson.

Goodridge ladies must be commended for the work that they have turned out in such a short time. Here is a report made out by Mrs. K. L. Peterson of Goodridge, who is chairman of the group:

Goodridge turned in 2700 surgical dressing made during July. Work started July 6, 569 dressings; July 12, 460; July 13, 504; July 19, 528, and July 20, 639.

Goodridge has only seven active workers now, and four instructors. The combined hours put in by the instructors since work first began total 1048. Some of the high ladies in Goodridge are: Mrs. Owen Olson, 218 hours; Mrs. J. A. McEnelly, 175; Mrs. C. M. Olson, 161; Mrs. C. Christianson, 123; and Mrs. T. Belland, 115.

The ladies from Highlanding have been very good to come in and help us this spring and summer. Their hours total 233. The ladies from the Reiner church east of Goodridge have also been helping this summer, with a total of 61 hours. They really enjoy the afternoons spent at the surgical dressing room; to them it isn't work, but an opportunity to get together and to relax from their daily labors, while doing something of vital importance to our boys "over there."

Some of the mothers have had to leave their small children with friends while they are away. One day Mrs. Clarence Gromley cared for eight small children while their mothers made dressings. Another worker brought along two boys, who played outside while she worked.

We appreciate the help our farm women have given us, for often it has been necessary for them to leave work undone at home so they could do their bit for our service men. Some of the ladies live ten and twelve miles from Goodridge, but because of gas and tire rationing, they pool their cars and take turns in bringing the workers.

Guard Against Effects

As in all communicable diseases, much of the danger of the cold lies in its possible after effects. The best treatment is to go to bed when the symptoms first appear. Keep the room comfortably cool. Drink plenty of water and fruit juices. Eat lightly. Sleep as much as possible.

Dynamite in Mining

It takes a ton of dynamite to produce the surface material for each mile of 18-foot highway. To mine the metal used in just a single light-model 1942 automobile required a pound, and millions of pounds go each year into prospecting for new petroleum sources and increasing the flow in old ones.

STILL A WAYS OFF

A lecturer told his audience that the world would probably end in seven billion years.

"How long did you say?" came a terrified voice from the rear.

"Seven billion years," the lecturer repeated firmly.

"Thank God!" said the voice. "I thought for a moment you had said seven million!"

Smart Fellow

Stranger—Here, let me help you up the hill with that wagon. The fellow who sent you out with that should have known it was too heavy for you.

Delivery Boy—He did! But he said: "Go on. You're sure to find some old fool who'll help you."

Reverse Twist

He—How about having dinner with me?

She—I'd like to.

He—Okay. Tell your mother I'll be over at six, and I like steak.

Example No. 1

Joe—You talk about controlling your temper. I bet you don't know of anyone who hasn't spoken a few hasty words.

Bill—W-w-why c-c-c-certainly I-I do!

OLD, BUT RATIONED

Waiter—Tea or coffee?

Diner—Coffee without cream.

Waiter—I'm sorry, sir, but you'll have to take it without milk. We don't have any cream any more.

Fiddle Dee Dee

Harry—I'm going to give you this violin.

Jerry—An out and out gift?

Harry—Yes, no strings on it!

Sober as a Judge!

Lawyer—Why don't you take a drink, Judge? Try a whisky and soda?

Judge—No thanks! I've tried too many who have!

Hash?

Customer—Waiter! Waiter!

Waiter—Yes, sir.

Customer—Has this been eaten? Or am I supposed to eat it?

Bright Boy

Prof.—What is the difference between electricity and lightning?

Stude—We don't have to pay for lightning.

Way Back to Bach!

Nit—So that's written by Bach. What's he composing now?

Not Guilty!

Judge—It seems to me you've been coming before me for the past ten years!

Habitual—Can I help it, Judge, if you don't get promoted?

Plumbing Material

Cast iron has been used for the production of enameled cast iron fixtures such as sinks, bathtubs, and lavatories because the experience of the industry since 1870 indicates that cast iron has the characteristics of rigidity and fusion with enamel which make it particularly suitable for fixtures exposed to the rigors of daily use.

Card of Thanks

With deepest gratitude we extend this word of thanks for the kind acts of sympathy expressed during the death of our father and grandfather, Asmus Paulsen. Especially do we thank Rev. V. E. Schroeder for his words of comfort, the singers and organist, the pallbearers and those who presented floral offerings and donations for a marker. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bornholdt, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lee and Shirley Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Holt and Patty, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Scruggs, Pfcs. Derald and Donald Bornholdt. 30p

Dr. Francis E. Townsend says—My faith has never wavered. I knew that the Townsendites could do it. A lot of people who used to laugh at us will find themselves laughing out of the other side of their mouths when they wake up some morning this fall and find the Townsend plan, that "crazy" old Townsend plan, has actually become a law of the land. It is all right for us to congratulate ourselves, but let us not forget to thank that divine power which has watched over us and guided us through the years. Without that backing, no cause wins. Townsendites have had it because throughout the years of slander and ridicule they have stayed humble and unselfishly worked for the good of the whole citizenry. 33p

PHIL OLSON, GRAND FORKS, WINNER OF SHORTSTOP EVENT

84 Northwest Golfers Share in 8th Annual Tourney Here Sunday

In an extra-hole finals match, Phil Olson of Grand Forks defeated Bill Larson, also of Grand Forks, to win the eighth annual shortstop golf tournament played over the local links Sunday. Eighty-four golfers, with Grand Forks providing a contingent of twenty-one, participated in the tourney, which was one of the most successful ever held here.

To reach the championship finals, Phil Olson defeated Morris Johnson in a first round match, eliminated Stan Larson in the quarter-finals, and defeated the defending champion Harry Peterson in the semi-finals. Bill Larson earned his finals position by defeating Lloyd Bennes in a first round match, winning over Dr. Homer Hedemark in the second round, and upsetting Ted Waldon in the semi-finals.

In the finals, Olson shot a birdie to win the 1st hole, and went 2-up when Larson took a 5 on the second hole. Both golfers had a birdie on the 3rd hole, and each had a 4 on the par-3 fourth hole. Larson fired a birdie 4 on the fifth hole, and dropped a long putt for a birdie 3 on the seventh to even the match. Larson's tee shot was on the green on the eighth hole, and his birdie three won the hole and gave him a 1-up lead.

On the 152-yard ninth hole, both tee shots were on the green, Olson being 15 feet away and Larson about 13 feet from the pin. Larson's putt rolled past the cup about three feet, and when he missed the putt and took a 4, Olson's par 3 won the hole and evened the match.

On the 10th hole, a par-5, Phil and Bill were on the green in three, with Olson being five feet from the cup and Larson thirty feet from the pin. Larson's putt just missed the cup for a birdie, and when Olson dropped his putt the match was over.

In the championship flight consolation finals, young Paul Bridston of Grand Forks, after defeating Dr. Hedemark 1-up in an extra-hole semi-finals match, scored a 2 and 1 win over Stan Larson.

In a ding-dong first flight finals match, Lloyd Bennes and Don Fladeland of Grand Forks trudged around the course for 14 holes, five extra holes, before Bennes scored a 1-up win. Crookston's Dick Fisher edged out Cliff Sawyer for the first flight consolation.

Other flight finals results:
Second flight: Herb Weinecke, Grand Forks, defeated sun-tanned Fred O'Neill, Grand Forks. Consolation: Col. G. W. C. Whiting defeated Paul Vasler.

MOORHEAD TAKES DISTRICT JUNIOR TITLE WEDNESDAY

Defeat T. R. Falls Juniors for Right to Play in State Event

The Moorhead Spuds won the district junior baseball title by defeating the locals, 5 to 4, in a closely played game on the Fair Grounds diamond here Wednesday evening. The win gives the Spuds the right to represent the district in the state junior legion tournament slated for St. Paul's Lexington Park in August.

An error on Bill Bates' ground ball, a double along the right field foul line by Curly Erickson, and a fielder's choice on Jess' ground ball, gave the Spuds two runs in the 2nd inning. The locals knotted the score in the last half of the 3rd inning when, with two men away, Virg Evenstad drew a walk, and then came all the way around the bases on Herb Claffy's hard double to left center, Virg crashing into catcher Marv Skaar and causing the Spud receiver to drop the ball. Johnny Powell's sharp hit to center field counted Claffy with the tying run.

Alan Thompson opened the locals' half of the 4th inning with a towering triple to left center, and scored on Bud Brossoit's long fly to center field, giving the locals the lead.

The Spuds moved in front in the 5th inning, tallying twice. Dean Atchison beat out a bunt along the third base line for a hit and after Lee had been called out on strikes, Jim McDonald singled through short, scoring Atchison who had stolen second base; and McDonald ambled around to third base on an overthrow at the plate. Bub Drury's ground ball plated McDonald with the Spuds fourth run of the game. The Spuds added their final marker in the 6th inning on Curly Erickson's single, his steal of second and third base, and scoring on Swede Lund's low throw to third base.

The locals threatened to overcome the Spud lead in the 7th and last inning. Brossoit drilled a single to right field to open the inning and Hovie, batting for Carlson, was safe when Moe Euren took his ground ball and tried to get Brossoit at second base, both runners being safe. Tunberg and Evenstad were strikeout victims, but Claffy clubbed out his second double, scoring Brossoit and bringing Hovie around to third base. Powell ended the inning by sending a high pop to first baseman Euren.

Virg Evenstad, on the mound for the locals, outpitched his chunky rival Bub Drury, holding the Spuds to four hits and striking out 12, while Drury was allowing five hits, including two doubles and a triple, and striking out 7.

Tournament Pivots

It would probably be more description of Sunday's shortstop tournament if, instead of saying that Phil Olson won the title, you'd say that Bill Larson lost the championship. Bill had the match won on the 9th green, holding a 1-up lead, having won the 8th hole, and with his tee shot on the carpet, all he needed was a half on the hole and the match would have been over. Bill had been putting well on the 7th and 8th greens, getting birdies on both holes, but he lost his touch on the 9th. Olson, also on the green with his tee shot, missed his long putt for a birdie, and everyone figured that Bill would roll his approach putt up to the cup for a cinch par, but Bill's ball overrolled the pin by about three feet. Bill missed that short putt for the par, and when Olson dropped his two foot putt the match was all even.

After the drama of that ninth hole, the extra hole, which Phil won with a birdie 4, was what is commonly termed anti-climatical.

Bennes Has Battle

Lloyd Bennes, who has been grumbling that he had never won a flight championship in any of the tournaments that he had entered, finally came through when he copped the first flight championship, but he had to go five extra holes and play until 8:10 in the evening before he was able to subdue his finals opponent, Don Fladeland.

The most sun-tanned golfer on the course Sunday was the Herald's Fred O'Neil. He had a tan that was almost black.

A youngster who's just about "there" as a top-flight golfer is Grand Forks' Paul Bridston. Paul, Joe Bridston's son, hit as long a ball as anyone in the tournament, and he won the championship flight consolation, defeating Stan Larson in the finals.

Incidentally, the Bill Larson that played in the finals against Phil Olson, is a brother of the local club's Stan Larson.

Red-haired Harry Peterson of Bemidji, last year's winner, was eliminated in the semi-finals, losing, 3 and 2, to Phil Olson. Harry still uses that unorthodox swing, but he's still straight down the middle and tough to beat.

The tournament committee and groundskeeper George Gall were receiving numerous compliments Sunday. The committee, on the dispatch with which the tournament was conducted, and George, on the fine condition of the course. And the committee, on its part, wishes to thank the membership for the manner in which it responded to the tournament, for the local turn-out, in spite of all the other activities around town on Sunday, was excellent.

River Fishing

Herman Dietz, fishing from the bridge north of town Monday evening, made a nice catch of northern pike. I drove by there just as Herman, who was casting a yellow daredevil-type spoon, caught his seventh northern. His string of pike contained one northern that must have weighed seven or eight pounds, and the others were around three and four pounds each. And Omer Belland, who does all of his fishing in the vicinity of the Eighth street bridge, has been catching quite a number of walleyed pike. Perhaps, now that the water is clearing, the river fishing will pick up?

New Champions

Until they are beaten in a challenge match, or if they are able to participate in next year's carnival, the Navy and the Marines, in the persons of Lt. (j.g.) Milt Hollister and Bill Gray, can claim the county's horseshoe pitching doubles title. Milt and Bill met Don and Frank Johnson in the finals Sunday afternoon at Tindolph Park, and the Johnson's lost.

Minto at Oslo

The local ball team travels to Oslo on Sunday for a game that is expected to furnish the toughest competition the boys have faced this year. The Minto team, reinforced by the presence of Oslo's Smokey and Bunty Robinson in their lineup, will be the opposition. And it is rumored that Smokey Robinson will be on the mound for the North Dakota nine. If Smokey has the "swift" that he once possessed, Wally DuChamp had better discard his big league batting stance and choke up on the bat, grabbing it about in the middle.

RATION POINTS ON BUTTER RESTORED TO SIXTEEN POINTS

New Order from OPA Became Effective as of Last Saturday

Price Administrator Chester Bowles Saturday ordered the ration value of creamery butter increased to 16 points a pound from 12 points, effective at midnight Saturday, July 22.

He said the hike was necessary because "more creamery butter is being bought with red stamps at the present time than has been allocated to civilians by the war food administration."

Farm and processed butter will continue at eight and four red points a pound, respectively.

Trade reports indicate, OPA stated, that civilian consumption is running as much as 20 per cent over the July allocation of 100,000,000 pounds.

The 12-point value had been in effect since last April 30. Previously, the ration value was 16 points.

The agency said the point hike was intended to bring consumer buying power in line with actual supplies and, by slowing down civilian consumption, to assist the armed services in obtaining their required supply.

OPA said continued purchases by civilians of butter in excess of allocation would have "seriously reduced the supplies in retailers' and wholesalers' hands needed to assure equitable distribution."

It added that on the basis of information supplied by WFA creamery butter production for the first seven months of this year is expected to total 988,700,000 pounds, compared with 1,150,000,000 in the corresponding period in 1943.

This 10.5 per cent decrease in production was attributed to dry weather and labor shortages in many dairy areas.

Pheasant Hunting and Deer Seasons Are Set

A 23-day state-wide pheasant season, from October 21 through November 12, and an eleven-day deer season opening November 15, were announced today by Chester S. Wilson, state commissioner of conservation.

The open and closed seasons for all upland game birds were announced at the same time and are based on the recommendations of game research biologists, sportsmen's clubs, and game wardens. Highlights of this year's regulations include closed seasons on all species of grouse and partridge and a reduction in the bag limit on pheasants from four to three a day, all of which must be cock birds. Another important change is the elimination of regular deer hunting in certain central portions of the state.

Wilson makes it clear that deer hunting in these areas last year has achieved its purpose in reducing the herds for the time being as to minimize the danger of damage. He adds that there are still many deer in that area, and that the natural increase in the deer population will quite probably make it necessary to permit hunting there, or even farther south, at some time in the future.

Bob-white quail may be taken from October 28 through November 12 with a bag limit of 10 birds per day and 15 in possession. The season on Hungarian Partridge will open October 21 and continue through October 27. Four birds per day may be taken with eight in possession.

Shooting laws for all upland game birds will be from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, the same as for migratory waterfowl.

Because ruffed-grouse have been reduced by a disease that occurs in cycles to the lowest recorded in the past ten years, the season on this game bird will be closed this fall. Censuses reveal that the pinnated-grouse and sharp-tailed grouses are still very low in numbers throughout most of their range. Hence no shooting of these species will be permitted this fall.

The areas of the state open to both quail and Hungarian Partridge shooting are exactly the same as 1943. Leaflets containing regulations as well as maps indicating the hunting territory for upland game birds and big game will be issued with each hunting license. The territory open to deer hunting this fall will be as follows: All that portion of the state lying north and east of the following highways: Commencing at East Grand Forks on U. S. H. 2, thence easterly on U. S. 2 to its intersection with U. S. H. 59 east of Erskine, thence southerly on U. S. H. 59 to its intersection with U. S. H. 10 at Detroit Lakes, thence southeasterly on U. S. H. 10 to its intersection with S. A. R. 3 at Anoka, thence easterly on S. A. R. 3 to its intersection with U. S. H. 8 at Lino, thence northeasterly on U. S. H. 8 to the Wisconsin-Minnesota boundary at Taylors Falls.

HARVEST LEGUME AND GRASS SEEDS IN 1944, AAA ASKS

New Program Is Announced to Relieve Critical Shortage

Announcing details of a newly expanded program to encourage the harvesting of legume and grass seeds this year, Charles W. Stickney, state chairman, agricultural Adjustment Agency, St. Paul, warns farmers that there is critical shortage of these seeds.

"Our domestic hay and pasture supply and soil conservation program cannot be maintained unless we harvest more seed," the state chairman has written Carl R. Anderson, chairman of the Pennington county AAA committee.

Recognizing the need for emergency action, Congress has provided a special fund of $12,500,000 to the Triple-A to stimulate harvesting of legume and grass seeds. Under the expanded program:

1. Harvesting of certain legume and grass seed becomes an "unlimited practice" in the AAA conservation program which means that cooperating farmers can obtain the regular AAA payment of $3.50 an acre for this practice on any number of acres harvested.

2. Additional special payments will be made by AAA of 3¼ cents a pound on red clover seed (cleaned basis) and 2¼ cents a pound on alfalfa and alsike clover seed (cleaned basis) for harvesting of these seed varieties.

There will be no restrictions on the total payments which can be earned by a farmer for harvesting legume and grass seed, Stickney explained. In the past, such payments could be earned only up to 25 acres. The AAA also has exempted such payments from the so-called "farm allowance" established by the county committee for each farm.

Red clover, alfalfa, and alsike clover have been chosen for the special poundage payments because of their extreme scarcity relative to our needs, Stickney stated. Other legume and grass seeds harvested in Minnesota for which the $3.50 per acre payment will be made are: sweet clover, bromegrass, Reed's canary grass, white clover, and wheat grasses.

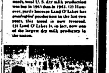
LAND O'LAKES NEWS
DRIED MILK
What Are Its Post-War Possibilities For Dairy Farmers?
ALL NORTHWEST DAIRY MEN should know—(1) Despite increased war needs, total U. S. dry milk production was less in 1943 than in 1942. (2) However, partly because Land O'Lakes has quadrupled production in the last two years, this trend is now reversed. (3) Land O'Lakes is, in fact, now one of the largest dry milk producers in the nation.



GROUPS OF CREAMERIES have planned, built dry milk plants like the one pictured above, have manufactured and are now marketing dry milk—aided in each step by Land O'Lakes experts. In some areas, these dry milk projects have added as much as 30% to the average milk check of dairy farmers!
SEVENTEEN such projects are now in operation. This new dairying development promises to be one of the most lucrative, sound, long range advances made by dairying since the quality improvement of butter.

PATROL ARRESTS MORE SPEEDERS IN STATE THIS YEAR

Total of 1881 Persons Are Taken Into Custody in Six Months

Whether there are more flagrant violations of the wartime speed limits, or whether state highway patrolmen have found it necessary to use sterner measures, is not state but the June report of Elden Rowe, chief patrol officer, shows more arrests and fewer warning tickets in the first half of 1944 than in the same months in 1943. Arrests for excessive speed totaled 1,881 in 1944 and 1,599 in the same months in 1943, while warning tickets for less serious speed violations were 1,538 this year and 1,966 in the same months last year.

Arrests for overweight loads nearly tripled, there being 800 this year, compared to 278 in the same months in 1944.

A step-up is also noted in arrests for failure to have a driver's license in possession. The report shows 184 arrests in 1944, compared to 147 arrests in the same months in 1943. Warning tickets for lack of a valid driver's license were given to 1,011 drivers in 1944 and 1,021 in the same months in 1943. The increase is partly due to the failure of some drivers to renew their licenses on or before their birthdays as required by the 1943 law. However, 96.5 per cent of the 44,000 drivers checked had valid drivers licenses in possession.

Arrests for most other causes showed decreases. There were 225 arrests for driving while under the influence of liquor, compared to 278 in the same months in 1943, and proportionate decreases in arrests for careless driving, going through stop signs, improper passing, improper equipment and improper registration. Arrests for all causes were 5,490 in the first half of 1944 and 5,908 in the same months in 1943. Fines imposed totaled $74,209, compared to $66,443 in the first half of 1943.

NOW FOR THE BIG PUSH!
IT'S "ZERO HOUR" ON THE HOME FRONT, TOO!

THIS IS IT. We are massing for the big push. The greatest battles in the history of the world call for the greatest war loans in the history of the world.

Every American on the home front is being called upon to invest every dollar he is not using for the bare necessities of life for the drive that will push Hitler and Tojo into oblivion. It means sacrifices, big sacrifices by all of us. Out of them will come great rewards. For these War Bonds you buy will, we hope, bring a better world for all of us. Each of us will have greater financial security than ever before. These are the reasons why each of us ought to buy more Bonds.

THYE LEADS HIS RIVAL IN EVERY COUNTY IN STATE

Incumbent's Total Vote Was 3.5 Times That of His Rival, Byron Allen

Friends of Governor Edward J. Thye could take satisfaction this week, the state canvassing board disclosed, that he had carried every county in the state over Byron G. Allen, nominated as his opponent on the newly formed Democratic-Farmer-Labor Party, by a vote that averaged 3.5 to 1 and rolled up in some cases to as much as 16 to 1.

Thye's total vote, the canvassing board found, was 201,832, while Allen's total was 56,950.

Governor Thye obtained an impressive vote in all counties and in many cases an unprecedented margin, the returns of the canvassing board showed. High in the ranks were Dodge county, where he got 1,382 votes to 86 for Allen, and Faribault county, where he received 1,231 to Allen's 79, indicating a victory of fully 16 to 1. He carried Cottonwood county, with 1,700 votes to 142 for Allen, and many others by lopsided totals.

Republican leaders generally were pleased with the returns but were not inclined to regard the primary vote as any final indication of the balloting in November. W. C. Christianson, Red Wing, who headed the volunteer committee conducting the campaign for Governor Thye's nomination, expressed gratification over the endorsement given the governor, but said a hard campaign will be needed to combat the efforts of the opposition.

Matches Prohibited in Parcels Going Overseas

Particular attention is called to the fact that matches are not only prohibited transmission in the mails to foreign countries, including Canada and Mexico, but also when addressed to any United States domestic destination where sea transit is involved and to Alaska overland, whether for civilians or members of the armed forces.

River Freight Traffic

The 6,000 miles of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and their tributaries that is navigable is proving invaluable to an America at war. Eighteen steel barges can travel from Pittsburgh to New Orleans, a matter of about 2,000 miles, with 18,000 tons of freight—and do it in 14 days. Four hundred and fifty freight cars would be required to carry this volume of freight.

Labor can be saved in meat and milk production if good pastures are available. The first steps in a pasture improvement plan are applications of lime and fertilizer. It is much better to improve a few acres each year than to wait until money is available for improving the total acreage.

GRIEVED MOTHER CAT ADOPTS BABY RABBITS

Fertile.—A mother cat on the Herman Ruther farm gave birth to five little roily-poly kittens the last of June. For a couple of days she was one of the happiest of mothers, caring for her babies. But a tom cat didn't approve of the family, apparently and took it upon himself to do away with all five of the babies, causing the mother cat much grief and misery. About the same time the kittens were born, a grey Chinchilla rabbit produced a litter of 15 bunnies for whom she seemed to have no concern. It didn't take the mamma cat too long to find the mother rabbit was a poor mother and she now proudly mothers the 15 baby rabbits.

"Mom and Pop and the Car..."

"George—they must be calling for Standard Oil Service."

After Mom became interested in the care of the family car, she discovered a real "lifesaver," one who is trained in wartime car-saving service. And now she knows she'll be able to keep rolling.

• • •

Any motorist—man or woman—can have the same expert help in keeping the car running right, running longer, and running farther on every gallon of gas. Just take it to a Standard Oil Dealer. He's a car lifesaver.

• • •

Remember, it's going to be a long time before you can replace your car. Don't neglect it.

• • •

Follow your Standard Oil Dealer's 3rd-War-Year Service Guide and keep your car at its best always.

Have a Coca-Cola = Viva!
(YEAH MAN!)

...or being the good neighbor in Brazil

Your American's good-natured invitation Have a "Coke" is a good-neighbor policy in three short words. It marks that brand of friendliness which our fighting men carry with them everywhere among our Allies. In many lands from Alaska to South America, Coca-Cola is spreading the custom of the pause that refreshes,—that refreshing moment devoted to just being friendly. Enjoy it at home, too, with frosty Coca-Cola from your own refrigerator.

Coca-Cola the global high-sign

SHORT AND SWEET

A certain man has an aptitude for after-dinner speaking. He has been heard at many important functions and has acquired a reputation for his eloquence and repartee.

At a recent dinner his wife was asked which after-dinner speech of his she preferred.

The lady looked up from the bouillon with a long-suffering expression. "I think the best after-dinner speech I ever heard him give," she sighed, "was this: 'Dear, I'll help with the dishes.'"

Covered Manure Deteriorates

Manure under cover in feeding sheds with concrete floors is safe from loss as long as cattle are still running on it, but after they are taken off, the loss of nitrogen will rapidly increase. This manure should be hauled out and plowed under as soon as possible, and not left in the shed where it can not help produce a crop.

Leathernecks

"Leathernecks" has its origin in the stiff leather stocks once worn by marines to accord protection from cutlass strokes. They also assured that heads were held erect—in proper military manner.

First Roads

Albania's first roads were built during World War I to facilitate Allied troop movements in the Balkans. This highway network was improved and expanded in the 20-year period of peace and independence before 1939. A report last year stated that 83 kilometers of an Italian-inspired railroad line had been completed. This railway was planned to start at Durazzo, principal port, wind inland to Tirana, the capital, then southeastward to mineral deposits in the interior.

Peanuts Have Many Uses

The peanut, long a leading crop in Alabama and the South, reaches the consumer in many widely different forms. In addition to their use as salted peanuts, in peanut candy and peanut butter, peanuts are valuable as a livestock feed, as a source of valuable oil and even for making into flour. The hulls also have many uses, such as fuel, in the manufacture of linoleum, in insulation materials, floor sweep compounds, paper board and dynamite.

Game and Fish Director Announces Open Seasons for Fur-bearing Animals

Verne E. Joslin, director of the state division of game and fish, today announced open seasons for certain Minnesota furbearers.

The state-wide mink season will open November 1, 1944 and continue through February 28, 1945. Skunk and badger may be taken between October 20, 1944 and March 1, 1945. Raccoon may be taken between November 1 and December 1 of this year. The seasons on all of these furbearers will be state-wide.

Because otter, fisher, and marten are either nearly extinct or very rare in this state, continued protection is necessary and no trapping of these species will be permitted during the coming season.

Surveys will be undertaken by the state game biologists to determine the status of beaver and muskrat and the decisions regarding the taking of these species will be announced at a later date.

Timber Crop Grows

SURE CURE

Doctor (to patient)—Just go to your druggist and ask him for some hydrosulphate of potassium iodide, anhydregenous glycol and some dioamirido - benzodrinilin. And I shouldn't be surprised if with those we shall be able to remedy your loss of memory.

Quiet Please!

Wifey—How about my fixing you a bromo-seltzer?

Long Lap Dog

Jones—But why did you buy a dachshund for your children?

Smith—I didn't want them to fight over him. Now they can all pet the dog at once.

'Fresh' Lobster!

Mrs.—I'm afraid that lobster is going to disagree with me.

Mr.—Don't worry, my dear. That's impossible. It wouldn't dare!

Famous Family

Harry—Did you ever hear of Enrico Caruso?

Jerry—No, but I knew his brother, Robinson Crusoe.

Fortunate Coincidence!

Voice on phone—I called to notify you that Mr. Jones' subscription to the paper has expired.

Mrs. Jones—So has Mr. Jones!

Universal Peace

STATE GETS FIRST '44 REQUESTS FOR HELP IN HARVEST

Over 11,500 Persons Placed on Farm Jobs During Month of June

Over 11,500 workers were placed on farm jobs during June, as compared with 3,450 in May, Paul E. Miller, state director for the Agricultural Extension Service, said this week.

This activity, Miller said, represents the beginning of the heavy demand for workers for the 1944 harvest in Minnesota.

The heaviest manpower demand for farm help was in the Albert Lea, Austin, and Hollendale areas, where large vegetable crops are now being hand-weeded and cultivated.

Miller also reported a substantial increased demand in Mankato, Moorhead, and Owatonna areas for workers to harvest commercial vegetables. Some 200 nursery workers were placed by the Owatonna office of the U. S. Employment Service, which co-operates with the Extension Service in the recruitment of farm help.

While these farm placements were being made, Dreng Bjornaraa, state director for the War Manpower Commission, said that USES offices had placed 19,464 industrial workers in Minnesota last month. This is an increase of 58 per cent over May, when 12,690 were placed.

In addition, Bjornaraa said, 2,163 Minnesota workers were placed in jobs outside the state, the majority going to top priority military projects on the West Coast, on Civil Service jobs, and with construction work in Alaska and the Aleutians.

Sources of Tapioca

Some tapioca is imported from South America and the Dominican Republic, but the amount is small compared to former importations from the Netherlands Indies. Very limited amounts of waxy grain sorghums and of waxy corn are being milled this year as a substitute.

Cellulose Common

3 Retired Engineers on Soo Honored Saturday

Three Soo Line locomotive engineers, Wm. Smithers, Harry W. Kinghorn and Joseph H. Holmes, who recently went on the retired list, were guests of honor at a party Saturday evening, arranged by the local division of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

When the Wheat Line train on which Mr. Smithers was making his last run arrived at the local station Saturday evening, he was greeted by Francis L. Kobliska, chief train dispatcher; George Link, roundhouse foreman and several engineers and firemen.

Later in the evening 80 friends of the three engineers assembled in the Masonic hall, where a program was presented with Harry Meyers as toastmaster. Short talks were given by Mr. Kobliska, representing the Soo Line; R. E. Morgan, general chairman, of Minneapolis, speaking for the engineers, as well as several local co-workers.

Other numbers on the program included a solo by Miss Ardith Burrell, duet by Mrs. Gordon Lucas and Miss Burrell, accompanied by Miss JoAnn Holmes; violin solos by Earl Kelly, accompanied by Mrs. T. C. Orme; a poem by L. G. Lane; and a skit, "Crumbs from an Engineer's Lunch Basket," by Mrs. H. G. Peterson, Miss Burrell and Miss Marjorie Hellquist.

Toastmaster Meyers presented each of the honored guests with a gift from the B. of L. E. as a remembrance of the occasion. Firemen present gave Mr. Holmes a collection of three pipes, so that he will have plenty of smoking equipment. The serving of lunch and a social hour followed the program.

Mr. Smithers has had nearly a half-century of railroad experience, having begun his career in Enderlin, N. D., in 1898. He has made his headquarters in Thief River Falls since 1917, and has served as engineer on the Wheat Line the past nine years. He left Tuesday with Mrs. Smithers for Hopkins, Minneapolis suburb, where they will make their future home.

Mr. Kinghorn entered the employ of the Soo Line in Minneapolis in 1904 as a locomotive fireman. In 1904 he was transferred to Gladstone, Michigan, where he remained until promoted to engineer in 1908. He came with his family in 1911 to Thief River Falls, where he has since resided continuously, retiring from active service on February 24, 1944.

Mr. Holmes began work in the Soo Line roundhouse here in August, 1908, and started firing on September 17, 1909. He was retired as an engineer on November 13, 1943, having done virtually all his work as fireman and engineer on the Winnipeg division of the Soo Line.

Individual Initiative Theme of Mill City Man

A strong plea for the encouragement of individual initiative and private enterprise as a means of solving the nation's post-war problems was made by J. Cameron Thomson, member of Governor Edward Thye's post-war planning board last Thursday noon at a joint meeting of the Civic and Commerce association and Junior Chamber of Commerce in the Palm Garden Cafe. Mr. Thomson is president of the Northwest Bancorporation of Minneapolis.

The speaker pointed out the necessity of early action by congress to make arrangements for cancellation of war contracts, disposal of war products and demobilization of war plant employes. He also stressed the need of giving incentive to private enterprise, citing the fact that more invested capital is in back of every American worker than in any other country in the world.

Among the observations made by Mr. Thomson were the following: Russia is growing more capitalistic, while the tendency in England is toward more socialism. The federal budget will not be balanced immediately after the war, and the deficit will be financed by the banks. A temporary continuance of rationing controls will be necessary after the war to curb inflation, as well as the control of consumer credit.

Public works should be secondary to private projects. Agriculture is doing business on the basis of guaranteed prices, which at times have proved ineffective, and it would be sounder policy to raise the general standard of living so that all farm products can be consumed. He also emphasized the importance of each community trying to solve its own local problems.

SCHOOL DIST. 18 VOTES MONDAY ON BUS GARAGE

Local Voters to be Asked to Approve Project Costing $7,000

Project Would be Financed from General Fund; No Bond Issue

Voters of Thief River Falls and surrounding rural area in School District 18 will go to the polls in the Auditorium next Monday evening, August 7, to express themselves on the matter of authorizing the board of education to proceed with plans for the construction of a garage to house the school buses at a cost not to exceed $10,000. Polls will be open from 7 to 9 p. m.

The building which would be 36 by 80 feet in dimensions and of tile construction, would be located immediately south of the industrial arts building, and would be paid for from general funds now in the school treasury without resort to a bond issue. With few critical materials involved in the project, it is anticipated that little difficulty will be encountered in obtaining the necessary priorities.

Supt. Philip L. Fjelsted announced today that cost estimates prepared in connection with the board's application for priorities indicate that the proposed structure could be erected at a cost of approximately $7,000.

Members of the board pointed out that local garages have insufficient capacity to meet the storage needs of commercial operators, and it is anticipated that the saving in rentals and other present outlays would pay for the structure in approximately six years. The building would provide space to be used for handling repair work on the buses, and a gasoline pump also would be installed.

PUBLIC ASKED TO SAVE PAPER FOR PICKUP AUG. 26TH

War Production Board Cites Critical Situation Facing U. S.

Calling attention to the fact that Saturday, August 26, has been set as the date of the next waste paper pickup in the business and residence districts of Thief River Falls, local Boy Scout officials today urged local citizens to keep the date in mind and to save all possible paper in the meantime.

The gravity of the paper situation is indicated in a message from the War Production Board in Washington, which states in part:

"Waste paper is still our No. 1 war material shortage. As our battle lines push closer to the heart of the enemy, and the fighting becomes more intense, our need for waste paper grows. If we are to meet the paper requirements for military and essential civilian needs, we must collect and move to the paper mills an average of 667,000 tons of waste paper per month."

State Chief Discusses '44 War Service Drive

Minnesota's goal in the 1944 Minnesota War Service Fund campaign to be conducted in October to raise funds for 19 agencies serving our armed forces and our allies will be $2,425,000, Thief River Falls workers for the fund learned Thursday night at a dinner meeting at the Evelyn hotel.

The meeting was the third in a series of regional conferences which J. Cameron Thomson, Minneapolis, state chairman of the Minnesota War Service Fund and other fund officials are conducting in various parts of the state for representatives from each county.

Present at the Thief River Falls meeting, arrangements for which were made by W. E. Dahlquist, were representatives from Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Red Lake, Polk, and Pennington counties.

Mr. Thomson in giving the principal address at the meeting stressed the continuing need there will be for the services of the National War Fund agencies regardless of the progress of the war.

"Many people say the war is nearly over" he said. "I happen to believe this is true. Some people say—'why carry on?'. In the first place you just can't afford to have your son and your relatives have any feeling that we folks at home are quitting before this is over.

"Then we must remember that the problems of the peace are indefinitely greater than the problems of war. It's much harder to do things when we don't have the incentive of war. But we are going to need the USO just as long as there is a man or woman in service; we're going to need to help the children and the aged and the suffering in war-torn Europe for many years to come."

Thanking the citizens of this part of the state for the part they played in last year's successful campaign for the War Service Fund when more than $2,500,000 was raised, Mr. Thomson outlined some of the work that has been done and is being done now by that money and that will be done by the money raised in the new campaign in October.

"Blood plasma and USO Camp Shows are the two great things that were given the boys in this war," he said. "The Camp Shows are given for millions of boys right at the battle lines and brings them a touch of home. Then there are the old people and children in Norway and other occupied nations. One of the greatest, possibly the greatest, loss in the war, is not the material loss, but the loss of children. But through the war fund there are 5,000 children in Athens that eat in a canteen every day on Greek relief; 35,000 children in Corsica who get milk; 10 to 15,000 children a day in Norway being fed; children in Yugoslavia getting anti-malaria tablets; children in nurseries in blitzed England being protected by American shatter-proof glass; food and supplies for the children of China."

Byron W. Shimp, state director of the Minnesota Service Fund, outlined plans for the campaign to begin October 9 and discussed ways in which this campaign might be improved over last year's. Both he and Mr. Thomson stressed the importance of the realization by individuals of their responsibility to give.

Among those heading county delegations at the meeting were Dr. F. M. Olson, Roseau, Roseau county; H. M. Hanson, Warren, Marshall county; Rev. Paul A. Cardin, Red Lake county; and R. T. McCulla, Crookston and Rev. T. H. Megorden, Polk county.

Miss Bernice L. Solberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ole J. Solberg of this city, and Staff Sergeant Clifford L. Trochmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Trochmann, also of this city, were united in marriage at a simple ceremony at the home of the bride's parents Friday evening, July 28, at eight o'clock. The double ring ceremony was used, Rev. Silas Erickson officiating. Miss Myrtle, sister of the bride and Raymond Trochmann, brother of the groom, attended the couple.

The bride wore a street length white jersey dress. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls, a gift from the groom. She wore a corsage of red roses and white daisies. The bridesmaid wore a street length dress of Aqua blue, and her corsage was made up with gladiola blossoms and white daisies. Immediately before the ceremony Rev. Erickson, accompanied by Miss Lee of Newfolden sang, "Oh Promise Me" and following the service he sang, "Oh Perfect Love."

Approximately thirty immediate relatives of the couple witnessed the ceremony and attended the reception which followed. A tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom graced the table for the lunch which was served after the service.

The bride was graduated from Lincoln high school with the class of 1935. Her husband is now serving in the United States army and will leave August 6 for Fort Bragg, North Carolina, where he is stationed. Staff Sergeant and Mrs. Trochmann are enjoying a brief honeymoon at Detroit Lakes.

LOCAL WOMEN ARE INVITED TO APPLY FOR WAVES DUTY

Recruiting Board to be Stationed at Crookston until Aug. 11

A WAVES recruiting board will be stationed in Crookston at the Crookston hotel until Friday, August 11, to interview all women 20 to 36 interested in the women's branch of the navy, according to Mrs. Marjorie Kiland, Pennington county civilian recruiter.

On Friday, August 11 the navy medical staff, consisting of navy doctor and nurse and WAVES pharmacists mates, will be in Crookston to give complete medical examinations, thus saving the necessity of a trip to Minneapolis.

The need for WAVES has been enhanced since the proposed expansion of the naval forces, recently announced, Mrs. Kiland stated, and the opportunity for learning a trade, with good pay, and serving side by side with navy men is now available.

"With nearly 75,000 of the WAVES complement now enlisted and enlistments being effected at the rate of nearly 1,500 weekly, this opportunity to enlist may soon pass", she said, in urging those who can qualify to contact the board at Crookston or see her at once.

Transportation to and from Thief River Falls and vicinity will be paid by the Navy, said the recruiter, Specialist 3rd class Joan Rector of the WAVES who spent part of Tuesday in conference with Mrs. Kiland.

A special second anniversary party is being planned for Tuesday evening in Crookston in honor of the WAVES with prospective applicants and their mothers invited.

Crop Rotation

To plan a garden crop rotation, remember that crops of the same plant family are usually susceptible to the same disease. Thus cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, and brussels sprouts are all susceptible to club root. Cucumbers, melons, squash and pumpkins suffer from bacterial wilt and powdery mildew. Tomatoes, eggplant, and peppers have certain common ailments. Thus, little would be gained by planting cabbage where broccoli grew last season, or by planting eggplant in last year's tomato patch. To control the plant diseases, it is best to group related plants together and rotate them by families.

Bulwark Against East

When the Magyars adopted Christianity, they became a bulwark against tides of Mongol and Turkish invasion from the east. Turning to domestic affairs, their rulers imported additional Slavic and Germanic peoples, as well as Moslems and Jews, to serve as tax-paying subject "races" under a feudal reign of powerful, land-rich barons. In turn, when the House of Hapsburg gained control, the Magyars themselves were relegated to an inferior position, status which brought more or less violent struggles until the establishment in 1867 of the Austro-Hungarian "Dual" Monarchy.

Afghans Live Nomadic Life Among Mountains

The primitive life in Afghanistan has been shaped partly by hostile elements which have produced a hard, fearless, independent and proud people. Mountains rise to 15,000 feet in the north; passes are blocked by snow in winter. In the lower elevations temperatures rise to 120 degrees Fahrenheit. Much is dusty desert land, with production limited to oases, and a few fertile watered valleys, worked with old wooden plows. About 17 per cent of the arable land is under cultivation. Possibly an additional 10,000 square miles could be cultivated under irrigation, now being extended.

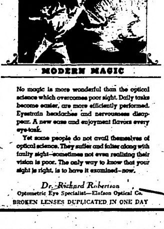
About half the people are nomads, following their flocks, living in black goat's-hair tents. In the winter, flocks — including Afghanistan's fat-tailed sheep — are pastured in the lowlands; in the spring they are driven into the mountains. More than a quarter-million Afghan peddlers work India in winter. The farmers live in brown adobe huts in villages.

Trade is mostly with India, and with the Soviet Union, though Japan has supplied 20 million yards of cotton goods in a year, for the long, flowing trousers, blouse and turban. U. S. imports in normal times include automotive products, sewing machines, radios and pharmaceutical products.

Sponge Material Absorbs Plane's Seeping Gas

The self-sealing fuel cells in the wings of bombers are as fireproof as it is possible to make them, but when they are punctured by enemy bullets a certain amount of gasoline escapes before the rubber swells to close the holes. If allowed to flow into open wing spaces around the tanks, the gasoline would form a highly flammable and explosive mixture with the air.

It was found that a simple way of reducing this fire hazard was to fill the wing spaces around the fuel cells with a lightweight spongy material that would soak up the leaking gasoline. Sponge rubber, or latex foam, was used until the rubber shortage made it unobtainable for the purpose. Then technical men at Wright field and at North American Aviation and Bell Aircraft began a search for another material. Cellulose sponges were tried with satisfactory results. Tens of thousands of cubic feet of the fine pore variety, originally designed for such jobs as washing delicate photographic negatives, have been used on the assembly lines of airplane companies.



MODERN MAGIC

No magic is more wonderful than the optical science which overcomes poor sight. Daily tasks become easier, are more efficiently performed. Eyestrain headaches and nervousness disappear. A new ease and enjoyment flavors every eye-task.

Yet some people do not avail themselves of optical science. They suffer and falter along with faulty sight—sometimes not even realizing their vision is poor. The only way to know that your sight is right, is to have it examined—now.

No Record of Wolverines In Wolverine State

The only authentic record of a wolverine actually taken in Michigan, the "Wolverine state," according to the Michigan Department of Conservation, was one that escaped from the Detroit Zoo, and which had originally come from Alaska. Studies of Dr. L. R. Dice, mammalogist of the University of Michigan and Coach Fielding H. Yost of the "Wolverines" have failed to produce proof of the taking of a single wild specimen.

An indication of the possible presence of the animals in Michigan in pioneer days is seen in records of Alexander Henry, who bought some pelts from Indians in the northern peninsula. However, the furs, of which these were part, came from Northern Minnesota and the Dakotas, as well as Michigan, so there is no proof that even these came from the Wolverine state.

Dr. Dice, in his bulletin "Wild Mammals of Michigan," expresses the opinion of game men generally, as follows: "The wolverine probably originally occurred sparsely in the state, but as far as is known no Michigan specimens have ever been preserved in any museum, nor reported by a mammalogist."

Let Fruits Stand

To harvest any but the most tender vegetables before the first frost would be a mistake. Not only do they make additional growth on warm sunny days, but they also keep much better standing in the garden than they do in a storage cellar which is too warm. In fact, most disappointments from home storage bins come from harvesting winter vegetables too early.

Fred Sattler, Head of Fruit Department for Hartz Stores, Succumbs

Funeral rites were held under Masonic auspices Wednesday afternoon from the Erickson & Lund Funeral Home for Fred R. Sattler, who passed away at a local hospital last Friday at the age of 52. Rev. D. T. Beadle officiated at the rites, and interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Born in Oceanside, California, June 2, 1892, Mr. Sattler later lived in Los Angeles for 25 years before moving to Oroville, Washington in 1927. He came to Thief River Falls with Mrs. Sattler in August, 1943, and since that time had had charge of the fruit department at the L. B. Hartz Stores headquarters here.

Mr. Sattler was married to Alma Summers August 10, 1926, at Cheyenne, Wyoming. She survives his death, together with a son and daughter by a previous marriage, Roberta Sattler of Phoenix, Arizona, and Fred A. Sattler, with the U. S. army overseas.

Also surviving are a brother, Albert Bush, of Arcadia, California, and three sisters, Mrs. Jennet Hill, Mrs. Ella Howard and Mrs. Duley Hoty, all of Watsonville, California.

Mr. Sattler was a member of the Oroville, Washington, Masonic lodge, as well as of the Thief River Falls Elks lodge.

Prevent Swine Ailments

Many swine ailments can be prevented by good management. Keeping hogs comfortable as well as healthy means fewer losses and greater gains for the feed consumed.

Dyeing Fabrics

The homemaker must determine whether the fabric is worth the time and effort needed for dyeing it. Then she should choose the proper dye. There is an all-purpose dye on the market which can be used if the exact nature of the material is not known. Some fabrics are a mixture of different kinds of fibers, each of which could react differently to a certain type of dye. An all-purpose dye may be used for acetate rayons. There also is a special dye for acetate rayons which should be used if you know your fabric is acetate rayon. Otherwise use an all-purpose dye.

Chill Fish

Fish will retain more of their fresh quality if they are chilled promptly and kept cold until frozen. Packing them in a clean container with cracked ice while hauling them to the locker plant is common practice.

The fish are cleaned, heads, etc., removed, washed, cut into family size portions, if necessary, and frozen. Fish can be wrapped before freezing but are frequently frozen, glazed, and wrapped by the same method as that used for glazing poultry.

Odors are generally absent after fish have been frozen and glazed.

Hardening Off

Although some gardeners advocate the hardening off of transplants, when such vegetables as peppers and tomatoes are put through this process they go into a rest period and are slow in getting started when transplanted to the field. Celery should not be hardened off because this causes the formation of seed stalks. Hardening off consists of lowering the temperature in the room where the plants are grown and withholding moisture to prepare the plants for outdoors conditions. However, good vigorous transplants will adapt themselves readily and make good progress when moved into the garden.

Cellulose Sponges

Untreated cellulose sponges are being used by the armed forces in tremendous quantities for numerous washing and cleaning jobs — washing airplanes, tanks and jeeps, swabbing guns, sponging down army horses and mules. Fine-pore sponges are employed to polish glass. Small sponges put camouflage "make-up" on soldiers fighting in the jungles. And many of the sponges, including some which are cut to odd shapes, are employed in special military tasks which cannot be revealed. Because of these military needs for sponges, it has been impossible to supply the civilian demands.

REV. LINDHOLM TO BORADCAST OVER KILO GRAND FORKS

Will Open Series by Remote Control Sunday Morning at 8:15

Leonard W. Lindholm, pastor, announces a weekly gospel broadcast through station KILO, 1440 k., Grand Forks, and by remote control from the Mission Covenant church, Thief River Falls, to begin next Sunday morning, 8:15-8:45 o'clock.

"When the opportunity for such service presented itself," commented Mr. Lindholm, "it seemed to good to pass up." For more than ten years Mr. Lindholm had the privilege of a weekly gospel program over the air in Aberdeen, Wash., and he indicated satisfaction in arrangements which are being effected to have such a program originate in Thief River Falls.

The broadcast, with Mr. Lindholm in charge, will feature gospel singing, music, testimonies and brief messages with guests to appear from time to time.

Optical Gaits

People have "gaits," or patterns in seeing as characteristic as their walking habits, says the Better Vision institute. Some eyes move along alertly and efficiently, but other eyes just shamble along in their visual tasks.

"Children must learn to use their eyes in reading and other tasks of seeing, and habits of seeing acquired in childhood usually persist in later life," says the institute. "For that reason it is important that parents pay special attention to their children's eyes so that effective gaits of seeing may develop. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Not only do undesirable seeing habits develop in children, but not infrequently visual defects arise, often unnoticed, which should receive attention. Early care and training of one's eyes may pay big dividends in later life."

Paul Bunyan

Paul Bunyan is one of the few mythological figures of American folklore. He was created in the tall tales told around the camp fires in the early logging camps. Many books have been written about his exploits in which he is depicted as a giant lumberjack capable of performing herculean feats. For instance, it is said that he is capable of cutting down a whole forest with one swing of his mighty ax. In company with Babe, his great blue ox, he roams the forests, performing prodigious deeds and winning for himself an unchallenged position as a hero of American legend. In the pioneer days when the country was young it needed space to grow and wood with which to build, and Paul was simply a fabulous woodchopper.

Soiled Eggs

Eggs that are heavily soiled, due to breakage of other eggs, etc., may be cleaned by placing them in a small earthenware jar containing water and household lye at the rate of a teaspoon per gallon of water, according to a bulletin of the University of Missouri. The eggs may be left in this solution for approximately 15 minutes, while the remaining eggs are being cased. At the end of that time, the heavy dirt and stains can be removed by rubbing gently with a cloth and the eggs permitted to dry. Such eggs do not present a washed appearance and keeping qualities are not affected. Rubber gloves should be worn. These may be covered with cheap white cotton gloves that serve as washing cloth.

Insects Use Cracks

With warm weather, insects become more inevitable. Cracks in floors are favorite abodes or means of entry into the house for numerous types of insect pests, and these cracks are insanitary in other respects. A prepared crack filler, obtainable from any dealer in paint and varnish products, should be pressed into the floor cracks with a putty knife and smoothed over. When dry, the floor can be refinished with paint, varnish or shellac, as a further seal against leakage. If desired, the crack filler can be stained to match the color of the floor, before applying the finish coat to the floor.

Operator Has Three Choices in Seeding Stubble

If stubble is to be seeded to spring crop, the operator has three choices. He can stubble in the crop, burn and plow, or plow the stubble under. Of the three methods, burning and plowing has resulted in the highest yields, except in very favorable seasons when plowing under stubble has given equally good results.

If the land is to be fallowed the operator may burn and cultivate, surface cultivate without burning or plow under the straw and then cultivate. When stubble is heavy, as it is this spring, as much as possible should be left on the surface during the fallow season.

When crop residue is left on the surface it has two very desirable effects. Studies made by Canadian experiment stations indicate that one-half ton of straw per acre on the surface reduces soil drifting by as much as 86 per cent. The second benefit of crop residue on the surface is the reduction of water erosion and the conservation of moisture in the soil. Not only does the stubble mulch allow the water to go into the soil faster but it also reduces the rate of evaporation.

Carpathians Upheaved

The world was old when the Carpathian mountains of Europe were upheaved. Mammals were developing. Plants were rising to the highest orders. The age of man was yet to come. New mountains were the fashion. The violent convulsions that lifted the Carpathians also raised the Alps, the Pyrennees, and the Apennines.

Not so high as the Alps, the Carpathians have no peak that tops 10,000 feet; few that rise above 6,500 feet. Less showy than the Alps, as well as lower, they are short on sculptured summits, sizable snowfields or glaciers, mountain lakes, and high waterfalls.

Masses of weathered stone stand alone as lofty, bare-faced peaks in the West Beskids and Tatry ridges. Oak and beech grow up to 4,000-foot levels; spruce, fir, and pine thrive up to 6,000 feet. Long, wavy stretches of flowery highland pastures top steep, tree-clad slopes that bound narrow, terraced valleys. Loess, the wind-blown silt from many glacial grindings, coats the high valleys, gives farmers the bounty of a loamy top soil.

Early Anchors

Early anchors consisted of stones, baskets of stones, sacks of sand and hollow logs filled with sand. As ships grew in size, more effective anchors were required.

Early in the 1900s, the stockless anchor was invented and is commonly used today. The chain and shank of the modern anchor can be drawn into the hawse-pipe in the hull of the ship. This new type of anchor gives our ships the appearance of wearing a pair of bow ties.

Liberty ship anchors weigh 6,400 pounds and each ship is equipped with a pair. Attached to the port anchor is 135 fathoms, or 810 feet of heavy chain. The starboard anchor has 75 fathoms, or 450 feet of chain attached to it. The total weight of these two chains is 53,305 pounds.

Many Uses

Rayon is used in dress goods, light summer clothing, hosiery, sportswear, decorative fabrics, underwear, linings, floor coverings, draperies, upholstery materials, tires, parachutes, army clothing and the like. It is also extensively utilized in combination with other textile fibers. Rayon is attractive in appearance, has a high luster, and an unusual affinity for dyeing, while it is considerably cheaper than silk or wool. The principal drawback of rayon has been the difficulty of laundering and cleaning without injuring the fabric. The rayon industry in cooperation with the equipment manufacturers is endeavoring through research to correct this limitation.

A new "Champion" in invasion warfare

STUDEBAKER WEASEL

BUILT BY STUDEBAKER . . . POWERED BY STUDEBAKER CHAMPION ENGINE

YOU'LL hear a lot more about this agile new Allied personnel and cargo carrier as our invasion armies roll deeper into Europe . . . Born of war's needs—brainchild of the Office of Scientific Research and Development, the War Department and Studebaker engineers—the Weasel is being manufactured by Studebaker under contract with the Ordnance Department, Army Service Forces . . . It's Studebaker-built—and it's powered by the famous Studebaker Champion engine . . . Officially designated the M-29, it was soon nicknamed the Weasel. And like a weasel it is—in stealth and swiftness—in sure-footed movement on practically any kind of terrain.

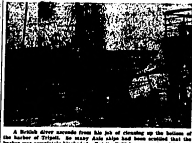
Break Blockade of Sunken Axis Ships



A British diver ascends from his job of cleaning up the bottom of the harbor of Tripoli. So many Axis ships had been scuttled that the harbor was completely blockaded. But the British navy managed to open a narrow passageway to allow ships to get into and out of the harbor. The Axis had sunk many ships, blown them open on the bottom, and then sunk other ships over the first group.

Discarded Oil Drum Much Used by U. S. Marines

One of the most versatile objects marines have is the discarded oil drum, reports Sergt. Bill Allen, a marine corps combat correspondent. After the drum has served its purpose, Leathernecks find many uses for it and convert it to meet many needs.

Split in half, the can makes an excellent bath tub. Tied to the branches of a tree, it serves as a jungle shower after the bottom has been liberally sprayed with rifle and sub-machine gun fire. Pontoons for homemade canoes or makeshift stoves are also fashioned from the containers. One marine photographer is said to have used a discarded oil drum for a portable darkroom during the recent Bougainville campaign.

Mess halls, quartermaster's tents, and other buildings have been completely roofed with oil cans that have been split, hammered out, and used in lieu of sheet metal. A barrel cut in half will make two tent tables.

Other useful purposes served by the discarded oil drums are (1) GI cans; (2) mail boxes; (3) foundations for smaller type buildings; (4) movie seats (placed end to end, barrels serve as rows of seats) and (5) ring lights over a tropical boxing arena.

Cooperative State Audits Recover Sales Tax Fund

Recovery of substantial amounts in sales taxes, owed by firms doing interstate business, at a saving to the state of time, money and personnel has resulted from cooperative audits since 1942, the Federation of Tax Administrators reported.

Cooperative audits in which representatives of California, Indiana, Iowa and Michigan participated in the Chicago area, for example, resulted in recovery of $52,353 for this group of audits; in another, auditors from Alabama, California, Colorado, Iowa, Michigan, Oklahoma and Utah recovered more than $68,000 in unpaid taxes owed by interstate retailers.

Successful in computing sales taxes of nationwide retailers of relatively inexpensive items, the cooperative audit involves the pooling of auditors of various states to simplify former auditing procedures, under which an auditor from each state might find it necessary to visit the home office of the company and check records for his state. By the time several states had done this, much time and effort was wasted in dragging out the books.

Test Soil

Before spreading lime or wood ashes on the garden, have the soil tested, to make sure it needs lime. If the soil is already sweet, the additional lime or ashes may harm the growth of the vegetables. Most common garden crops grow best on land that is neutral or only slightly acid. Strawberries, watermelons, and potatoes grow well on somewhat acid soil. If the soil test shows that the soil is quite acid, wood ashes may be spread at the rate of 10 to 15 pounds for 100 square feet of space. Coal ashes do not add any fertilizer to the soil; wood ashes add both lime and potash. Coal ashes can be used to lighten heavy, stiff soil.

Salt Uses

Do you know where we get the word "salary"? It comes from the Latin salarium. Salarium means salt money, the part of a Roman soldier's wages he was paid in salt. It goes to the American soldier too, though he may not know it. Tetraethyl lead for high-octane gas is derived from the dinner-table crystals, as are the toughening chemicals for the gears in tanks and trucks with surfaces so hard a file cannot scratch them. Also from salt come ingredients of dyes for uniforms, pharmaceuticals for army and navy doctors, and sodium-filled valves that prevent airplane engines from overheating and melting.

Long Try to Grow Licorice Root in U. S.

The United States Department of Agriculture reported on the cultivation of licorice root in America as far back as 1854. W. R. Prince, writing in the Horticulturist (Philadelphia) in 1856, showed the possibilities of growing it in America. Henry N. Rittenhouse not only advanced logical argument in favor of home-grown licorice root, but he actually made experimental plantings in 1895 in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Louisiana and Florida. He believed the project to be entirely feasible, but nothing appears to have been done to follow up his small-scale tests and all that is known 50 years later, is that no large amount of licorice root is growing in the United States.

A more ambitious attempt to grow licorice root in this country was undertaken during the First World War by the company which imports most of the root. Several hundred acres in southern New Jersey were planted with licorice root cuttings. They seemed to take hold rather well, but in succeeding years made little further growth. The project was abandoned when the wild root from Europe and Asia Minor became available again. Twenty-five years later no licorice root is to be found in New Jersey except a few plants which an old Austrian employe transplanted deeply.

Easy to Make

An omelet has the reputation for being difficult to make but it is simple if you follow a few essential steps. In making a fluffy omelet, the white and yolk of the egg are beaten separately — the whites until stiff and the yolks until very thick and light in color. The well-beaten yolks are then folded lightly and quickly into the stiffly beaten whites until thoroughly blended. Cooking should be started at once in a heated skillet coated with a film of melted butter. Cooking is continued over a very low fire or in a very moderate oven (325 degrees Fahrenheit) for about 20 minutes. If cooked on top of the stove, slip the skillet into a 350 degree Fahrenheit oven for two to five minutes at the end in order to dry and slightly brown the top. This plain, puffy omelet can be made with one teaspoon salt to six eggs for seasoning. For interesting variety add tomato juice — one tablespoon for each egg — to the partially beaten egg whites and continue beating until stiff. Orange juice or other fruit or vegetable juices may be used. Chopped ham, bacon, cheese or fruit may be sprinkled on the half surface of the omelet before the other half is folded over it.

Many Diets Fail to Meet Adequate Nutrition Levels

The Committee on Diagnosis and Pathology of the Food and Nutrition board of the National Research council has reviewed material reported in widely scattered journals on the state of nutrition of the people of the United States. An appreciable percentage of diets fail to meet more than 50 per cent of the recommended daily allowances of the Food and Nutrition board, but many more diets are deficient by less than 50 per cent, emphasizes the Journal of the American Medical Association.

This widespread prevalence of more or less deficient diets is associated with a high incidence of different states of deficiency, largely mild in intensity and gradual in its course. The problem thus created is both preventive and corrective. For prevention, production of sufficient food must be maintained and better distribution is required; judicious enrichment of appropriate foods may be advisable, and dietary education should be intensified and extended. For correction there is need for skill in detecting deficiency conditions and improved procedure for the treatment of such conditions.

There has been some exaggeration of the benefits of the best nutritional standards and much exploitation of the vitamins. Knowledge of the relation of nutrition to health is being rapidly uncovered. The evidence now available, incomplete though it may be, leads to but one conclusion: that "there is a real difference as measured in terms of growth development and general health record between the highest and just adequate nutrition; and that every practical effort should be made to apply this knowledge in the interest of human welfare."

LARGE GATHERING AT TENT MISSION SUNDAY EVENING

Rev. Rudolph Larson of Alvarado Preaches Here This Week

The record crowd of this season's tent meetings sponsored by the Union Gospel Tent Mission of Thief River Falls attended the meeting last Sunday night. At that time Evangelist Oscar C. Knutson of Windom, Minn., brought his concluding message in the series he has preached.

Soloist in Tuesday night's meeting was Mrs. Bernard Anderson of Minneapolis, sister of Albert Tornell of Viking, formerly Teckla Tornell. Pastor P. J. Lindberg, a resident in the Ebenezer home for the aged at Buffalo, who preached in the Red River valley more than 60 years ago, stopped off to visit relatives here and attended services in the tent this week.

Pastor R. Bernstsen of the Evangelical Free church in Muskegon, Michigan, is due to continue the series next Tuesday, August 8 concluding his ministry here, August 13.

Special meetings for children will be held Tuesday and Friday evenings at 6:30.

Army Nurses Prepare for Field Duties

In Wales the U. S. army operates a hospital training area where hundreds of nurses undergo training which will fit them for all field duties and prepare them for any emergency of the front lines. Eating under all conditions, outdoors, is one feature of the training. Here a group of the girls is shown dining out of meskits.

Soybeans Fill Need For U. S. Fats, Oils

Four-fifths of the fats and oils the United States imported in prewar years will be replaced by the oil from the homegrown crop of soybeans, according to figures developed by Dr. M. A. McCall of the United States Department of Agriculture.

"The critical wartime fat and oil situation has given added pressure for soybean production," he said. "In 1941 the acreage harvested for beans was 5,855,000 acres; in 1942, it was 10,762,000 acres; 11,492,000 acres estimated for the 1943 harvest; and a goal of 14,000,000 acres was requested for 1944. The increase in the production of this crop as a wartime necessity has been remarkable. It has been possible only because of new varieties developed in the cooperative program of the States and the Federal department.

"Newly introduced varieties maturing satisfactorily in the several areas, yet utilizing the full growing season and higher in oil content than others previously available, have been a contribution to our war economy hard to overvalue.

"The 14,000,000 acres of soybeans requested for 1944, estimated to produce 17.3 bushels to the acre on the average, should give 242,500,000 bushels of beans of which 180,000,000 should be available for crushing. This should produce 1.6 billion pounds of oil."

Retain Strain

In any flock where breeding work is being carried on it is the tendency to sell the fastest growing and quickest maturing birds early in order to relieve any crowded condition in the brooder house and to get a little cash income as quickly as possible.

However, it is a wise plan to save some of the earliest maturing and quickest developing cockerels from which a final selection can be made in the fall. It is these factors of early maturing and quick growing that a poultryman likes to breed into his flock, and if such birds are sold, he loses the benefits of these characteristics.

Good Ballads

Some popular ballads that have survived the years are: "By the Light of the Silvery Moon," 1910; "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," 1912; "After You've Gone," 1918; "Alice Blue Gown," 1919; "Whispering," 1920; "My Buddy," 1922; "When Day Is Done," 1924; "After I Say I'm Sorry," 1926; "My Blue Heaven," 1927; "Little White Lies," 1930; "I Surrender Dear" and "Star Dust," 1931; "Somebody Loves You," 1932; "Stormy Weather" and "Easter Parade," 1933; "I'm in the Mood for Love," 1935; "Chapel in the Moonlight" and "When Did You Leave Heaven," 1936.

MANAGER FARGO VETERANS AGENCY TELLS OF G. I. LAW

Service Groups Authorized to Assist Veterans with Claims

With enactment of the G. I. bill by the 78th congres, the veterans administration and service organizations—the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Disabled American Veterans—have been placed on a par with the American Red Cross as agencies recognized in army and navy installation, such as hospitals, camps and discharge centers to assist veterans with claims and related matters.

That is the word from C. T. Hoverson, manager of the veterans administration at Fargo, N. Dak., after studying the law, which is divided into six main titles and which he says is the most comprehensive single law for the benefit of war veterans ever enacted.

Hretofore, the American Red Cross has been the only recognized agency permitted to function in camps and discharge centers.

Title 1 of the law provides for review boards to review cases of veterans discharged from service under other than honorable conditions and to issue in lieu honorable certificates, except where the individual was discharged following a general court martial.

Titles 2, 3, 4, and 5 contain the direct provisions available to the veterans, said Mr. Hoverson, who added that further details will be furnished later on each of the titles. Title 6 is the administrative provision of the law.

Heads Midway Shows

Al Wagner owner-manager of the Cavalcade of Amusements, midway attraction at the Pennington County fair is of the new school of outdoor amusement enterprises. Just one year ago Wagner had a motorized show called the Great Lakes Exposition. It was very successful, but he wanted a railroad show. Last December he announced at the Showmen's League annual meeting in Chicago that he was buying shows, rides and railroad equipment, would go on the road with the largest show, and had contracted 14 big fairs as well as many big city dates previous to the fair season. The first fair was North Dakota State Fair where a 1925 gross record was beaten by thousands of dollars. Minneapolis Aquatennial was another crowded engagement. From Thief River Falls the show goes to the great western fair at Great Falls, Mont.

Old History

Korea has over 4,000 years of history with a distinguished culture and a living language, and her relations with China are said to date back to 1122 B. C. when Kitzu, a Chinese sage, introduced Chinese culture to Korea. Subsequently Koreans adopted classical literary Chinese as the language of education and learning and Confucianism permeated Korean society and life. Because of the close cultural relationship Korea and China have been on friendly terms through centuries in spite of the fact that Korea became a vassal state of the Chinese Empire after the establishment of the Manchu dynasty in 1644.

Extended Fisheries

For several years before the war Japan had been extending her fisheries in the North Pacific and had conducted much more extensive investigations of the fishery resources of the area than had the United States. Having no nearby land bases, the Japanese did their crabmeat canning on factory ships which had been developed under government subsidy. The sea not only produces the most important protein element in the Japanese diet but before the war marine products constituted that nation's second most valuable export, being surpassed only by silk.

a critical occupation and his statement of availability indicates that his last employment was in a critical occupation; 4, the new employe has not lived or worked in the locality of the new employment throughout the preceding 30-day period. Before a worker may be hired in a new locality he must have received a statement of availability from the employment service office in the locality in which he is or was last employed and be referred by the local office in the locality of his proposed employment; 5, the new employe's last regular employment was in agriculture and he is to be hired for non-agricultural work, provided that no such individual shall be referred to non-agricultural work except after consultation with a designated representative of the War Food Administration, and provided that such an individual may be hired for non-agricultural work for a period of not to exceed six weeks without referral or presentation of a statement of availability.

The area manpower director may fix for all or any establishment in the Thief River Falls area, fair and reasonable employment ceilings and allowances, limiting the number of employes or other specified types of employes which such establishments may employ during specified periods. Such ceilings and allowances will be determined on the basis of the establishments actual labor needs, the available labor supply, and the relative urgency of the establishment's products or services to the war effort. Except as authorized by the area manpower director, no employer shall hire any new employe for work in his establishment if the hiring of such employe would result in such establishment's exceeding the employment ceiling or allowance currently applicable to it.

Cement Paint

Soon after the Panama canal was first put into operation, it was discovered that delicate electrical equipment was being damaged by abrasive dust getting into moving parts. Much of this equipment was in cement or concrete lined rooms or galleries. Investigation disclosed that the dust came from the cement. An American paint specialist was consulted, with the result that a protective coating, which was one of the first of numerous effective coatings and sealers for cement and concrete surfaces which have since been formulated and are generally used, was applied to the dusting surfaces and the trouble was stopped. Since that time the use of protective coatings on cement and concrete has been recognized as a sound, and in many instances, a very necessary practice as a defense against both dust and moisture.

the fair tonight, when they will participate in a parade in front of the grandstand, together with a style show and the crowning of a 4-H style queen and the presentation of the 4-H boy and girl health champions. Demonstrations by club members also are under way today in the 4-H club building.

While some departments at the 1944 fair appear to be less crowded with exhibits than usual, they nevertheless present a rather complete picture of this area's resources in respect to agricultural products, including livestock, poultry, grains and vegetables.

When Pupil Expanded

Cattail Floss

It is found that with an expenditure of about 140 man-hours of labor 50,000 spikes per day can be collected and processed, producing 15 hundred pounds of cattail floss. This involves harvesting from about eight acres.

COME ON AMERICA... IT'S TIME FOR THE SHIRT

THE CRUCIAL HOUR is at hand. That's why Uncle Sam is asking you to buy more War Bonds than you ever did before, during the fifth victory loan.

If you haven't been scheming and figuring on a way to buy extra war bonds, it's a sign you aren't buying all you possibly can.

Uncle Sam needs every dollar you can scrape together, not just the dollars you can spare! Not just the dollars you normally put into savings! No, much more than that!

It means sacrifice dollars—dollars that mean you are doing without many things you want. It means every dollar you don't absolutely need for food, shelter and clothing, the bare necessities for health and strength.

—But the sacrifice is worth it, for the money you put in Bonds will mean speedier victory.

So ask yourself, "Am I investing every possible dollar in War Bonds?"

Sharpen your pencil, cut down your regular purchases to the bone and you will probably find that you, like most of us, haven't begun to do your best.

If you ask for Hamm's Preferred Stock Beer and your dealer has none, it probably is because Uncle Sam has first call, but ask, nevertheless.

Pennington County's fair got off to a bad start yesterday, the weather man being less co-operative than usual. Over a period of years, however, the fair has enjoyed many good breaks and if we didn't have a bad break once in a while we wouldn't appreciate good fortune when it came to us. There still remain two days and there still is a chance to maintain a fairly good average. What better odds could anyone ask.

War reports from the European western front have started to read like those we have been getting from the Russian front the past several months. American and British forces are making impressive gains against the Germans and these reports carry the suggestion that enemy resistance is rapidly deteriorating. Establishing and maintaining supply lines seems to be the biggest obstacle to progress at the present time. Nazi leaders now are confronted with the extremely difficult problem of maintaining morale. Their fighting machine has taken too many lickings to respond to any superman build-up. Their soldiers who performed so brilliantly against inferior armies now know what it seems to face war machines that are better equipped than their own, and after five war-weary years they probably have little relish for this sort of thing. It would not be surprising, under present conditions, if the German army suddenly collapsed.

It has been the opinion of many observers that, once the Germans had recognized the futility of further resistance, they would concentrate their defense on the eastern front and open the western door to occupation by the Americans and British. This idea was based on the thought that they would be more fearful of Russian revenge, and that sounded reasonable. One authority, however, holds the opposite view, believing that while we have been talking in a high and mighty way about unconditional surrender, the Russians have been doing an effective job satisfying the German people that they in reality are their best friends. It is reasonable to assume, of course, that the details of the occupation have already been agreed upon by the leaders of the united nations and that the wishes of the Germans will have little influence on the first arrangements. We should be fairly well adjusted by now, however, to a realization that Joe Stalin is a very hard-headed and realistic person, a little short, perhaps on pretty speeches, but long on sagacity.

A state legislature interim committee is making a study of the inspection services conducted by various departments to determine the extent to which inspections are duplicated. If such a study results in the consolidation of some of these services the average business man will not object. Too many agencies, state and federal, are now telling us too many times how we should do this or that. Our country undoubtedly is still the land of the brave but as for being the land of the free, that now is little more than a tradition. In the role of opresser the state plays a comparatively minor part but, state or federal, an inspector is an inspector, and because there are too many of them, few of them receive the cooperation they deserve. They are like relatives who visit too often. If they would drop in on us less frequently they would be more welcome.

U. S. Imported 60% of Cork Output Before War

The United States is the world's largest user of cork, importing, before the war, over 150,000 tons annually, or 60 per cent of the world output. Various insulation uses accounted for the greatest cork consumption under peacetime conditions. It was employed for walls, floors and ceilings in office buildings and homes; for cold storage and refrigeration plants; refrigerators, boilers, pipes, etc. Other large amounts of cork went into the preparation of linoleum, cork tiling and other floor coverings, gaskets for America's millions of automotive engines and other machines; life jackets, life rafts and similar marine equipment; and bottle stoppers. In addition, thousands of tons of cork were used for such miscellaneous articles as cigarette tips, baseball cores, inner soles for shoes, penholder tips, fishing bobbers, fittings for laboratory equipment, decoy ducks and mooring buoys for boats.

The world's cork supply comes from strips of territory near and along the shores of the Mediterranean which add up to a total area about equal to that of the state of New Jersey. One narrow belt stretches for more than 1,000 miles along the northern coast of Africa. Large patches of cork production occur along 1,500 miles of coastline in southern Portugal, southern and northeastern Spain, and southern France. Portugal is the most important source of cork; its forests yield more than a quarter of the world's supply. A few straggling cork oaks grow along the west coasts of Italy and Yugoslavia while forests of considerable magnitude thrive in Corsica, Sardinia and Sicily.

So acute is the tire situation that they are now referring to tire purchase certificates as hunting licenses.

It's time to start saving up for the Sixth War Loan campaign, which opens on Armistice Day, November 11.

Down at Wahpeton, N. D., the mosquito infestation this summer has been the worst on record. If they're looking for relief, we welcome them to Thief River Falls.

1934—TEN YEARS AGO

Marvin Benson again won the city tennis championship, defeating Lincoln Arnold in the final match.—Pennington county fair boosters made a tour of 18 Northwest towns.—Clifford Hedeen was awarded the contract to fill in the approaches to the new Third st. bridge. — Condemnation proceedings were under way in connection with the city's plans to acquire privately owned lots in the Auditorium block.—The federal reclamation commissioner advocated evacuation of the drouth-stricken areas in Western North Dakota.—Dr. H. J. Rice is attending the national dental convention in St. Paul.

1924—TWENTY YEARS AGO

Oscar Smith, Legion post commander, announced that Thief River Falls had been selected as the scene of the 1925 state American Legion convention.—Senator Magnus Johnson and Thomas D. Schall, his opponent for the office, both will speak at the 1924 Pennington county fair.—Mrs. N. K. Harris entertained in honor of Miss Helga Olson, well-known Minneapolis pianist.—County Attorney Theodore Quale and family returned from a visit with relatives in South Dakota.—The work of enlarging the basement under the east end of the court house is now in progress.

Faster than Tongue

That the eye is faster than the tongue is demonstrated by the fact that the average person can read silently nearly twice as fast as he can orally. Experiments with a group of college students showed an average speed of 3.6 words per second in oral reading, and 3.6 words per second in silent reading.

This drag of speech on vision is believed to be one of the causes of slow reading in adults. Children are first taught oral reading and acquire the habit of sounding the words as they are read. These habits are carried over in lip and mouth movements into adulthood. Many slow readers are lip mumblers.

To Pennington County Fair Visitors

We all regret that we could not be at the fair grounds to greet you and demonstrate new farm equipment. But due to the facts, which you no doubt know, all the new equipment we get in goes right out on the farms and we have nothing on hand to show.

We know, however, that when this war is over, we shall have so many new improvements in modern farm equipment that we will have a surprise exhibit and display at the fair grounds and in our show rooms to show you and we are all looking into that future with a lot of hope.

Dr. Francis E. Townsend says—My faith has never wavered. I knew that the Townsendites could do it. A lot of people who used to laugh at us will find themselves laughing out of the other side of their mouths when they wake up some morning this fall and find the Townsend plan, that "crazy" old Townsend plan, has actually become a law of the land. It is all right for us to congratulate ourselves, but let us not forget to thank that divine power which has watched over us and guided us through the years. Without that backing, no cause wins. Townsendites have had it because throughout the years of slander and ridicule they have stayed humble and unselfishly worked for the good of the whole citizenry. 33p

LOCAL BALL CLUB WINS SUNDAY OVER MINTO-OSLO TEAM

Thief River Falls Will Play Armour's Team at Grand Forks Sunday

Building up an early lead by scoring two tallies in the 1st inning and a single run in the 2nd, the locals outlasted the Minto-Oslo nine to win a 3 to 1 decision in a game played on the Oslo diamond Sunday afternoon.

With two men out in the last half of the 1st inning, Wally DuChamp was safe when Ray Wysocki juggled his ground ball, and moved to second on a passed ball. Woody Almquist glanced a hit off Bunty Robinson's glove, sending Wally to third. Almquist stole second base; and when Bunty Robinson made a high throw to first base on Rube Rosendahl's ground ball, DuChamp and Almquist scored.

The locals marked up their final run in the 2nd inning. Blackie Stephens punched a single into left field, trotted to second on a passed ball, and advanced to third base when Bunty Robinson muffed Gordy Reierson's pop fly. Stephens tallied when Jim Clausen fumbled Jimmy Welton's ground ball.

Woody Almquist had a one-hit shutout for six innings, but in the 7th frame the Minto-Oslo club bunched three hits to count their lone run. Winnie Barta drove an infield single past shortstop, but was erased a moment later on Red Bossman's fine peg to second base. Lanky Jim Clausen drew a walk, and then dashed to third base on Smokey Robinson's single to left field. After Henning had struck out, Walt Michalski lined a single to left field to plate Clausen.

Woody Almquist whiffed 13 batters, while Malcolm Gillespie and Smokey Robinson, who shared the hurling duties for Minto-Oslo, had 9 strikeouts, with Smokey getting 5 strokeouts in the 4 innings he worked.

Blackie Stephens, with 2 for 4 and getting the game's only extra-base hit, and Woody Almquist, also with two hits in four tries, led the local hitters. Centerfielder Bart drove out two hits in four trips to the plate for Minto.

The locals are scheduled to journey to Grand Forks next Sunday for a game aginst the Armour's nine.

Author Preparing Book on T. B. Walker, Noted Lumberman, to Visit City

Thomas Barlow Walker, one of Minnesota big lumber operators, is the subject of a historical biography now being written by Clara W. Nelson under a University of Minnesota fellowship in regional writing.

The biography will include not only the story of the Walker family, but will picture the social, economic, and political conditions of the period in which he lived in Minnesota, 1862-1928.

The book will neither whitewash nor muckrake the events of the period, but paint the true story in its light and shade, the whole story, if possible of the man and his times, the author says.

Miss Nelson plans to come to Thief River Falls to talk with residents of Pennington county who were at any time associated with Mr. Walker or other lumber operators in Minnesota.

TOWNSEND CLUB TO HOLD MEETING NEXT SUNDAY

The Townsend club will meet in the Civic and Commerce rooms Sunday afternoon, August 6, at three o'clock.

The Season's Best Fish Story

The nomination for the year's best fish story must go to that tale that emanates from Federal Dam, and after questioning several reputable witnesses it appears that there is more fact than fiction to the story. Several weeks ago Ed. Holmgren, local brakeman, while on a lay-over at Federal Dam, was fishing the Leech lake river below the dam and a heavy fish struck his lure, snapped the line, and escaped.

A week or ten days later Ed, in company with a couple of friends, was fishing the same water, and as they were trolling for pike one of the boys hit a snag and tied up his spoon. With fishing tackle as scarce as it is at present, and being a Scotchman, the fellow decided to retrieve his lure. He peeled off his clothes and dove into the river, but he emerged a moment later spluttering that, "There's a body down there. It looks like a drowned baby."

A 32½ Pounder

Ed and the other fellow laughed at that outburst and told him not to be afraid of a drowned baby, and anyway if it was a drowning victim the body should be recovered. He did go down again, and when he come up he had a large bale of wire in his hand, and enmeshed in this wire was a big fish, a 32½-pound muskellunge. Ed. immediately noticed that the musky was carrying a lure in its mouth, and when he learned that it was the same bait that he had used the day he lost that heavy strike, he proclaimed, "That fish is mine; that's the one I lost the other day," and took possession.

It seems that the fish, when it broke loose from Ed, had taken 150 feet of line, and in its meandering since then it had become tangled with that bundle of scrap wire. Its exertions to escape only served to tighten the noose about its gills and the musky finally died. It was estimated that the fish had been dead two days when it was recovered.

Ed. is having the fish mounted and will offer it as evidence for his hook-and-line story.

Came Close

The juniors, in losing that 5 to 4 game to Moorhead in the district finals last Wednesday evening, came very close to winning a trip to the state tournament. The loss can be charged to lack of experience, for the kids had the game in hand when they gained a 3 to 2 lead in the 4th inning. Moorhead, on a bunt and a single, scored twice in the 5th inning, and on a single, two stolen bases and an error, scored their game-winning run in the 6th inning. Virg Evenstad struck out two men in the 5th frame, three men in the 6th inning, and one man in the 7th inning. He should have been the winner for, as the Moorhead coach stated, "Evenstad was the best pitcher."

The Spuds aren't expected to make much of a splurge in the state tournament for, while they have a fine catcher and a good infield, they lack a pitcher. Bub Drury, who's doing the hurling, is an infielder and doesn't belong on the mound.

Miscellany

Pat Sheehy, a younger brother of border patrolman Larry Sheehy is spending some time in town. Pat was Northwest Golden Gloves bantamweight champion in 1941 or '42, and since that time he has been fighting professionally. Pat, though, insists that he is all thru with the pro game, claims that there are so many "angles" that a fellow, regardless of how well he draws, makes very little money.—Clarence Schmidt of Williams, property of the Boston Bruins and a member of the Bruins' "farm" club, the Boston Olympics hockey club, was in town this week and he met several of the Hornets.

A Big "Catch"

Carl Gulrud did some first-rate dry-land "fishing" last week. Carl made the correct guess, to the ounce, on that ocean-caught salmon that Ernie Johnson gave away. Its weight was 10 pounds, 7 ounces, and that's the figure that Carl entered. As the prize for making that guess, Carl was presented with the fish.

TRUNK HIGHWAY REVENUES DOWN IN STATE IN '44

Show Sharp Decline in Comparison with the 1942 Fiscal Year

Gas taxes credited to the trunk highway fund in the six months ended June 30 were $4,423,617, compared to $4,111,628 in the same months of 1943, an increase of 7.5 per cent, according to figures released by M. J. Hoffmann, commissioner of highways. With this exception, revenues from both motor vehicle and gas taxes have decreased steadily since the United States entered the war. In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1944, motor vehicle taxes were 21.8 per cent less and gas taxes 32.8 per cent less than in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1942.

For the fiscal year ended June 30, gas taxes credited to the trunk highway fund were $9,202,799 and motor vehicle taxes $8,062,738, a total of $17,265,537. For the year ended June 30, 1943, gas tax receipts were $10,557,818 and motor vehicle taxes $9,039,575, a total of $19,597,393.

For the year ended June 30, 1942, gas tax revenues were $13,694,830 and motor vehicle taxes $10,310,115, a total of $24,004,945. The gas tax receipts in the trunk highway fund given above are two-thirds of the total net receipts, the other third going to the road and bridge fund for allotment to the counties.

Federal priorities will be granted on materials with which to construct a classroom and dormitory building at the University of Minnesota for the use of members of the United States Nurses Corps, of which 200 girls are now in training on the campus at government expense. Federal agencies have granted $231,000, as their share of the cost and the University will provide $154,000 from existing revolving funds, according to Ray M. Bicycle Artist Appears at County Fair

One of the bright lights of the Pennington county Fair is Mell Hall, renowned bicycle and unicycle artist. This will mark Hall's first appearance in the midwest, and his unusual skill and daring on the high unicycle is certain to provoke gasps of amazement between bursts of laughter as he mixes deft comedy throughout his finished performance. His costuming will be faultless, especially his colorful "gay nineties" makeup. Hall is only one of a galaxy of new artists who are being presented at the fair for the first time this year.

BROTHERS BREAK ARMS SAME PLACE, SAME DAY

Jeffers.—Strange were the accidents of Archie and Robert Coulson which occurred on the same day. The brothers broke their right arms in the evening of the same day. Archie fell out of a tree about six o'clock in the evening to get his fracture. Robert attended a dance at a nearby farm in the evening, and on the way home the car in which he was riding with several others, had a "flat", hit a patch of gravel and skidded into a ditch, tipping over. Robert came out with a broken right arm.

15 CITIES PAY 80 PERCENT OF STATE TAXES ON INCOMES

Rural Areas and Small Towns Get Most of Benefit, Survey Shows

Residents of the 15 largest cities in Minnesota pay 80% of the state income tax and residents of rural communities and the smaller cities and towns only 20% G. Howard Spaeth, state tax commissioner, pointed out in a new tax research bulletin made public this week.

Total net income tax assessments against residents of the 15 cities accounted for $17,062,804 out of the grand total of $21,467,452 for the whole state for the year ending June 30, 1943, Spaeth reported.

Indicating the difference in the income tax burden in rural and urban communities, the report brought out that 1 out of 8 persons in the 15 larger centers filed a taxable income tax return for 1943 while the ratio in the rest of the state was only one out of 27 persons. Minneapolis had the lowest ratio, with 1 out of 7 filing a taxable return, and St. Paul and Duluth were next with 1 out of 9.

The 15 cities grouped in this study were those with more than 10,000 population: Albert Lea, Austin, Brainerd, Duluth, Faribault, Fergus Falls, Hibbing, Mankato, Minneapolis, Rochester, St. Cloud, St. Paul, South St. Paul, Virginia and Winona.

While rural communities and the smaller cities and towns pay but a fifth of the income tax, they benefit more heavily than the cities in the distribution of its proceds, the report showed. Counties in which the fifteen larger cities are located pay about 83% of the state income tax, the report disclosed, while schools in these counties get only about one-third of the income tax money distributed back by the state. Rural communities and the smaller towns pay about 17% of the income tax, the report showed, and get about 66% of the school aid distributed from the tax.

Restaurants Will Post Ceiling Prices on Food Items, OPA Office Says

Restaurant patrons will soon be able to see and check the ceiling prices of the meals and food items they buy, Harold W. Bangert, OPA district director announced.

In cooperation with national restaurant industry advisory council, OPA has issued a restaurant ceiling price regulation which will become effective on July 31, 1944, requiring every public eating and drinking establishment to post prominently the prices of 40 base food items. The items will be selected by the OPA and the district restaurant advisory council which is meeting in Fargo this week. The posters for displaying the prices will be provided by the war price and rationing board. Each proprietor must list the 40 items selected in clearly legible lettering.

Posters muust be displayed by August 16, 1944, and three copies of the prices listed on the poster must be filed with the local board by August 23.

So. American Countries Extend Sanitation Pacts

Six of the other American republics have concluded new agreements with the United States for extension of the Inter-American health and sanitation program. They are Brazil, Mexico, Colombia, Peru, the Dominican Republic and El Salvador. The agreements are the first to be made for extension of the program which grew out of the Rio de Janeiro Conference of American Foreign Ministers. Nineteen American republics, including the United States, are cooperating in this program.

The new agreements call for a total of $16,250,000 in joint funds to carry on health and sanitation projects in the six republics to the south. Of this sum more than half is to be contributed by the other American republics and the balance by the United States, through the Institute of Inter-American Affairs, an agency of the Office of the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs. The Brazilian agreement sets up a joint fund of $8,000,000 over the next five years largely for continuance of health and sanitation projects in the Amazon and Rio Doce valleys in support of economic developments under way there. Brazil is underwriting $5,000,000 in this fund and the United States the rest. The Brazilian agreement was the first for extension of the program. The arrangement with Mexico calls for equal contributions towards a $5,000,000 fund for health work to be carried on for the next five years. The cooperative work in Mexico, as projected, includes provision of additional health facilities along the route of the Inter-American highway, and participation in campaigns for prevention and control of tuberculosis and other diseases along the 1,800-mile United States-Mexican border.

Soap Factor in Cleaning

The amount of soap used is a big factor in reducing the time needed to wash clothing clean. If the layer of suds partly subsides while the washing continues, the dirt which had been held in the suds will be released and will settle back into the clothing in the tub.

Edward Larson Killed in Runaway

Ed. Larson, farmer living two miles southwest of here, was instantly killed Thursday afternoon of last week when the horses he was raking hay with became frightened and bolted, throwing him under the rake, where he became entangled in the wheel causing instant death. Art Hagenbeck, whom Mr. Larson had just relieved on the rake, was the only witness of the tragic scene. He said the team seemed to shy at a switch with some leaves on that Mr. Larson had in his hand, which caused him to lean back on the seat and waving the switch in the air frightening the horses. The team then ran two short rounds on the meadow, then up to a fence, where the rake wheel ran into a post, releasing Mr. Larson's body.

Several other runaways also have been reported in this vicinity. On July 19, Stanley Holmes was injured when the pole broke in the rake, causing the horses to jolt and the pole stuck in the ground, throwing the rake and Stanley up from the ground and releasing the team from the rake. Stanley was taken to a Thief River Falls hospital where he was treated for a dislocated shoulder and bruises about the face.

Kermit Strandberg, age 16 also had a narrow escape when his team bolted when the draw pin came loose on his rake. In an attempt to jump off back of the seat he slipped and fell off in front. When he fell he touched off the trip in some way and the rake dumped as he went under.

Other runaways, two on rakes on the Emil Sorenson and Edward Anderson farms, and on other farm machinery on the Helmer Lind and Milford Rokke farms. Old times could hardly beat this.

World's Great[illegible]tomer!

EVERY HOME FRONT SHORTAGE stems from the needs of our Armed Forces . . . now in action or ready to fight in 65 different countries or islands around the world.

Symbol of our millions under arms, G. I. Joe is the world's greatest, most-deserving, high-priority customer.

As evidence of his tremendous consuming capacity, consider the fact that every day, 60,000,000 gallons of petroleum products go to our Armed Forces.

Let the figures sink in: 60,000,000 gallons a day! No wonder there is concern not only about current supply, but also about the nation's petroleum reserves.

With the same initiative and energy, which prompted its long peacetime research for new and better things from petroleum gases as well as from petroleum, Phillips is now actively engaged in speeding up production and discovering new sources of crude supply.

At every well, in every refinery, in every production unit, the spirit is: "Leave nothing undone which might contribute to an earlier victory." Twenty-four hours a day, Phillips best efforts are devoted to the production of petroleum products for the war effort: gasoline, lubricants, fuel oils, 100-octane, butadiene, and other synthetic chemicals.

That is why we say, every time you see the Phillips 66 Shield, let it remind you that Phillips great refineries are gigantic chemical plants pouring out weapons for victory.

Meet "G. I. Joe" -WAR HERO!

G. I. JOE—carrier pigeon—flew 20 miles in 20 minutes—delivering a message that saved the lives of at least 100 Allied soldiers in Italy.

Communications in their many forms are vital to the war. The Western Electric Company, manufacturing unit of the Bell System, is almost completely devoted to the production of radio, telephone and other related war equipment for the fighting forces. That's one of the reasons there's a shortage of telephone facilities here at home.

If all civilian requirements were to be met as in normal times, great new amounts of telephone equipment would be needed. Manufacture of these facilities must wait until the telephone factories can be released from war work and materials obtained for peace-time production.

Eyes Hop

In reading, the eyes of a person move forward in a series of hops, but every once in a while they turn back on the printed line. Eyes of poor readers generally make more regressive movements than eyes of good readers, but even the eyes of an expert reader make occasional back-hops.

Although there is great variation among individuals, eyes of children in early grades in school in reading a line of type move about 10 hops forward and three hops backward. In high school the forward hops are about six per line and the regressions reduced to one. In college the forward hops remain at about six, but there is only about one backward hop every other line.

MOVING Your 1944 GRAIN CROP

This year's bounty from the fruitful lands of the northern Great Plains states will be a richly-earned tribute to the indomitable farmers and ranchers who responded to embattled America's plea for more and more basic foodstuffs with what may be an all-time record production of grain.

It is a fight which is being won the hard way; for although Providence has been a beneficent ally, providing generously of sun and rain, agriculture's manpower problem was and still is a discouraging factor.

And, those who soon will have new grain to market should know now that manpower will be one of two important factors in the transportation of the 1944 crop. The other is the freight car supply.

Normally, Great Northern Railway mobilizes cars at strategic points in the system's territory many weeks in advance of harvesting, thus making equipment immediately available once the grain begins rolling to country elevators.

But, of course, this is not a normal year. Establishment of car reservoirs has been impossible because of the tremendous demand on the nation's railways for freight equipment necessary for transportation of war supplies and materials.

Unloading grain at markets is a manpower problem. Today, with a new harvest in progress, the Northwest's terminal markets are alarmingly undermanned. Another war-made labor shortage, this situation affects transportation of the 1944 crop, for unless your grain can be unloaded promptly at terminal markets and cars returned to the railway, the movement of your neighbors' crops will be delayed. It's a matter of keeping the cars moving!

Great Northern is constantly mindful of its obligation to agriculture in its territory, and has joined with government agencies, shippers' groups and terminal market operators in solving this new wartime emergency.

Meanwhile, the railway will do its best to keep on the green light for the speediest possible movement of this year's crop.

Keep Insecticides Out of Bathroom and Kitchen

Dusts and spray materials used in the control of insects and diseases in the garden should not be kept in the kitchen or in the bathroom.

Insecticides and fungicides should be kept tightly closed and be placed out of the children's reach. Store all of these materials in the same place and under lock and key, if possible.

It is particularly important to keep dusts tightly closed and away from any moisture. Rotenone and pyrethrum preparations keep better in darkness and in air-tight containers.

Since the more poisonous kinds of materials will have to be used more widely this year under war conditions, it is important that they not be left around the yard where children and pets may get into them.

Insecticides and fungicides are essential materials in the control of diseases and insects in the garden but they should carry a sign: "Handle With Care."

U. S. Decorates Residence To House Official Guests

Another famous residence in the nation's capital has been completely refurbished and decorated by the government for housing high official guests from foreign countries for whom the White House does not have adequate room, or the state and other government departments separate living accommodations. It is the celebrated Blair-Lee house, at 1637 Pennsylvania avenue, opposite the State department, and next door to Blair house, in which European kings and other heads of state have been accommodated on their visits to Washington.

The Blair-Lee house was so named because it was once the home of Betty Blair, a celebrated Washington belle who was a daughter of Francis Preston Blair. Betty Blair married and lived in the house with Admiral Samuel Phillips Lee, U. S. N., a distant cousin of General Robert E. Lee. The latter was offered command of the Union armies in the Blair house next door, shortly before he chose to cast his lot with the Confederacy.

A cursory glance would suggest that the Blair-Lee house and the Blair house constitute a single building, due to the similar paint styling, and in a sense, they are, for although architecturally separate, and actually painted in different tints, their close similarity of facade, which is practically unbroken, and the use for which they are intended, cements them into a single institution. The demands upon the Blair house have outgrown its capacity, and the Blair-Lee house will now constitute a suitable and dignified annex compatible with the requirements of distinguished national guests.

New Market

It was stated that cigarette makers have boosted estimates of their need from 10 million to 30 million pounds of syrup and that Michigan apple growers may find a new war-created market for their produce. The syrup, recently developed by the Eastern Regional Research laboratory, provides a sweetening, moisture-retaining feature which replaces war-needed glycerine in cigarettes.

Have a "Coke" = What's the hurry?

Between spells of duty at our southern outposts, the American soldier knows how to relax. Have a "Coke", says a thirsty Yank, and it's like a friendly invitation to fun or a chin-fest... the same as when you serve Coca-Cola in your home. From the Caribbean to the Arctic, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become the high-sign of friendliness in many places overseas.

Talking Back

"You're wrong, it was just last year that Joseph was here to see me," said Donald Smith, 10 years old, to his mother who was entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Clark, Mary and Joseph.

"Donald, don't contradict me. It was two years ago. Now, I said it was two years ago."

"But mother, it was on my birthday when I was nine years old, I know it was."

"Leave the table this minute, Donald, and do not return until you learn not to talk back," snapped Mrs. Smith irritably. Mrs. Smith then explained that she could only settle Donald's frequent arguments by breaking him off shortly and sending him out of the room.

A few minutes later, almost as if it had been planned, the same kind of question arose in the Clark family. Mrs. Clark: "It was in January, I believe, that Mary had the measles."

"No mother," interrupted Joseph, who was also ten years old, "it was in December because we got out of quarantine only a little while before Christmas."

Mrs. Clark, thoughtfully: "Are you sure? Let me think a minute . . . Yes, I believe you are right, Joseph, because I remember wondering how I was going to get my Christmas shopping done."

Within the short space of fifteen minutes, two mothers were faced with children who dared to contradict, who "talked back." There is no doubt that Mrs. Clark handled the "back talk" more wisely, but wherein the secret to her success?

Then, although the dispute began over a date, it was primarily over who was right. Mrs. Smith was not willing to be proved wrong. Mrs. Clark, on the other hand, stuck to the question, What was the date? She did not make it a personal issue. It was about the cold fact of a date. Keeping a question to the point, and not letting it become an issue between personalities as an art that, once learned, will ward off many a clash between parents and children.

Finally, Mrs. Smith failed to realize that Donald was only a child and had not yet learned how to make "smooth" contradictions. His denial was very blunt and crude. Had he said, "Are you sure, mother, that it was two years ago?", he probably would not have provoked her to anger. Good examples set by parents and teachers furnish the best methods of teaching social niceties in conversation and contribute to happy relations in the family circle.

RED CROSS NEWS NOTES

By Mrs. Millard Peterson
Publicity Chairman

We have been working on the four by eight dressings and the new ones are four by fours which will do up much faster, but this still means close to 5,000 to be averaged each week. We'll have to "step on it!" These dressings are urgently needed by doctors and nurses for our wounded "over there".

HOME FRONT DANGERS GREATER THAN BATTLE ZONE, SAYS RED CROSS

Figures released by the National Safety Council show that since Pearl Harbor accidents have killed 220,000 and injured 22,000,000 persons, while army and navy casualty lists, including D-day losses, prisoners of war and those missing in action, total little more than 250,000. Accidents in the home alone accounted for 75,000 deaths and 11,000,000 injuries. Such a comparison makes "safe at home" a meaningless phrase. Here thousands of miles from the battle fields, 11 persons are killed and 1,100 injured every hour.

The majority of accidents are avoidable and can be prevented by an adequate knowledge of accident hazards. A Red Cross accident prevention course to develop safety consciousness in the individual through inspection, detection and correction of accident hazards can be had for the asking, Herman A. Kjos, Chairman, informs us.

Accident figures showed a marked increase in 1943 over the preceding year, with 94,500 persons killed and 9,700,000 injured or permanently disabled.

Careful Workers

Women are more likely than men to be careful around machinery and observant of safety rules and regulations, Mary Anderson, director of the Women's bureau of the United States Department of Labor, said.

Most industrial plants using women for the first time because of wartime expansion have found that their fears concerning women on new machinery were unwarranted, Miss Anderson declared.

In one typical new war plant, in which both men and women were new to the work, 60 per cent of the more than 20,000 employees were women, Miss Anderson said. During the entire year of 1942 these women accounted for only one-third of the total number of compensated injuries — and they were on substantially the same work as men. Approximately one-fourth of the minor injuries were attributed to women.

HIGHWAY REPAIR WORK HAMPERED BY RESTRICTIONS

Inability to Get Materials May Block Numerous Projects

One-third to one-half of the tank cars now hauling road materials are being taken over by war agencies to transport fuel for war service, and heavy duty tires needed for road maintenance equipment have been moved far down on the priorities list, according to word received from Washington by M. J. Hoffmann, commissioner of highways. These latest handicaps are just two more in a series of events that have made road repair and maintenance this year more difficult than in any previous season in the Highway Department's history. In support of this statement, Mr. Hoffmann pointed out that:

"A series of wet years has been climaxed by the record-breaking rainfall of 1944. Rain fell on 5 of the 91 days in the months of April, May and June. Average rainfall throughout the state in these months was 13.78 inches or 4.75 inches above normal. Besides general heavy rainfall, local cloudbursts have caused many washouts and left many short stretches of highways under water.

"The 1944 spring break-up was the worst in many years. In spite of load restrictions on 6,548 miles of highway, damage to highway surfaces has been serious.

"Wartime hauling of food products and other essentials has resulted in a large increase in the number of heavily loaded trucks more than offsetting the decrease in passenger car travel as far as wear on the highways is concerned.

"The continued rains caused a delay in the start of summer repair work. This has been aggravated by the shortage of manpower, equipment and materials. For this reason a number of repair projects have been withdrawn from the season's program, and on some others advertised for letting, no bids have been received.

"As it looks now, many necessary repair projects must be dropped from the program and some jobs already started may not be completed," said Mr. Hoffmann. "Unless we get the materials and equipment needed for resurfacing it may become necessary to scarify some of the badly broken bituminous surfaces and reconvert them into ordinary gravel roads.

"In spite of these obstacles, the department must do its best to cooperate in the war effort. Minnesota is an agricultural state and food is one of the prime essentials for the fighting forces. We will maintain our highways in as good condition as is possible under the circumstances, in order that grains, livestock, dairy products, as well as pulpwood and other essentials, can be moved promptly and without waste."

SCORES OF NEW WAR EXHIBITS AT MINNESOTA FAIR

Displays to Dramatize the State's Role in Winning the War

Spectacular exhibits, dramatizing the role played by Minnesota homes, farms and factories in winning the war, will feature every department of Minnesota State Fair, August 26 to September 4, Secretary Raymond A. Lee announced today.

Latest results of man's careless search for new and improved farm crops and industrial products will hold center stage in every building and major display, said Lee, and emphasize the important part Minnesota is to play in the rehabilitation of Europe and Asia after the war.

Educational exhibits will include mammoth shows of fruits, corn, vegetables, grains, butter and cheese, work of state institutions, school exhibits, women's work, agricultural exhibits, poultry, bee products, cats and dogs, machinery, fish and game, and fine arts.

Thousands of exhibits will be shown in the 4-H building, largest of its kind in America, and hundreds of demonstrations of 4-H club work will be given daily. More than 2,500 winners of countrywide 4-H contests will compete for final statewide honors.

Meat Processing Causes Explosion at Goodridge

Interrupting the work of processing 16 two-quart jars of meat recently resulted in a dangerous accident at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Dahle of the Goodridge community. The fire was allowed to go out while a daughter was taken to consult a doctor, and when it was rebuilt to complete the processing, a terrific explosion resulted, all but one jar bursting and throwing meat and shattered glass all about the kitchen. Mr. Dahle, standing at the side of the stove, was covered with meat and glass, but escaped injury.

Widows and Children of Veterans Have Rights in Social Security Setup

John R. Goldman, manager of the Grand Forks office of the social security board, returned last week from a meeting at Fargo, where field office managers from several states and regional officials met for a two-day conference.

Rights of widows and children of veterans were thoroughly discussed. In the opinion of Mr. Goldman, there seems to be an erroneous idea that widows and children of veterans who were covered under the old-age and survivors insurance program are not entitled to monthly social security insurance payments if they receive benefits from other governmental agencies. "Veterans' widows should write or visit the nearest field office to see if they are entitled to monthly payments—or to a lump-sum payment—under the social security act," he stated.

The cases of persons 65 years of age or more who are planning to retire or who have retired from work in employment covered by the law were also a matter of concern to all managers attending the meeting. It was pointed out that a delay in the filing of applications for monthly old-age and survivor insurance payments may result in some loss of benefits.

Weigh Ships' Parts To Gain Most Space

Every part, large or small, going into the construction of some naval ships is accurately weighed. Not all ships of the U. S. navy are weighed, but when a new type of ship is to be built in a new yard, weights are carefully checked. Small scales measure items that weigh only a matter of a few ounces and there's another dock scale that weighs up to 20 tons. Special crane scales are used on larger units, such as anchor chains and large plates.

The reason for keeping accurate weight of ships, particularly of naval ships, is due to the fact that the total weight of a ship, with all it contains, is exactly equal to the weight of the water displaced by it, and as ships are limited in draft, a very particular feature of all ship design is to control the weights in every way possible so as to have in the naval vessel more weight available for both offensive and defensive purposes, and in the case of a cargo vessel, more weight available for cargo.

Weighing is only the first step. When the entire job is done, the figures must be placed in a certain order and totaled—results will accurately indicate precise weight of each unit or individual compartment of the ship. After the U. S. navy has checked and rechecked the data, it is filed away for use against the day when the ship will have to be repaired or converted.

FISH LEAPS FROM WATER TO BOAT

Ortonville.—O. B. Carlson and his 14-year-old granddaughter are avid fishermen and up until one recent afternoon all the fish they have caught have been brought out of the lake in the usual way—via bait, hook and line. While sitting in their boat recently, doing a bit of idle thinking (not about fish) a three-pound pickerel leaped from the water almost into their laps. In the twinkling of an eye, Leatrice had the fish securely strung.

MAMMOTH BAT

Glenwood.—A rare specimen of bat was found by Vernon Hamilton, a Montana visitor, a few nights ago. Strolling through the city park he noticed the animal at the bottom of the tree. It was not alive and apparently had been dead but a few minutes as a baby bat was still nursing. Measuring 18 inches across, the bat was at least two and a half as large as an ordinary one. Its fur was of different hues of color and about a quarter inch thick.

11 P. M. CURFEW CRITICIZED BY CITY COUNCIL

Contend Mayor Violated the Curfew Ordinance in Changing Hour

COUNCIL PURCHASES WINTER COAL SUPPLY

Red Lake Fuel Co., Robertson Lumber Company Share in Contract

The August session of the city council Tuesday evening was enlivened by a discussion of the recent action of the police, acting with the approval of Mayor W. J. Douville, in changing the curfew hour from 10 o'clock to 11 until the opening of the school term in September.

The matter was brought up by Alderman Ralph Hunt, who reported that he had heard numerous criticisms of the later hour. Mayor Douville countered by stating that he had received many compliments following the change, which he said was made at the request of children of the community.

Asked for an opinion as to the legality of the mayor's action, City Attorney Theodore Quale indicated that he had gone beyond the authority conferred by the city curfew ordinance, which authorizes a curfew hour later than 10 o'clock only on special occasions.

No definite action was taken, but after the meeting adjourned several councilmen expressed the view that if the curfew ordinance is not being properly administered, it might as well be repealed.

Only two bids were received for supplying the city with 275 tons of screenings to heat municipal buildings this winter, and the contract was awarded to the Red Lake Fuel company on its bid of $10.45 per ton for premium Kentucky screenings. To the Robertson Lumber company, sole bidder, was awarded the contract to supply approximately 40 tons of lump coal at $15.35 per ton.

The Forkenbrock Motor company, only bidder, was given the contract to furnish a new motor for the police car at a cost of $204.50, with the old motor to be turned in on the deal.

A group of five residents of North township adjoining the north city limits presented a petition requesting the extension of the city power lines to serve their homes. The matter was referred to the council light committee for a recommendation.

VOTERS APPROVE BUILDING GARAGE FOR SCHOOL BUSES

Definite Action on Project Awaits Granting of Priorities

Voters of Independent School District 18 who went to the polls in the Auditorium Monday evening were in almost unanimous agreement, for they voted 58 to 1 in favor of authorizing the board of education to proceed with plans for the erection of a school bus garage at a cost not to exceed $10,000. Preliminary estimates indicate that the project will cost approximately $7,000.

Supt. Philip L. Fjelsted stated this week that no reply had yet been received to the application for necessary priorities which was sent in to federal authorities a week ago.

He added that as soon as the project has been approved, the board will advertise for bids on construction of the building, which will be erected immediately south of the industrial arts building.

Rotarians Hear Talk on Vocational Training

Members of the Rotary club at their luncheon meeting Tuesday noon in the Evelyn hotel heard a discussion by Wilbur Keeling, vocational instructor in Lincoln high school, of the new vocational course to be offered during the coming school year, providing for part-time employment of students in local business places. Dr. O. F. Mellby also gave an account of his recent trip by air route to California.

All Set for Threshing Bee at Airport Sunday

A small army of volunteer threshermen, including local farmers and businessmen, next Sunday, August 13, will stage a blitz attack on a 200-acre field of shocked oats on the municipal airport site.

The threshing bee is sponsored by the Thief River Falls chapter of the National Aeronautics association under the direction of a general committee including H. W. Kinghorn, chapter president; Paul A. Lundgren and F. A. Rinkel.

Bob Petersen and Norman Peterson of the threshing committee estimate that more than 30 hard-working field pitchers will be required to feed maws of the Engelstad, Oen and Randorf threshing rigs, all three of which will aid in threshing the crop.

One of the busiest committees on duty Sunday will be the highly important lunch committee, with Carl Kretzschmar as major domo, assisted by Walt Larson and L. W. Rullen. Lunches and regular meals will overlap with mulligan stew as the principal dish.

Other committees sharing the responsibility for the bee include grain hauling: Bill LaFave, Ernest Barzen and Bill Thompson. Bundle hauling: Cal Toomey, Paul Engelstad, Carl Finstad, Stuart McLeod, Roy Oen and Bob Petersen. General help: John Lind, Russell E. Olson and Norman Peterson. Publicity and water boys: H. A. Baumann, Ole Ekeren and W. E. Dahlquist.

Mr. and Mrs. Emery Hallameck Honored on Fiftieth Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Emery Hallameck residents of the St. Hilaire community since 1920, observed their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, August 6. The children and grandchildren gathered for a family dinner at noon and open house was held in the afternoon and evening, a large number of neighbors and friends calling to congratulate the honored couple. The dinner was served at a table beautifully decorated with bouquets of yellow roses ad centered by a three-tiered wedding cake baked by one of the daughters, Mrs. Clarence Engen of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

The couple received a purse of money and other gifts by those present. The guests were especially interested in a table on which were displayed a number of gifts received at the original wedding fifty years ago.

Although Mr. and Mrs. Hallameck (nee Anna Haberman) were married Oct. 2, 1894, the reunion was held at this time, as several members of the family would have been unable to be present for the observance of the occasion in October.

Following their marriage at Fulda, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. Hallameck made their home on a farm near Kinbrae. In 1920 they moved to the St. Hilaire community, settling on a farm south of St. Hilaire, which has since been their home. Nine children were born to this union, eight of whom are living. All were present for the reunion except Miss Julia Hallameck of New York City, who was home earlier in the summer. The couple have four grandchildren, who were also present.

ATTENDANCE AT COUNTY FAIR IS NEAR 1942 MARK

GATE RECEIPTS FOR EVENT TOTAL $4,217

Grandstand Audiences Well Pleased with Quality of Entertainment

After getting off to a slow start last Wednesday due to several heavy showers, the 43rd Pennington county fair Thursday attracted an attendance that came close to setting an all-time record, followed by another big turnout on Friday, the closing day.

While accurate attendance figures were not available, a total of $4,217.62 was collected at the gate, Secretary A. F. Berge reported, this figure comparing with $4,045 at the last fair held in 1942. Grandstand receipts this year aggregated $2,663.50, compared to $2,827 in 1942. With expenditures estimated to be slightly less than two years ago, fair officials estimated that a small profit would result from the 1944 event.

Secretary Berge announced that premium checks, aggregating approximately $1,500, would be ready for distribution to exhibitors next week.

Grandstand audiences were well agreed that the stage show, "Allies Victorious", furnished pleasing entertainment, with a well-drilled chorus and attractive costumes and background. Also making a hit with the crowds were the vaudeville and circus acts, including aerialists, pony and bicycle acts and comedians.

2.72 In. Deluge of Rain Damages Crops Tuesday

Prospects of garnering one of the best small-grain crops in this locality in recent years were set back Tuesday night by a terrific downpour of rain, accompanied by a high wind, that badly lodged fields of ripe grain, making it difficult to harvest the crop. A considerable portion, however, was already in shock.

Pennington county was fortunate in escaping the worst of the wind in Tuesday night's storm, which inflicted widespread damage on farm buildings and trees in Red Lake county, altho the rainfall there was less heavy than here.

Dr. L. R. Twete, local veterinarian, who was in Red Lake Falls last night, reported that in the area from Brooks to Wylie approximately forty farm buildings had been damaged by the gale, of which ten were completely razed, in addition to which the roof of the Red Lake Falls school house was damaged to the extent of $5,000.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

What Made Our Invasion a Success?

With 57 blue stars on our Service Flag, our town's been mighty excited over the way things are progressing on the Continent.

"Shucks," says Bob Newcomb happily, "I knew we were going to lick them Nazis, soon as the Invasion started."

"I knew it before that," says Doc Hollister. "I knew it from the way our boys were getting along with their British buddies in those English camps. They had a lot of differences to overcome before they could work together as a team. And they overcame 'em."

From where I sit, Doc's mighty right. The success of our Invasion began months ago—when the English Tommies and the GI Joes got together over friendly beer, and games of darts—and learned to like each other in spite of differences in tastes and habits.

And that spirit of tolerance and understanding between men and nations will go far towards building a secure Peace, too.

Sam Brandvold Writes of Conditions in San Francisco Bay Region

Sam Brandvold, who with Mrs. Brandvold, has been living in the San Francisco Bay area in California since last November, writes the Times an interesting letter dealing with conditions on the West Coast. He says he doesn't like the weather, which is cold and foggy every day until well into the afternoon.

"The more I learn about California," Mr. Brandvold writes, "the better I like dear old Thief River Falls, not merely because I happen to be one of the oldest settlers there, but also because my old home town is up to date and ahead of many other towns far larger".

He also pointed out that Thief River Falls, in contrast to most West Coast communities, owns its own power plant, waterworks system and sewage disposal plant.

RED CROSS NEWS NOTES

By Mrs. Millard Peterson
Publicity Chairman

There are 15,000 dressings left to be made up before the end of the month and only three weeks to finish them in. During the last two weeks 7,000 dressings were made, but we'll have to do even better the rest of the month to finish our quota, because we have received notice of the next shipment of gauze. This means there will be no let-up in the need and that bigger and bigger dressings reserves must be built. The few workers that we have are spurred by the knowledge that the dressings are being used to help our wounded men in the invasion zone and have shown a splendid spirit.

Mrs. L. W. Rullen, dressings chairman, has stated that the monthly average of dressings in the next six months is expected to be more than 100,000,000. In addition to meeting army requirements, the Red Cross has established a reserve supply of dressings for the navy. Mrs. Rullen said that more volunteers can always be accommodated in the room any Monday afternoon, Monday evening and Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday afternoon. We can make use of all the willing hands we can enroll. Until the end of the war there can be no lagging in this important work.

A new pamphlet, "The Red Cross with the Armed Forces" is here and will be left on the registration table at the work room. Will each one please take a copy and feel free to take any material that is left on the table?

Quentin Jones, Red Cross instructor, has announced a new list of swimmers taking instruction at the Tindolph bathing beach. The records show over fifty boys and girls learning to swim. Those added to the list are: Swimmers: Veronica Mullen, Robert Helquist, Donald Adolphson, Leslie Knutson, and Cyril Johnson. Intermediate: Morris Owen, Jr., Kathryn Vorachek, Gerald Hedlund, Harry Simons. Beginners: Nancy Abbot, Dick Bjorkman, David Beadle, David Fast, David Korsmo, Marvin Jorde, Kenneth Jones, Paul Green, Varner Beals, and Gerald Balland.

RED CROSS ADVISES

If you have not already gone on vacation and want the fullest enjoyment, remember the three T's. They are "temperature, tetanus, and ticks". "When temperature is high, take your sun gradually. Cover up before you get red. Eat salt, in tablet form or the common table variety, as you prefer. Lunch lightly. Remember that common sense is called for indoors as well as out, for heat stroke in a cottage is just as serious as sunstroke on a golf course. Tetanus (Lockjaw) spores lurk in cultivated soil. Even a small puncture of the skin is big enough for these spores to get through. Don't ignore a cut, a blister on your hand, a scratch from a briar. There's no trifling with tetanus.

Red Cross further advises us. "Ticks transmit spotted fever. If one settles on you, remove him—the poison usually is not transmitted until after a few hours. Use tweezers or a piece of paper, and don't leave his head imbedded in your skin. Don't crush the tick and thereby spread his poison on your skin. If he is imbedded, a gentle twisting motion will help in extricating him. So will a lighted cigarette held near him. And if you want to take this caution business seriously, "Watch out for poison ivy".

Municipalities Report Higher Fire Losses

Increases in municipal fire protection costs and fire losses for the last year over 1942 were reflected in the 4 per cent increase, in general, in wages and salaries for fire fighters during 1943. Cost of the pay increases was around 14 cents per capita.

Fire losses during the last year were 20 to 25 per cent higher than losses reported for 1942 for all population classes of cities—the result both of a higher number of building fires and a higher average loss per building fire.

Another increase in the over-all picture, the survey shows, was in the fire department personnel field; there was a small increase—1 per cent—in fire fighting personnel.

Recruitment and training problems faced by all municipal fire departments last year were greatest in the smaller cities—those of the 10 to 25 thousand population class—which lost one out of every four employees. Turnover rates for fire department personnel corresponded closely with those of police departments, which ranged up to about 18 per cent for cities in some population groups.

TRAFFIC DEATHS DOUBLE IN JULY COMPARED TO '43

35 Deaths Reported During Month from Traffic Accidents

Death took no holiday in Minnesota in July. Thirty-five deaths due to motor vehicle traffic accidents have so far been reported to the Minnesota highway department. This is more than double the number in July, 1943, which had a low record of 16 fatalities. It is, however, no more than in July, 1942, when 35 were killed, and less than half the 72 killed in July, 1941.

Fatalities in July were the highest in any month in 1944, February with 30 being second. The total for 1944 is now 179, compared to 122 in the same months in 1943, 271 in the same months in 1942 and 295 in the same months in 1941.

Ten persons were killed when cars left the road, five of them striking fixed objects, four overturning, and one going into a lake where the driver drowned. Faulty equipment was believed responsible in several of these cases, and high speed was a contributing factor in some cases.

Collisions with trains at grade crossings were the cause of seven deaths. Four of these occurred in one accident. Four of the seven victims were boys under 18.

Three youngsters under five were killed, two after running from behind parked cars into the path of moving vehicles and one by falling out of a moving vehicle. One boy of 15 was crushed by a truck.

Eight pedestrians from 44 to 75 years old were killed in July, four while walking in roads or crossing streets, three were crushed between moving vehicles and one was hit while hailing a taxicab.

One man was killed when his car hit a deer on the road. One boy was suffocated in a stock truck when the load shifted against him in a turn of the road.

Two boys on bicycles met death in traffic accidents. One of them, while carrying a passenger, collided with a backing truck. One came out of an alley into the path of a moving car.

By a score of 58 to 1 the voters of this district authorized the school board to proceed with their plans for building a garage to house their transportation equipment. In the neighborhood of three thousand voters were not sufficiently interested in the question to journey to the polls. We can't be bothered with such nickle and dime deals as the expenditure of a mere seven or eight thousand dollars.

Ernie Palmer guesses that volunteer shockers have shocked 2,400 acres of grain to date. That is a good record but the job is not yet completed and because of wet weather the need for workers is still critical. This battle of the home front has not yet been won.

The weather man, who until a week ago had a very fine record for the season, has lost a lot of friends hereabouts during these last few days. Sure we needed rain but we didn't ask for floods. The heavy rains no doubt have done some good but they have also done a great deal of harm and many a farmer's bright crop prospects have been dimmed for this season.

It is now predicted that our already fast-moving fighters of the Pacific war will move still faster in the months ahead of us and that occupation of the Philippines can be expected as the next major development. Establishing a foothold in the Philippines may not be as difficult as our occupation of some of the smaller islands already taken, but driving the Japs out of the Philippines is going to be more than a week-end chore. The islands are large as well as numerous and the Japs no doubt will fight stubbornly to hold them. In this battle, however, we will have the support of friendly natives who probably are already organized to help us. Once we have bases established our superior sea and air power should be just as effective in the Philippines as they were in New Guinea.

Many hands make the work light is an old proverb that has been proven true again by the harvesting of the crop on the city's landing field south of town. Two hundred acres of oats was put into shocks in very few hours, and next Sunday, weather permitting, these two hundred acres of oats will be threshed in jig time. The proceeds of this crop will go into the coffers of the airport association for development of landing facilities. Some of the brothers who will be launching bundles at this threshing bee look forward to the time when they will be able to launch their ship into the air from these same acres.

After a bad first day the county fair really came to life and close to a record crowd jammed the grounds Thursday night, assuring the financial success of this year's venture. More gratifying than the good attendance, however, was the very fine 4-H Club exhibit. In spite of everything the youngsters came through and rang the bell with an exceptionally complete display of their handiwork. This year's fair differed from o s chiefly in the hours of activity. It was strictly a night fair, the grounds being practically deserted during the day. This difference is easily explained. During the day people worked.

At least three Thief River Falls boys, maybe more, participated in the battle for Guam, that pin point on the map of the Pacific that was the jumping-off spot for Manila-bound planes before the war. Our community was well represented in this fight, as it seems to have been in most of the other important battles of the war. When the war is out and over and the men have returned home we will be able to get first hand reports on practically every skirmish from the fellows who live right here in our community. And what yarns they will be able to spin.

Wind and rain did a lot of damage Tuesday night but not all of the damage was confined to crops and farm buildings. Many basements in town were flooded, causing some loss and much inconvenience. Some day the good people of our city are going to rise in righteous indignation and build themselves a swell system of storm sewers. Like the roof that never gets shingled because when it doesn't rain it doesn't need shingles and when it rains it can't be shingled, our storm sewer system is thought of only in extremely wet weather. It really isn't necessary to continue a condition that forces all our people to pound plugs into floor drains every time a cloud appears.

Fat Cattle Fetch Top Prices at So. St. Paul

New record prices have been paid for fat cattle at the South St. Paul market recently, reports the Central Cooperative Association. On August 3, 13 head of prime 1222-pound Hereford steers owned and fed by Geo. Cooper of Walnut Grove sold through the Central Cooperative association at $17.75. On July 27, Lloyd Guimond of Tracy, Minn., marketed 37 choice Hereford steers, averaging 1251 pounds at $17.35 and on July 26, Milford Davis of Worthington marketed 23 Herefords, averaging 1218 pounds at the same price. Looking Backward

1934—TEN YEARS AGO

It was estimated by fair officials that more than 40,000 persons attended the 1934 Pennington county fair, setting a new high mark.—A house in Rustad's addition occupied by the George Christo family was destroyed by fire.—E. M. Bennes began his ninth term as president of the local board of education.—Rasmus Oen returned from the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago in time to observe his 70th birthday August 6.—Many local citizens were included in a crowd of 10,000 that greeted President Roosevelt when his train stopped briefly at Grand Forks.

1924—TWENTY YEARS AGO

Harold Olson, for four years manager of the cooperative creamery here, resigned to accept a similar post at Barnesville.—Mrs. Della Zeh was appointed to succeed her husband, Emil Zeh, as a member of the local park board.—Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Swedenburg were slightly injured when their car was struck by another east of the city.—E. O. Mogenson was reelected president of the board of education at its organization meeting.—Ed. Odelien, Soo Line employe, suffered a compound fracture when a plank fell on his leg while working in the local yards.

Pulpwood Needed for Vast Number of Boxes for Military Purposes

Military requiremets for V-boxes alone in 1944 will consume more than a million cords of pulpwood to manufacture between 385,000,000 and 440,000,000 units, according to the war activities committee of the pulpwood consuming industries.

Authoritative government sources state that present estimates call for 385,000,000 V-boxes this year but predict that the demand may increase to 440,000,000 because of expanded military operations in Europe and the Pacific.

During May this year, 31,517,000 solid fiber and 9,629,000 corrugated V-boxes were produced, a total of 41,146,000 boxes, according to the WPB Forest Products Bureau. This is at an annual rate of 493,752,000 boxes, and the demand continues to increase.

At least 1,000,000 cords of pulpwood will be needed to manufacture these famed paper-board boxes which often are treated to withstand wide variations of temperature, sea water and rain, and rough handling. And the V-boxes are but one type of packaging used in the shipment of supplies overseas.

The V-box was developed early in the war, the committee recalled, after the old type of cardboard container failed to withstand the extreme climates and the rough handling encountered in overseas shipments. Now it can be found on every battle front.

HORSE AND BUGGY DELIVERY AT CHISHOLM

Chisholm.—The community isn't actually going back to the "gay nineties", as a first glance at the delivery horse and buggy being used by a local meat dealer might suggest. The proprietor of the market, with a sincere desire to abide by ODT rulings and at the same time give his customers the best service possible has purchased the old fashioned horse and buggy so that he may deliver meat to customers on the days which he cannot use his delivery truck.

The 500,000 restaurants in this country employ on an average of three persons each.

Dr. Francis E. Townsend says—My faith has never wavered. I knew that the Townsendites could do it. A lot of people who used to laugh at us will find themselves laughing out of the other side of their mouths when they wake up some morning this fall and find the Townsend plan, that "crazy" old Townsend plan, has actually become a law of the land. It is all right for us to congratulate ourselves, but let us not forget to thank that divine power which has watched over us and guided us through the years. Without that backing, no cause wins. Townsendites have had it because throughout the years of slander and ridicule they have stayed humble and unselfishly worked for the good of the whole citizenry. 33p

Appreciation

We take this means of expressing our sincere appreciation for the cash gifts presented to us by the people gathered at the Reiner Y.P.S. at the beautiful farm home of Andrew Wells on Sunday. We were both so surprised and touched by your thoughtfulness and generosity that it was impossible to really express ourselves. In Memoriam

Twilight once again has fallen,
Gently laid to rest each day
And it finds your loved ones lonely,
Through the years you've been away.

God alone can know what sorrow
Grips our hearts in throbs of pain,
Since you left us, daughter, sister,
And crossed beyond that far domain;

When each day so gently closes,
An morning dawns so bright and clear;
May loving Jesus guard you always;

In loving memory of our daughter and sister Maybelle who passed away August 8, 1932.

LIP READER

Old Sam had been watching intently and worriedly the stranger sitting on the box beside him alongside the general store stove. Finally he spoke:

"Stranger, I knew I was getting deaf but I didn't know I was this bad. I kin see your lips moving but I can't hear you speaking at all."

Poor Pop

Jimmy—How could you do that?

Billy—I offered a lady my seat in the bus.

Jimmy—I don't see why that should bother your father?

Ain't It the Truth?

Mrs. Jones—Nowadays with rationing and everything, one can't trust anybody. The grocer gave me a bad quarter this morning.

Mrs. Smith—Let me see it.

Mrs. Jones—I'm sorry, I gave it to the butcher.

Smart Fellow

Jones—I notice whenever somebody comes around with a new theory, you endorse it. Why's that?

Smith—I'd rather endorse it than have it explained to me.

Not So WACY

LOCAL BALL CLUB WINS FROM GRAND FORKS; SCORE 14-1

Almquist, on Mound for the Locals, Registers 14 Strikeouts

The local ball team, recording its fifth win in a row, pounded three Grand Forks Armour's hurlers for 15 hits Sunday afternoon to score an easy 14 to 1 decision in a game played on the East Grand Forks diamond. Next Sunday afternoon the two teams will meet in a return engagement playing on the Fair Grounds diamond here.

Woody Almquist, Blackie Stephens, and Rube Rosendahl led the locals' attack Sunday, with Almquist bouncing three doubles off the fence, Stephens collecting a double and a triple, and Rosendahl getting three singles.

O. Skyberg accounted for the Armour's lone run, driving one of Woody Almquist's slants over the fence for a homerun in the 2nd inning. But in his following three times at bat, Skyberg was a strikeout victim.

Almquist, in racking up his fourth triumph, scattered 5 hits and added 14 strikeouts to his list. In the five games Almquist has hurled for the locals, the stocky right-hander has fanned 74 batsmen.

Two Moeller Twins See Action in Current War

Victor Moeller, gunners mate third class in the U. S. navy, left Sunday for San Francisco after a brief leave spent at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Moeller. He has been stationed the past year in the South Pacific, and has seen a lot of action. His parents also have received word that his twin brother, Pvt. Virgil Moeller, entered Normandy with the U. S. invasion forces on D-Day and fought there until July 26, following which he went to England on a short furlough.

UNCLE SAM NEEDS IT NOW... YOU'LL NEED IT LATER

TO PUSH THE ATTACK — to drive Hitler and Tojo off the deep end, Uncle Sam needs more money than ever before. To raise this money we have all got to do the biggest job of its kind in all history.

None of us can lag. We must keep backing the attack. War costs going higher and higher mean just one thing — we, the people, must buy more War Bonds than ever before.

So, when you are asked to buy, don't put it off. Don't, of all things, say you can't afford more bonds. Make up your mind that you will buy more than you ever did before. It will mean more money for Uncle Sam driving for victory — and security for you to the extent you buy and keep bonds.

If you ask for Hamm's Preferred Stock Beer and your dealer has none, it probably is because Uncle Sam has first call, but ask, nevertheless.

PROPOSE PLAN TO RECORD ALL POLIO VICTIMS IN AREA

Project Begun by National Infantile Paralysis Foundation

The Pennington county chapter of The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has been asked to compile a comprehensive record of all infantile paralysis victims now residing in this area.

Intended mainly to serve as a guide to expanding the services of the chapter, this county compilation will also form an integral part of the nationwide survey undertaken by the national foundation to further its pledge of assuring aid to all polio victims regardless of age, race, creed or color.

Andrew Anderson, chairman of the Pennington county chapter, also announced that members of its women's division, headed by Mrs. Basil Westacott will assist in compiling this data. Records will be made in duplicate so that a copy may be sent to headquarters of the National Foundation to complete the statistical data for the entire nation.

From information already furnished by a number of chapters of the national foundation, it has been determined that many unsuspected needs exist. In some instances, handicapped polios hitherto unknown to the local chapter, were found to be in need of wheelchairs, crutches or other orthopedic appliances, as well as medical and surgical care. Others needed help in arranging for transportation to and from hospitals and clinics, or schools and places of employment.

The local chapter stands ready to assist in all these ways, backed by the funds contributed each year through the March of Dimes for just such purpose. The chapter retains fifty per cent of all monies collected to carry on this service. The other fifty per cent, which goes to national headquarters, helps support the nationwide medical and research program, and, in epidemic emergencies, is used to provide all assistance to any stricken area.

It is suggested that anyone now residing in Pennington county who has had infantile paralysis, or whose children have been stricken, can greatly assist in this survey by notifying their chapter chairman, Andrew Anderson or Mrs. Westacott.

Minnesota AFL Unions Invest $3,500,000 in Fifth War Loan Bonds

Unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor in Minnesota and their members invested more than $3,500,000 in Fifth War Loan bonds during the drive last month, according to Ray J. Greengard, deputy manager of the Minnesota War Finance Committee labor division. Greengard said that the investments in this drive were largest in any of the drives to date. During the fourth war loan, Minnesota AFL unions invested $2,800,000, Greengard said. His check on investments showed that purchases by individuals in the labor movement ran somewhat over $3,000,000, with local unions investing $500,000 of union funds, he said.

U. S. Merchant Marine Needs More Men, Officer States in Minneapolis

As V-Day draws nearer, more and more men will be needed in the U. S. merchant marine, Lieut. (j. g.) David J. Brecht, U. S. Maritime Service regional enrolling officer in Minneapolis, declared today.

"The battle of supply becomes more important," he said, "as the number of our invasion fronts increase. As the front lines come closer to the enemy, the supply lines become longer. Then more ships and more men are needed."

With five new ships coming down the ways every day, he explained, it is necessary to obtain a continuous supply of volunteers for merchant marine duty. Men from 16 to 17½ are answering the call of the sea in the greatest numbers.

Physical requirements are so strict, however, that many youths do not qualify, Mr. Brecht said. Volunteers must be 5 feet 4 inches tall and weigh at least 130 pounds. In addition they must have the consent of both parents on notarized forms. All applicants must have their birth certificates with them, and men 18 and over must have referral cards from the U. S. employment service.

Inexperienced men from 26 to 50½ are also qualified for enrollment in the maritime service. Men of any age with selective service classifications ending in "F" or "L", may be qualified for sea duty in the steward department or administrative duty at enrolling offices or training stations. The regional enrolling office for this area is located in Room 110 Federal Court House, Minneapolis 1, Minn.

CRITICAL STATUS AS TO LARGE TIRES IS CITED BY OPA

New Method Is Developed for Allotting Truck and Bus Tires

The number of large truck and bus tires allotted to the Office of Price Administration for rationing during August is the smallest since rationing began, Harold W. Bangert, OPA district director announced.

The August quota of 60,000 of size 8.25 and larger, including reserves held at national, regional and district offices, is far below the total required to provide tires for all trucks and buses needing them, Mr. Bangert said.

As a result of the reduction, OPA has authorized district offices to form temporary emergency truck tire rationing panels to pass upon applications and issue certificates for heavy truck and bus tires, since the total quota is too small for effective division among the country's 5,500 local War Price and Rationing Boards.

During the last four months the quota has averaged between 125,000 and 130,000 heavy duty truck tires monthly. The office of defense transportation estimates that a minimum of 165,000 large size tires are needed each month during the third quarter to keep the present number of trucks and buses on the road.

Meanwhile, to meet the problem of rationing out the greatly reduced quota of 60,000 tires now certified (an average of less than a dozen tires for each of OPA's 5,500 local boards), the temporary panel expedient has been adopted.

Under the temporary plan, truck and bus operators will continue to apply for tires to their local boards. Instead of the board passing finally on the applicant's need, however, the application will be routed to a special truck tire rationing panel. This panel will be selected from rationing boards within an OPA district. The panel will be made up of present board members and will be advised by tire specialists from the OPA and transportation specialists from the ODT district offices.

The emergency panels will be instructed, because of the greatly reduced quotas, to use even greater care in screening applications than has been used in the past. The panels must make certain that trucks most essential to the war effort and the civilian economy get tires.

The OPA has been advised that the reasons for the drastic cut in heavy truck tire quota are threefold:

1. A shortage of manpower skilled in the manufacture of these large-size heavy duty tires.
2. An increase in the number of large-size airplane tires, resulting in a diversion of materials and manpower from the production of truck tires.
3. The military services have increased their demands for large size tires. This is particularly true in the very large sizes (12.00 and over). Approximately 93 per cent of production of these tires has been allocated to the armed forces.

Golf League's Final Round

If the various captains can lure their team members to the course Friday evening, the Victory golf league will play its final set of scheduled matches. The matches slated to be played, and there are several that have a direct bearing on the league standings, are: Lincoln Life vs. J & B Drugs; Soo Line vs. Oen's; Poppler's Furniture vs. Hartz Bakery; Bratrud Clinic vs. Pharmacy; and the Firestone vs. Wangenstein's.

With final league standings decided, the tournament committee can go ahead and complete the arrangements for the championship playoffs, with the league's four top ranking teams participating.

Should Be in Condition

If keeping busy during the summer vacation will put a squad in shape, coach Glenn Hanna's ten returning football lettermen should be in A-1 physical condition when practice begins a month from now. Herb Claffy and Bob Baker are employed at the Tindolph park pool; Chuck Richards is with O'Hara's Transfer; Ninak Carlson is a section hand with the Great Northern; Wes Hovle is the strong man at Jung's Bakery; Bill Nelson is with Danielson's Electric, re-winding dynamos; Alan Thompson is on a City Dairy route; Manny Forsberg is employed at the Forsberg shop; Les Vigness is working at the Independent market; and Rog Tunberg is at his dad's garage.

Other Prowler football prospects who are working in town are: Phil Headle, end at Appleton last year, working at Hartz Bakery; Cliff Aase on the Great Northern section; and Jimmy Cerny, who's working at the Soo Line roundhouse. Larry Rullen and Dick O'Hara are employed in a shipyard near Seattle.

Yes, the boys should be in shape. That is, if they don't do too much "social lionizing" in the meantime.

Such Hitting!

As a team, the locals, in six games, are hitting at a .290 clip, but that's due largely to Woody Almquist's terrific clouting. A breakdown of the individual averages reveals some startling facts. Almquist, with 14 hits in 29 tries, has a mark of .483; Gordy Reierson with a .388; Blackie Stephens with a .333; and Rube Rosendahl with a .317, are the only boys above .300. The other boys are hitting (?) like this: Bob Baker, .208; Jimmy Welton, .167; Arlo Jacobson, .154; Orry Aase, .150; Wally DuChamp, .148; and Red Bossman, .136. Wait until J. and Bob DuChamp notice that average of brother Wally's, a .148! Wally has re-fitted his glasses, so he claims that his average should boost considerably in the remaining games on the schedule.

And the locals will have an opportunity to tack some points on their averages when they meet the Armour's of Grand Forks here Sunday. But it is rumored that the Armour's won't be the "easy pickings" they were at East Grand last Sunday, for they will have several of Grand Forks junior legion players in their lineup. Glenn Bye, pitcher, and Jerry Zeman, catcher, are reported as Armour players.

Still Going Up

Had an interesting letter from Homer Matheson this week. Homer, along with Don Michalsky, Lloyd Lund, and Allen Conner, is at San Antonio, Texas, in the Army Air Force. They're all in SAACC and have just completed their pre-flight course, and Homer states that he will move on to advanced navigation, and that Don, Lloyd, and Allen will go into primary (pilot) training.

Homer included in his letter a poem clipped from "Yank", an army magazine, written in England by a Pfc. John Bahm, and which states "We are young men whose roots have been left far behind; in strange places called Brooklyn and Sacramento and Tucson and Thief River Falls . ." Homer wondered where the author picked up Thief River Falls, perhaps his buddy is from here.

Fred's Fine Walleye

Fred Protz, fishing at Medicine lake, north of Bemidji, on Sunday caught a 7-pound walleyed pike, and can now lay claim to walleyed pike fishing championship of the Post Office. Fred, fishing with his son Jerry and Andy Williamson and Andy's son Allen, was using a weedless red-and-white plug when he made the catch.

The pike, which was not weighed until Tuesday evening, tipped the postal scales, and they're accurate, at seven pounds, and in length the fish was 27 inches.

Fred tells me that he didn't get very excited; but you should see him when he relates how he made the catch. Well, a pike that size is worth being excited about.

FARM HELP NEED IS MOST ACUTE IN NORTHWEST AREA

Extension Service Chief Announces Demand Is Well Met Elsewhere

With the state's demand for harvest workers well met in all sections, other than the Red River Valley, the agricultural extension service, in charge of farm help recruitment, last week referred out approximately 12,000 workers, Paul E. Miller, state agricultural extension service chief, reported.

"The Red River Valley," Miller said, "is harvesting one of its best crops and there is a considerable demand for works in that area, in excess of the local supply. Workers are bing recruited in other parts of the state, particularly the counties north of the Twin Cities. Last week, they moved to the Red River Valley from Aitkin, Cass and Clearwater and southern St. Louis counties."

The peak of the demand is expected this week, if weather conditions permit normal harvest operations. At the peak of the demand last year, the county agents placed approximately 15,600 workers during the busiest week.

WPB Requests Saving of Paper Board Cartons

David J. Winton, regional director WPB, today called attention to the fact that many manufacturers and distributors of civilian products are having serious difficulty in obtaining sufficient packaging materials.

After meeting the great demands of the armed services for container board, Mr. Winton stated, there is not a sufficient supply on hand to permit manufacturers of civilian goods to use the same amount consumed in former years. The supply of container board available for domestic use is being allocated to manufacturers and packers on a quota basis.

He urged all retailers not to destroy a paper board carton that is in good condition and to return the cartons to the manufacturers for reuse. Retailers are also asked to otherwise conserve on paper products, wrapping paper, and paper bags in order to meet the present shortage.

Beaver Population Down Sharply in Minnesota

According to the census of Minnesota beaver colonies conducted for the past three years, the number of colonies has decreased each year. In 1943 the drop was serious, amounting to 32.4 per cent. In addition, most game wardens believed that the colonies were of smaller average size than in 1942 and 1941. State game biologists, therefore, recommend that because the beaver population has been considerably reduced by the three consecutive open seasons of 1941, 1942, and 1943, that no open season be declared again until the population has recovered at least to the 1941 level or higher.

Mr. Berg was born in the northern part of Norway on December 13, 1864 and came to America with his parents in the year 1876, coming to Rushford, Minn., where the family remained until spring when they moved on a farm near Spring Grove, Minn. In the spring of 1878 they moved to a farm near Ada, where he grew to manhood. On December 5, 1892 he was united in marriage to Bertha Dullum. Shortage of Dry Cell Batteries May Hamper Users of Hearing Aids

Fargo, August 8.—The office of civilian requirements of the War Production board today urged users of vacuum tube hearing aids to conserve their "B" batteries in every way possible, because of the increased demand of the military for dry cell batteries. Military requirements exceed current production by about 30 per cent, announced W. A. McMillan, Fargo WPB district office manager. Dry cell batteries are used in radio communication, mine detection and in many specialized types of military equipment employed in ground, sea and air operations; it is anticipated that some shortages of hearing aid "B" batteries will appear in the next few months, unless users make every effort to conserve the ones they now have.

PULPWOOD NEEDED TO SPEED VICTORY

You have been reading about the wartime need for pulpwood. Today the need is greater than ever before. Our offensives in Europe and the Pacific have greatly increased military requirements for supplies and equipment made of pulpwood or packed in paper or paperboard made of pulpwood. It has become an A-1 war material.
It's a Wartime Job
Pulpwood cutting has been recognized by the War Manpower Commission and the Selective Service System as an essential occupation.
With a Post-War Future
But pulpwood production is different from most war industries. It will continue on the same scale after the war.
Cut pulpwood today because it is both patriotic and profitable. Your county agent, forester, or mill buyer will tell you about the peak wartime prices being paid for it.
Now's the time to get into a business which will continue to pay good dividends when peace returns.

NEWFOLDEN

New Stop Signs Installed

The Soo Line installed new stop signs Monday afternoon on both sides of the railroad crossing by the depot. The signs are the reflection kind and can be noticed very plainly. On a half hour checkup after the signs were installed only one automobile stopped. The agent and section foremen have orders to take license numbers of cars that do not stop and report them. It is also expected a further checkup by officials. So in order to avoid trouble and for safety's sake it may be well worth the time to get used to stopping before crossing the R. R. track.

They are patient about waiting

because these Long Distance calls mean so much

A soldier has to line up for a lot of things but we don't like to see him wait too long for a Long Distance call.

Would you mind helping a little by saving the wires from seven to ten for the service men?

IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS!

Clarkfield.—Remodeling a local meat shop, carpenters came across some interesting old account books which not only reminded one of the one-crop systems of the 1878 to 1890 days, when accounts ran until the fall of the year when threshing money rolled in but gave some startling meat costs. A few of the meat charges read: 4 lbs. pork ribs 20c; 6 lbs. meat 30c; 7 lbs. meat 28c; 1 lb. beefsteak 10c.

RED LAKE COUNTY CHILD DROWNED IN LIVESTOCK TANK

16-Months-Old Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ford Is Death Victim

A tragedy occurred on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Joe. Ford living three miles north of Red Lake Falls Wednesday afternoon of last week about 4 o'clock when their youngest child, David Gordon Ford, age 16 months, drowned in a stocktank, says the Red Lake Falls Gazette.

An older sister, Joan, reported to her brother, Clarence who was in the barn, that she had seen something big in the stocktank and he promptly investigated and found the body of his young brother on the bottom.

Dr. F. M. Petkevich was notified and came out accompanied by John P. Keifenheim. Artificial respiration was applied but was of no avail. Apparently the body was discovered shortly after the child had drowned.

He was born March 14, 1943. Besides the parents, two brothers and two sisters survive.

Funeral services were held from St. Mary's Catholic church on Friday morning at 10 o'clock with Rev. Henry Pelger officiating.

August Birthday? Then Get New Drivers License

August 31 will mark the end of the year in which all drivers' licenses issued before September 1, 1943, except those held by men in military service, must be renewed. If you have a birthday in August, application for renewal of your permit should be made on or before your birthday, a highway bulletin suggests. Those who have already had birthdays and neglected to renew their licenses should attend to the matter promptly if they want to continue driving. If you happen to be involved in a traffic violation where the penalty ordinarily is light, it might be much more severe if you do not have a valid drivers' license in possession. An old license which expired on your birthday is just the same as no license at all.

CITY SCHOOLS TO OPEN TERM TUESDAY SEP. 5

Board of Education Acts on Calendar at Session Monday Night

FOUR NEW TEACHERS COMPLETE FACULTY

Red Lake Fuel Co. Is Awarded Contract for Winter's Coal Supply

Public schools in Thief River Falls will open for the fall term Tuesday morning, September 5, it was decided at the August session of the board of education Monday evening, when the school calendar was approved. During the coming term high school classes will open at 9 o'clock instead of 8:45, and will be dismissed for the noon hour at 11:50 instead of 11:40.

With the appointment of four new teachers, the school faculty is now complete. Miss Cecelia J. Allen of Sauk Centre was selected for senior high school mathematics teacher and dean of girls, succeeding the late Mrs. Blanche G. Korstad. A graduate of the College of St. Benedict, she has had ten years of teaching experience, the last four at Mankato.

Miss Evelyn Hager, a graduate of the University of North Dakota and with five years of teaching experience at Sleepy Eye and Morris, will teach commercial subjects. Miss Bernice Lillejen of Michigan, N. D., a graduate of Mayville state teachers college, will teach the sixth grade in the Washington school. Mrs. H. L. Ohrstad will teach junior high school general science on a part-time basis.

Acting on instructions from T. C. Engum, state director of rural education, the board voted an increase in the charge for non-resident pupil bus transportation to bring the fee more in line with other schools of the state. Blanks Will be Available at Filling Stations Here Shortly

Application blanks for new A gasoline ration books will be supplied after Aug. 20 to filling stations where motorists may obtain them on request, the office of price administration announced Saturday.

T-Sgt. Lewis Norman Flies 50th Mission

15th AAF in Italy — T/Sgt. Lewis A. Norman, St. Hilaire, aerial engineer and gunner on an AAF B-17 Flying Fortress, had a big day on June 27th. He flew his 50th combat mission and received credit for damaging his third enemy aircraft, over Budapest, Hungary.

"The Krauts were eager that day," commented Norman, adding, "One appeared suddenly out of a cloud formation and started to make a pass at our ship. He came in close, uncomfortably close, firing tracers. I fired about 250 rounds and he caught afire and spinned out of sight, apparently out of control."

Norman graduated from St. Hilaire high school in 1930. Prior to his enlistment in the AAF on April 25, 1942, he farmed. Norman received his gunnery training at Geiger Field, Spokane, Wash.

Arriving at his overseas station two years ago, Norman flew his first combat mission on Oct. 2, 1942, over France, from an English base. Since that date, he has participated in the African, Sicilian, and Italian campaigns.

"We made so many bomb runs over Bizerte and Tunis that we soon called this run the 'Daisy Chain.' We didn't like it. Finally, on Feb. 26, 1943 we had enough strength to go over Bizerte for the last time. It was the last time because after the bombing the city was no more. Every building was flattened."

While on a mission over the Gabes Airdrome, Tunisia, on Feb. 4, 1943, Norman was credited with the damaging of two enemy fighter planes. He wears the Air Medal with 6 oak leaf clusters.

UTILITY GRADES OF MEAT RATION FREE IN AUGUST

New Red Stamp Became Valid Sunday, Aug. 13, OPA Announces

Ration free meats now include utility grade cuts of lamb, beef steaks and roasts, although point values were restored Sunday, August 13, to pork loins and hams, and canned fish. Cheeses and butter point values have also been raised during August.

To compensate for more red point food being restored to the ration list, a new stamp, D5 in Book IV, became valid Sunday, August 13, to be good indefinitely.

Utility grade beef cuts were removed from the ration list because of heavy movement of cattle to market. Reestablishment of points on some pork cuts was necessary because of a decrease in hog marketing. Canned fish went back on the ration list because it is becoming increasingly scarce.

At the time of her death she had been serving as dean of girls and mathematics teacher.

A woman of the most exemplary character, Mrs. Korstad, during her long period of service here, was an uplifting influence on the many generations of students with whom she came into contact.

The daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. James Godward, she was born at Mount Jackson, Pennsylvania, December 10, 1879. She was married to Will Korstad at Elbow Lake July 7, 1910, and, with the exception of three years spent at Highlanding, the couple made their home in Thief River Falls since that time. Giving up teaching at the time of her marriage, Mrs. Korstad resumed her high school duties in 1921 and had served continuously since that time.

The surviving family include her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Elaine Malo of St. Paul, and two sons, M/Sgt. James Korstad, stationed at the Rome, N. Y., army air field, and Pfc. William Korstad of Jefferson Barracks, Missouri.

Also surviving are two grandchildren and the following brothers and sisters: William Godward, Santa Rosa, Calif.; Dr. G. H. Godward, Elbow Lake; James F. Godward, Edgewater, Florida; Lester R. Women have been taking an increasingly active part in the harvest work as the records of Charles Richards, emergency farm help assistant, show that for the past two weeks of harvest they have shocked over 1,000 acres of grain.

During the early part of this week, Russell Olson of the United States employment service, and Mr. Richards report that they have been able to meet all calls for shocking and that the situation is well in hand.

Advisory Committee to Help Service Men

Families of service men will be interested in the announcement made this week by County Agent Ernest Palmer of the appointment of a county advisory committee to assist returning service men, and others, in getting established in farming. The advisory committee for Pennington county was appointed by Director Paul E. Miller of the Minnesota Agricultural Extension service. Similar committees are being set up in all counties of the state. The members of the Pennington county committee are as follows: V. C. Noper, Herman Jepson, Frank Hardisty, John L. S. employment service, and local groups, and with all efforts having to do with the re-establishment of service men and others into normal civilian life. The particular assistance of the advisory committee on farming will be to advise with those men who are considering buying or renting farms, or who plan to work into farming in some other way.

The advice of the committee will cover such matters as the types of farming most suitable in the different parts of the county, capital required, reasonable margins of indebtedness, sources of credit of different types, size of units necessary to maintain a satisfactory standard of living plus retirement of indebtedness, satisfactory and equitable partnership agreements and leasing arrangements, sound operating practices and similar matters.

RED CROSS NEWS NOTES

By Mrs. Millard Peterson
Publicity Chairman

In last week's column we stated 5,000 dressings would have to be averaged each week until the end of the month if our quota was reached. We nearly made the goal, having folded 4,313 dressings this week. The schedule is as follows: A week ago Tuesday, 612; Wednesday, 851; Thursday 775; Monday afternoon, 1476; and Monday evening 600. There were only seven workers Monday evening, totaling 9 hours working time, thus averaging over 55 dressings apiece. The fastest workers made 125 apiece in less than three hours. We need more workers even though your average is less than ten. Won't you come some afternoon? A record of the number of hours each worker has put in since the beginning in Oct. 1942 is being completed through May of this year and each months' work will be totaled thereafter. This is being recorded by Mrs. Richard Mabey who is the secretary for this project.

On page eight of last week's paper was an item about Lt. Kenneth B. Jorgenson, of Hazel who was awarded the air medal with three oak leaf clusters, with the Ninth U. S. army air force stationed in England. This week we receive news from an officers' club somewhere in Southern England about Kenneth and his brother Earl who were reunited after two years. The article reads as follows: "In May 1942, 2/Lt. Kenneth Jorgenson, 23, a Lightning pilot of Hazel, Minn., recruited his brother, Pvt. Earl Jorgenson, 27, also of Hazel for service in the army, he related at an American Red Cross Officers' Club, somewhere in southern England. That was the last they had seen one another until they met in England through the efforts of the Red Cross."

"Pvt. Jorgenson's reunion with his brother will be one he will long remember for the pilot took him for an hour's ride in the air. According to Lt. Jorgenson he made five 'passes' at his brother's camp before the latter realized the location of his unit.

"Straffing German locomotives after they have been bombed into the air is the pilots' favorite pastime to break up the monotony of a dull mission," he said. "Pilots refer to this specialty as "shooting down locos", declared the officer.

"Lt. Jorgenson did electrical work before he entered the army as private in the infantry. After he had become a sergeant and saw his brother mustered into the service, he transferred to the air cadets. His brother was also engaged in electrical work in his native town. The officer has been in the service almost four years."

The boys' father, John C. Jorgenson of Hazel states further that a third son, Pvt. Willie Jorgenson now stationed in Missouri expects to leave for overseas next week. Three sons, Fred 7 yrs. Raymond 17 and John 21 are still at home. Pvt. Earl is with an engineer's regiment in England and Lt. Kenneth was in the same mission as Pilot Wedul who some time ago was listed as "missing in action."

SEPT. 15-OCT. 15 TIME FOR MAILING OVERSEA PARCELS

Postmaster General Emphasizes Need of Proper Wrapping

'Save strong string and box material and start to plan shopping,' Postmaster General Frank C. Walker advised Americans in announcing the rules for mailing of Christmas gifts for army and navy personnel overseas.

This year the Christmas mailing period for overseas forces is the same—September 15 to October 15. After October 15 no gift parcel may be mailed to a soldier without the presentation of a written request from him.

The great demands upon shipping and the need for giving preference to arms, munitions, medicine and food is the prime reason for the early mailing date. Moreover, gift parcels must travel great distances to reach army and navy personnel who are located at remote points, and frequently the transfer of large numbers to new stations necessitates forwarding of the packages and additional time is required.

"I am sorry" said Mr. Walker, "that anyone ever mentioned that the size of a shoe box is the approximate limit for packages intended for gift mailings overseas. Unhappily many people became convinced that a shoe box is the best possible container. We must be mindful that these gifts must travel far, with shipping space crowded. If the gifts are to be protected in transit they must be packed in boxes made of metal, wood, solid fiberboard, or strong double-faced corrugated fiberboard, reinforced with strong gummed paper tape or tied with strong twine. If both tape and strong twine are used, so much the better. If the outer wrapper is crushed—and this is likely to happen—the loss of the contents may be prevented if fiberboard boxes are wrapped in heavy paper."

The parcel must not exceed five pounds, and must not be more than 15 inches in length or 36 inches in length and girth combined. It should be marked 'Christmas parcel' so that it may be given special attention to assure its arrival before December 25.

Not more than one parcel may be mailed in any one week to the same member of the armed forces by or in behalf of the same mailer.

When combination packages are made up of such items as miscellaneous toilet articles, hard candies, soaps, etc., the contents should be tightly packed so that they will not become loosened in transit and damage the contents or the cover.

Perishable goods, such as fruits and vegetables that may spoil, are prohibited. Intoxicants, inflammable materials such as matches or lighter fluids, poisons, and anything that may damage other mail also are prohibited. Gifts enclosed in glass should be substantially packed to avoid breakage. Sharp instruments, such as razors and knives, must have their edges and points protected so that they cannot cut through the coverings and injure postal personnel or damage other packages.

Relatives and friends who know that the personnel in the armed services to whom they plan to send gifts are at far distant points should begin to mail their packages on the opening day—September 15—of the mailing period. Last year late mailings, causing concentration of great numbers of packages in the final days of mailing period, threatened to defeat the program.

Study Shows Bonds for Officials Can Be Reduced

Premiums on surety bond coverage for employees of New York cities were cut 20 per cent as a result of a study showing premium rates paid were considerably out of proportion to low loss payments made by the bonding companies.

The study bringing about the premium rate reductions was made by the state's league of municipal officials, the American Municipal association reports.

In addition, the study showed that many cities and villages might save thousands of dollars without impairing their protection by reducing the number of bonds and the amounts of the bonds. In some cases, legislative action would first be necessary to permit elimination of bonds, and a committee of the municipal league now is preparing a report on such legal revisions for submission to the 1943 legislature.

Family Can Fight Fire

An annual farm fire loss of 3,500 lives and $225,000,000 worth of property can be prevented if farm people step up their fire protection. Family organization is suggested as one means of stopping what may be serious fires. Each of the older members of the family is given a specific duty to perform in case of an emergency.

A few weeks of warm, dry weather would be greatly appreciated hereabouts. A good crop of grain is standing in shocks. We have had an early harvest but threshing is going to be late if wet weather continues much longer. What we need now is a million dollar dry spell.

Pennington County's debt has been reduced $63,000 this year, bringing the total down to $400,000. That is a record every citizen should feel good about. At this rate of reduction Pennington could join the ranks of debt-free counties in a very few years and that would be a healthy condition to be in when the war prosperity comes to an end. Now is the time to pay debts, for units of government as well as individuals. It is the most sensible kind of post-war planning.

War news continues favorable—so favorable in fact that we are beginning to brace ourselves for a reversal. It doesn't seem reasonable that we will be able to continue winning all our battles right up to the end. We are fighting too cagey an enemy, and fighting that enemy too boldly, to hope for an uninterrupted string of victories. But so accustomed have we become to reports of successes that we are beginning to take them for granted. Even the landing of our troops in southern France did not impress us as it would have a few weeks ago. We accepted it as merely another interesting development. All of which means that our thinking is becoming sloppy. We are not properly braced to handle a bundle of bad news if it should fall on us. High time we get our feet back on the ground and realize that there still is a lot of tough war ahead for the men who are doing our fighting.

Less than three weeks remain of summer vacation, which has been a most profitable vacation for some of the young people who will return to school the first Tuesday in September. Many high school students have earned good wages thruout the summer months and getting back into the routine of the class rooms may not be nearly so difficult an adjustment to make as getting along without a paycheck.

Uncle Sam still hangs up posters that picture the horrible consequences of people talking too much. We were greatly impressed, earlier in the war, by such appeals. Maybe the fellow sitting next to us at the pie counter was a foreign agent, waiting eagerly for us to carelessly drop a military secret. Lately, however, such appeals have left us a little cold. All we know about the war is what we read in the papers or hear on the radio and presumably the same information that is given to us is available to the spies. There was a time, in the period of uncertainty that followed Pearl Harbor, when extreme precautions were justified. At that time we thought well of air raid wardens. Now, it seems to us, we should be able to get along with just reasonable precautions.

If we do certain things we will not have to worry about the national debt, is the assurance given us by the publisher of a leading business magazine. None of these "musts" are being done, he admits, and we can tell him that none of them will be done until an honest government tells the people what they must do. But before we get ourselves agitated about the possibility of reducing the national debt, how about giving a little consideration to that important problem we must solve first—the problem of keeping the national debt from going still higher. Increasing government income and reducing government costs are of course necessary to accomplish this first step. Neither of them would be popular so for the time being they can be written off as unthinkable. The paternalistic government that insists on going into debt in order to contribute ten cents toward the cost of each pound of butter we buy is not going to approach any financial problem realistically. As long as the credit lasts we can expect the debt to continue to increase.

Ella Sproule versus the "Horseless Carriage"

Miss Ella Sproule is a town legend. Never could get used to automobiles. Said there ought to be a law to ban the pesky things.

Finally, Miss Ella went to Bermuda where automobiles were outlawed. Then the Allies need bases there—and now Miss Ella watches jeeps whiz by and mutters, "There ought to be a law!"

Funny how certain folks, who don't like something, think it ought to be prohibited. Or else they try to run away from it, and it catches up with them—like Progress will.

Take the question of Prohibition versus Moderation. Even today, after Prohibition's dismal failure, you can hear well-meaning people say: "There ought to be another law."

From where I sit, there ought to be, instead, more facing of the facts—more realization that no law can ever take the place of tolerance and moderation, and decent law enforcement under proper regulation.

Bank Debits Continue to Rise in This Community

The volume of bank debits in Thief River Falls during the month of July was 6 per cent above the level reached in July 1943, while cumulative totals for January through July indicate an 18 per cent increase when compared with the same 1943 period. These bank debit figures represent the dollar values of checks drawn by depositors against their bank accounts to pay for goods, services, debts, etc. Bank debits for a locality are considered a good indicator of general business trends in that they reflect the spending of farmers, businesses, and government for payrolls, war materials, and goods purchased in general trade in the community.

Attack on Nips' Supply Train

Milking 3 Times Daily Would Boost the Output

Three times a day milking offers farmers having dairy herds of 10 cows or less an opportunity to increase production to help meet the ever-growing wartime demands for milk and milk products, says J. O. Tretsven, extension dairy specialist at Montana State college.

Collection of Tin Cans Lagging in Minnesota, State WPB Chief Says

Figures released this week reveal that collections of tin cans for the first five months of this year throughout the nation are 12.4 per cent less than those for the same period last year, it was announced today by Byron Hanson, WPB general salvage executive secretary for Minnesota.

Some detinning plants are now operating on a part-time basis because of this slump in tin can recovery.

Tin is the one important metal of which the United States has less today than it had on December 7, 1941. Most of the tin used in this country before the war came from the Malay states. While the country's imports from Bolivia have increased somewhat, the government must rely on the recovery of tin by detinning plants if it is to carry through the war with the steadily dwindling stockpile now on hand, said Mr. Hanson.

Paint Aids Food Rationing

"Stomach Boredom" is the Wall Street Journal's definition for flagging appetites due to the sameness of food served under the rationing system in Britain. The British food ministry has advised restaurant keepers to paint their walls with attention-getting murals in order to avert their patrons' concentration upon the monotony of the menu to more pleasant thoughts. Gaily colored table coverings also have been suggested. A similar psychological effect might also be obtained by bright paint on the table tops.

Medals for Service

Regulations covering the award of three campaign medals authorized by executive order—the American, European-African-Middle Eastern, and the Asiatic-Pacific—to members of the land and naval forces, including the Women's Army Auxiliary corps, who serve outside the continental limits of the United States during this war, were announced by the war department. Although manufacture of the medals themselves has been postponed indefinitely to conserve metals needed in war production, the appropriate service ribbon which accompanies each medal will be awarded to individuals after their arrival in a theater of operations under competent orders. The service ribbons, 1⅜ inches long by ⅜ inches wide, are worn on the left breast over the pocket of the service blouse. Each service ribbon is designed to symbolize the area it represents.

Cash Dividends Drop

Cash dividend payments reported in 1942 amounted to $3,559,000,000, $482,000,000 below 1941, the department of commerce announced. The 12 per cent drop from the high 1941 level of $4,041,000,000 does not reflect any general deterioration in the earnings position of domestic corporations, the department said. The primary reason for the high level in 1941 and the subsequent decline in 1942 was the substantial clearing up of arrears in the earlier year.

Dehydrated Foods

Although canning and freezing have been the most popular methods of conserving foodstuffs in the United States up to now, dehydration holds promise of superseding them as a means of getting needed food to the armed forces, allies, and occupied countries. Two and three-quarter million tons of steel were used for canning in 1941. Although savings are being effected in the amount of steel utilized for this purpose, even greater amounts can be diverted to war uses by more extensive use of dehydration. If dehydrated foods "click" with the American people, there will be "micro-stores" after the war, in which a small country store will be able to hold the equivalent of today's super markets.

Sowing Small Seed

Success with indoor-sown seeds of small size depends largely on covering them. Very small seeds are sown on the surface of the prepared seed box and merely pressed into close contact with the soil. A thin layer of dry sphagnum moss rubbed through a fine sieve is placed on top to keep the soil surface moist. As the dry moss is very slow to absorb moisture, the pan should be watered before the moss is placed in position. In a day or so it will be saturated with water absorbed from the soil below. Thereafter use a fine syringe for moistening to prevent washing the moss out of position.

Dr. Francis E. Townsend says—My faith has never wavered. I knew that the Townsendites could do it. A lot of people who used to laugh at us will find themselves laughing out of the other side of their mouths when they wake up some morning this fall and find the Townsend plan, that "crazy" old Townsend plan, has actually become a law of the land. It is all right for us to congratulate ourselves, but let us not forget to thank that divine power which has watched over us and guided us through the years. Without that backing, no cause wins. Townsendites have had it because throughout the years of slander and ridicule they have stayed humble and unselfishly worked for the good of the whole citizenry. 33p
